Look Out Lancaster Farmers, A Super Highway Is 'Commin' Now

BY

LANCASTER — Most people agree that something must be done to alleviate the traffic problem on Route 30 and 23 in Lancaster County. The friends of agriculture are concerned that the most recent studies by a team of engineers and PennDot officials have largely ignored the impact of running a superhighway through the middle of prime farms that average about 50 acres in size and form the social and religious core of the Lancaster County farm community.

The routes most strongly supported by the new study cut right through the heart of Lancaster County where horses plow the fields and power lines are nonexistent. While the burial of a few 1,000 acres of prime farm land in the concrete ribbon and wasted right of way is disturbing, the total economic impact of a disrupted farm community cannot be measured.

Allen Musselman, executive director of the Lancaster County Agricultural Preserve Board, says there isn't anyone in the farm community east of Lancaster that won't be affect by these routes. An interchange in a now more secluded area of the county will flood that area with tourists. And while farmers with the unique religious beliefs in Lancaster County do benefit from on-farm sales, the overall impact on the community is potentional very unacceptable.

Eastern Sells Bottling Plant To Dairylea

Eastern Milk Producers Cooperative is selling its fluid milk bottling plant in Homer, NY to Dairylea Cooperative, effective Sept. 11.

The facility, which Eastern acquired five years ago from Kraft Dairy Group, processes nearly 2 million quarts of milk a month and employs over 40 people.

With milk volumes down in the Northeast due to the Whole Herd Buyout, "we decided that the time was right to get out of the fluid milk bottling business and to focus on supplying milk to other dealers and manufacturers," Eastern President Earl Forwood said. He noted that Eastern markets over 2 billion pounds of milk a year from its 3,700 member-farmers. About a quarter of that milk goes to the fluid market, with the remainder supplying manufacturers of such dairy products as cheese, yogurt and ice cream.

Michael Donovan, general manager, added that insufficient volume and lack of adequate return on investment were major reasons for selling the Homer plant.

"We tried to expand the business and develop a profitable oper-

President Tells Agribusiness Leaders New Funding Has PSU On Positive Note

BY

STATE COLLEGE — The president of the Pennsylvania State University, Dr. Bryce Jordan, told agribusiness leaders here Monday morning that new funding for the state's Cooperative Extension Service and the prospect of breaking ground for a new agricultural and science industry center at University Park next spring has given an especially positive note to the beginning of the semester this fall.

Speaking to the 109th Penn Ag Convention at Toftrees Resort, Jordan reported that in July the state general assembly and Governor Casey approved a $5 million increase to the university's budget to be applied to the Extension Service. "This much-needed support gives new vigor to this university's ability to contribute programs among the various ag industries," Jordan said.

As a result of this funding, the college of agriculture is able to fill 45 vacant county agents' positions that had been on hold for lack of funds, and the Cooperative Extension offices are receiving much-needed technical and operating support. "For the first time in history," Jordan said, "the commonwealth provides a larger share of funding than either the federal or local sources. And this is not a one-time appropriation, but part of the permanent funding for the university."

Another momentous occasion for the university came this summer when the federal government approved a $16.2 million appropriation for a new agricultural and science industry center at University Park. This came on top of a

FUTURES MARKET TRENDS GRAIN AND LIVESTOCK

ACRES CORN UPDATE: Corn futures closed higher in spillover strength from the soymeal pits, making gains linked to Soviet interest. Prices were also underpinned on the continuing lack of movement in the midwest where rains have caused a delay in harvest. The September option closed up 4-1/4 at $1.75 and December gained 3-3/4 and stayed at resistance of $1.80-1/4.

ACRES SOYBEAN UPDATE: Soybeans settled from 3 cents to 8 cents higher underpinned by spillover strength in the soymeal pits. Rumors of Soviet interest in purchasing Argentine soypellets which spurred meal to gain 280 to 320 points midday. Rain-delayed harvest conditions continue to be supportive along with the firmer tone in CIF and FOB markets as light farmer selling continues. Further buying was fueled by ideas that the USSR grain harvest was stalled by weather problems. Beans came under pressure from ideas that CCC bean resales would be accelerated.

ACRES WHEAT UPDATE: Wheat futures settled from 2-1/2 to 3-1/4 cents higher this afternoon slipping from session highs on a wave or profit taking. Rumors of Soviet harvest problems and labor problems spurred buying midway through the session. Further buying today came on the continuing hope that China would soon be in the market for the rest of their 640,000 MT of U.S. export bonus wheat, if available. Gains were pared by the inability of prices to push through technical resistance near $3.00 in December.

ACRES CATTLE UPDATE: Live cattle and feeder cattle futures closed sharply lower today as prices collapsed under the weight of aggressive cash-connected and commission house long liquidation. The lower prices were tied to bearish sentiment over the USDA's 7-State Cattle-on-Feed report which showed record August placements. Feeders opened lower and continued lower throughout the session, pressured by spillover weakness from the live cattle pit. A shift in basis Tuesday, with futures turning discount to cash for the first time in 3 weeks prompted selling.

ACRES NEXT DAY OUTLOOK: cash - steady to lower

The Cattle-on-feed report issued yesterday was as follows: USDA* AVERAGE RANGE on feed 9/01 106% 104.6% 102 - 107% Aug placements 105% 98.8% 86 - 105.8% Aug marketings 102% 101.4% 98 - 106% (These figures are 1987 as a percentage of 1986)

ACRES HOG UPDATE: Live hog futures closed lower today in sympathy with the losses in the cattle pits and the dramatic drop in pork cut-out values. The drop in pork prices prompted lower-than-expected cash hog bids from packers and lent pressure to futures. Upward price moves were kept in check by ideas of lwoer midday pork product prices. The midday National Provisioner reported hams $1.00 to $2.00 lower, bellies $1.00 to $3.00 lower and Loins $3.50 to $8.00 lower.

COMMENT: TRADING REMAINS LIGHT AND SELECTIVE OVERALL. WHILE CUTLETS WERE SLIGHTLY MORE AVAILABLE, THE BULK OF BONERS WERE ABLE TO MAINTAIN 1.90, AS LABOR STILL RESTRICTS THEIR PRODUCTION. ON THE OTHER HAND, LINE-RUN BREASTS WERE EASILY AVAILABLE WITH SOME SALES NOTED ON EITHER SIDE OF 70 CENTS. RIB BREASTS WERE FULLY ADEQUATE, AND CLEARANCES WERE ONLY FAIR AT THE LOWER PRICES. LEGS WERE FULLY ADEQUATE TO AMPLE, AND DISCOUNTING WAS STILL FAIRLY PREVALENT ON THIS ITEM. SOME DISCOUNTING ALSO PERSISTS ON LEG QUARTERS, BUT BUYING INTEREST HAD IMPROVED, AND THEY WERE CLEARING A LITTLE BETTER TODAY. WINGS WERE ADEQUATE AND AVAILABLE AT STEADY PRICE LEVELS.

BREASTS, SKINNED, BONELESS 1.90.

Ask the Old Farmer. What is the origin of the term punk when it's used to describe a person? J A Brookfield Ill

It started with the Chinese Opium smokers burned a small piece of kindling called punk to light their pipes (and also to light firecrackers) Addicts who became listless and undependable were referred to as punks to indicate that that they had lost their health and souls to opium

OPINION

Heart Beat Of Lancaster

A major change in the landscape of Lancaster County could be set in concrete during the next three or four months. The highway planning process for the Route 30/23 bypass is now at the critical stage where basic research has been done by a team of engineers and recommendations of possible mile wide corridors have been given. We have several concerns about the present situation.

First, we are not sure that the relative impact on the basic fabric of Lancaster County has been considered. Lancaster County is rural. Lancaster County is the heart of special religious groups that have traditionally remained separate and different from the modern world. And Lancaster County has the heartbeat of farming.

This heartbeat affects every other person, business and industry connected to Lancaster County arteries. To run a superhighway right through the Amish valley across Scenic Road is likely to break Lancaster County's heart--socially and economically--so that this special Pennsylvania Dutch country will never be the same again.

Secondly, we are not sure many of those who will be affected are aware of the limited chance to find out what the planners and the state have in mind and the urgency to use what opportunity is given to voice opinions about the proposed corridors.

A meeting is scheduled for this purpose this week Wednesday, September 23, at Pequea Valley High School at 7 p.m. From this meeting the planners are going to incorporate the response with their thinking and make recommendations for setting the final corridor that will eventually become the bypass.

We agree with almost every other group and individual who knows about the crowded roadways through the tourist area and the New Holland Pike. Something must be done to help those travelers and truckers who are just passing through and have no interest in stopping in Lancaster. But this must be done on the edge of Lancaster's fertile valley, not through its heart. The Agricultural Preserve Board calls this the skirting alignments.

Of course, some farmland will be affected by these routes, too. And the idea of a national scenic farmland highway sounds good. This concept can be seen in the scenic Skyline Drive in Virginia and the Coastal Road along the Pacific in California.

But to give up Lancaster County's farm heart is just too much for anyone to ask.

NOW IS THE TIME

By Jay Irwin
Lancaster County Agriculture Agent

To Store Pesticides Safely

Most producers are about finished with their spray materials for the year. Many of these can be held over until next year with good results. However, it is always best to buy only enough for one season at a time. When storing spray materials, always keep them in their original containers and away from children, pets and livestock. It is best to have a separate room or building for pesticide storage. Wettable powders are easy to store; however, emulsions and liquids may be harmed by freezing weather. Producers are urged to follow the label and instructions in this respect. It may be necessary to keep some of them in a heated building. Be sure they are not near feed supplies because accidents can happen. Pesticides kept in a room or building under a lock is a good way to prevent costly mistakes and tragedies.

To Check Fan Louvers

Fan louvers on poultry and swine operations should close tightly when a fan is not operating. If they don't air, will enter through the open louver and be discharged by the nearest running fan, giving you no ventilation at all.

When the fan is on, louvers must be fully open; otherwise, they will restrict the flow of air from the building. Tests have shown that a little dust on fan louvers can restrict air flow by more than 1,000 c.f.m. per fan. A restricted fan operates longer and bears a heavier load using more electricity, which costs money.

In many cases, you can repair louvers that are sticking open or shut just by cleaning them and applying oil or rust solvent to the hinges.

To Beware of Frosted Crops

Colder weather is coming and that means frost. In fact this is good news to many of us who have had enough of hot humid weather this summer. Livestock producers who have fields of sudan-sorghum hybrids, should keep in mind that when frost hits these crops they could be toxic to livestock for seven to ten days following the freeze. After this period, and the plants are dead, they may be used safely. However, any growth coming from the plant after a killing frost might also be toxic.

Another frost hazard would be to permit livestock to graze alfalfa or clover stands while the frost is still on the plants. This can cause severe bloating. Allow the frost to melt and the plants to dry before grazing. Good management is needed on various forage crops after a killing frost.

To Reduce Egg Breakage

Many egg producers are not aware of their breakage losses. You could be very surprised how much. Some poultry producers do not realize how many eggs they are losing because they do not keep track of them. In studies where this has been checked carefully, we find the percentage of eggs broken ranging from 2% to 5% up to 20%.

With a flock of 30,000 layers averaging 70% production, a loss of 4% is 84,000 eggs or 7,000 dozen a year. This loss comes to $4,900 when eggs sell for 70¢ per dozen.

Check nests or cages for needed repairs. Often we find eggs broken right in the cages. Check the egg trays. If they are bent, they can break many eggs. Many times plastic bumpers placed on the egg tray will reduce breakage. Careful handling will reduce breakage if eggs are gathered by hand.

Take time to check these factors and others to reduce breakage. It very well could be the difference between profit and loss.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS
BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

ALWAYS A REMNANT?

September 20, 1987

Background Scripture: Genesis 6 through 9:17.
Devotional Reading: Genesis 9:8-17.

The picture of God that we get in the story of Noah and the ark is certainly a pre-Christian one. In it we see a God who is "sorry that he made man on the earth and it grieved him to his heart" (6:6). We thus see a God who believes he made a mistake in making human beings in the first place.

We see also a God who changes his mind, first planning to "blot out man whom I have created from the face of the earth" (6:7), then, making an exception because of Noah's righteousness: "But Noah found favor in the eyes of the Lord (6:8).

THE FIRST REMNANT

Because of the gross widespread corruption throughout the earth, God planned to obliterate human life: "I have determined to make an end of all flesh; for the earth is filled with violence . . . behold I will destroy them with the earth" (6:13). But not Noah, nor his family, nor even all the beasts of the earth. This is the first of many, many times in the Bible when great evil brings great destruction. But it is also the first time that the idea of a remnant appears.

In the Bible, the "remnant" is always a person or persons who are sufficiently faithful and righteous so that God determines that they shall be excluded from the tragic coming events. But it is not just that they do not deserve this destruction, but that they are needed by God to carry on his purposes after the destruction is over. In the case of people of Israel in the days of Isaiah, there was to be a remnant to carry on as God's chosen people. In the case of Noah, however, it was to be nothing less than carrying on the whole human race, not to mention the animal kingdom.

ALWAYS AN ARK

It is hard for Christians to think of God making a mistake in his work of creation or changing his mind. But in this story of Noah and the ark we see also a theme that is repeated again and again in both the Bible and in human history: no matter how much human beings may seem to delay the plan of God, no matter how much we may seem to deserve obliteration for the corruption of God's planet, he has never failed to provide for himself — and humankind — an ark, so that his plan is carried forward despite our efforts at self-destruction. At least, he has so far.

CHECK ( ) THE FOLLOWING STATEMENTS WHICH APPLY TO YOU

_____ I WANT TO MAKE & SAVE MORE MONEY.
_____ I WANT LESS SHRINK AND HIGHER TEST WEIGHTS.
_____ I AM TIRED OF PAYING THE ELEVATOR TO STORE AND DRY MY CORN CROP.
_____ I WANT THE FLEXIBILITY TO SELL MY CROP, WHEN I WANT...WITHOUT MOISTURE DOCKAGE.

(If you've checked one or more of these statements - read the following to find our how.)

The one product that will satisfy all of these desires, is the AeroDry Grain Management System.

AeroDry uses natural fan forced air, controlled by computer, to dry your corn. There's no high heat, only mother nature's way of lowering moisture levels.

AeroDry can save you up to 75% of energy drying costs. The natural moisture removal process provides less shrink and higher test weights. You don't "cook" the quality out of your crop.

AeroDry's computer controls moisture levels day and night without baby-sitting. You make the profit the elevator makes, by selling your crop when you want - without moisture dockage.

If you're serious about making more money on your corn crop... you'll call AeroDry before the fall rush. Farm proven from the midwest to the east coast - AeroDry is FARM TECHNOLOGY FOR FARM PROFIT.

HAVING SOIL PROBLEMS?
Here's A Timely Tip...

Be sure you apply enough
The new higher-powered fertilizers often require more lime each application to maintain a neutral soil that tests to pH7

Like to get a full 5-year warranty on your next running gear?

Then ask for Unverferth. That's right, our precisely built, road-ready, 8- and 10-ton wagon running gears come with a full, 5-year warranty and much more. For example:

To give you years of safe, worry-free service, we incorporate features like all-welded construction with extra bracing, pivot point grease fittings, and renewable bushings in the steering and front spindles.

And, to help keep those years of service safe, we use a specially aligned frame for smooth, straight trailing and 180° tongue swivel and innovative low-profile design for added maneuverability and unmatched stability...even on hillsides.

For more about reliable, safe Unverferth running gears or our full line of high quality grain boxes, see your dealer today. Or call us toll-free:

New Test:Right™ can add points to your fat test

Is fat test a problem on your farm? New Test:Right dairy feed from Agway is the answer.

You're probably aware that feeding whole cottonseed can increase the fat level in your milk. But if you've fed cottonseed in the past, you're aware of the handling and storage problems.

New Test:Right is the only pelleted dairy feed that includes whole cottonseed, regulated protein solubility, and regulated carbohydrates in an easy-to-handle, easy-to-feed pellet. And it's also easy to see the difference that an increase in fat test can make in your milk check!

If you want to increase your milkfat content, and your profits, talk to your Agway Farm Enterprise Salesperson about new Test:Right. He can balance your feeding program with the on-farm Ration Balancing Computer System and prescribe the correct Test:Right feed for optimum milk production and fat test results on your farm.

by adding this to your feed.

Carroll County 4-H Supporters Honored

Masonry Contractors, C.J. Miller Construction Company and R.F. Kline Co., were honored by the Carroll County 4-H Livestock Club at their annual buyers picnic hall at the ag center in Westminster. These three companies donated over $44,000 to help support the 4-H youth of Carroll County. Pictured above are C.J. Miller and Martin Hill. R.F. Kline was not in attendance.

Funk Heads Vote Yes Committee

Amos Funk, a Millersville vegetable farmer and conservationist, will head the Lancaster County Vote Yes to Save Farmland Committee.

The committee, an affiliate of a state organization, will work for the passage of a voter referendum Nov. 3 that would set aside $100 million to save farmland in Pennsylvania.

The 45-member committee includes area businessmen, farmers, civic leaders, politicians, township officials and lawyers.

It will meet at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Farm and Home Center to map campaign strategy.

Funk is chairman of the Lancaster County Agricultural Preserve Board, which is struggling to save farmland during a time of intense residential and commercial development here.

Preservationists consider approval of the referendum, which would pay farmers to put anti-development deed restrictions on their land, crucial to save-the-farms progress in the county.

Jersey Breed Success Celebrated

WHITNEYVILLE — The 2nd Annual District Jersey Parish Show was held on August 12, 1987 at the Whitneyville Fairgrounds, Whitneyville, with 132 Jerseys shown. Dennis Wolff was judge, Gene Harris, ringmaster; and Bob Parr of Select Sires was announcer.

This year's show consisted of open and youth division places and awards. In the open and youth divisions the champion classes were as follows: Junior Champion was secured by Joe Sweeley of Mansfield, with his intermediate calf, Nobledale Royal Vina. The Reserve Jr. Champion went to Michelle Sparling of Mansfield with her junior calf, Dolly's Dreaming Justin of AHF. These two animals also served as youth division champions.

In the open division Senior and Grand Champion went to Normandell Farms of Liberty, with their Senior 2-year-old Normandell Chief Carly. Reserve Senior and Reserve Grand Champion went to Brian and Pat Watson of Troy with their aged cow Cedar Shade Jackie Midnight. In the youth division Carolyn Norman of Liberty, captured the Senior and Grand Champion youth places with Normandell Master C Silky, a four year old. Reserve Senior and Reserve Grand going also to Carolyn Norman with her dry aged cow, Normandell Saint Sherry.

Premier Breeder and Premier Exhibitor awards were taken by Normandell Farms. Youth best owned and bred was given to Carolyn Norman. The get of CBF Excellor was chosen to head that class.

Any seed company can brag about its star hybrid. But when you skim that one big winner off the top, there's not much left.

That's where we're different. We give you plenty of options to fit all of your acres. In fact, we have several top-performing hybrids in each maturity to fit your specific needs.

So when all the seed companies start to look alike, look again. It's easy to separate us from the rest.

Knob-View Cow Takes Top Spot In Maryland Futurity

Maryland held it's 4th annual Holstein Futurity on Sunday, September 6th at the State Fair in Timonium. It was a show for the best 3 year olds which had calved at least once. This year 27 entries competed for a total purse of $3,960 with $710 going to the first place winner. The tension was high as the lights were dimmed to bring in the honorary guests by horse drawn buggy. Dairy Princesses and Fair Board officials arrived with the help of a spot light. Judge Harry Papageorge from Ogden, Utah was assisted by ringmen John Morris and Marion Andrew in full tuxedo.

The cows were then paraded into the spot light one at a time. Coldsprings Valiant Next-et was the first Holstein in the ring. She was the top production winner from all the entries with 26,073 pounds of milk.

As the final cows arrived into the ring, the lights were turned back on. Judge Papageorge then went to work examining each cow for quality, strength, dairy character, and correct mammary system. Knob-View Tony Patti owned by Richard Kepler was placed on top. Patti is a Marsfield Elevation Tony Daughter. "She exhibited the quality udder, the correct teat placement, the openness of rib and the stature we all would like to see in our own herds," said Papageorge. For the Keplers from Middletown, Maryland, this was a memorable evening.

White Oak Mills Appoints Kevin Hampson To Cumberland Valley

ELIZABETHTOWN — Kevin Hampson, who graduated from Ellsworth Community College, has been named White Oak Mills' sales and service representative for central and south-central Pennsylvania. Kevin will work with swine, dairy and beef farmers throughout the Cumberland Valley.

White Oak manufactures a complete line of feeds and concentrates for swine, beef, and dairy operations under the White Oak label. Their main location is in Elizabethtown, and they also have a retail store and warehouse in the Shippensburg area.

Hampson has a farm background with four years of swine experience in genetics and herd health. He has worked for an Iowa producer, Delmarva Farms on the Eastern shore, and Genesis swine units. He also has had training in management practices.

Hampson will work with the growers on the nutritional and housing needs of swine, as well as the purchase of feeder pigs, the marketing of hogs, and the sale of Genesis breeding stock. Customers also will be able to have their homegrown forages tested to help determine the most profitable feed mixes for individual herds.

Hampson was born in Cumberland, Maryland, and grew up on a farm in Bedford County. He graduated from Bedford High School where he was active in the Vo Ag program and FFA. Kevin was president of the FFA chapter for the school year 1982-1983, and showed pigs in county fairs and also at the PA Farm Show.

Kevin is married to Diana, and they have a baby daughter, Amanda.

Make Hardy Brand® your hybrid.

Make every kernel count.

On the Lawrence County, Pa., dairy farm of Tom McConahy Sr. and Jr., Hardy Brand hybrids have been part of the summer landscape for the past 20 years. And the father-son team likes the view.

"It's always nice and green and it stands heavy," Tom Jr. said. "Some people have said, 'My gosh, I never saw corn like that.'"

The McConahys plant their 300 acres of corn exclusively with Hardy Brand, using 301XS and 370XS for ear corn and the new 760XS for silage. They figure their shelled corn yield equivalent at 125 to 140 bushels per acre.

In addition to performing well in the field, Hardy Brand continues to do the job after the harvest, according to Tom Jr. "Hardy corn dries down good," he said. "And one crib of corn was so clean for husking . . . that shows the quality of the crop."

The bottom line for the McConahys is the performance of the 160 cows and 100 head of young stock in the barns.

"If we don't get a good yield from our corn, then they don't eat," Tom Sr. said. "So far, they've been eating well."

Hardy Brand Hybrid Corns are varieties for these times, when reduced acreage and slimmer profit margins are your big concerns. We've built a strong reputation on our outstanding yields, superior standability and high disease tolerance. Get the best return on your investment. Go with Hardy Brand!

previously approved $1.8 million appropriation for facility planning. That makes a total of direct cash contribution of $18 million to PSU from the federal government for new facilities. In addition, matching funds almost to that level were provided in Pennsylvania's 1986-1987 Capital Budget. "So we have a certainty of new facilities of $36 to $37 million for the college of agriculture," Jordan said.

Besides the new agricultural and science facility, the funds will provide for a new poultry research farm, remodeled dairy and swine research units and a new research unit. "We will have state-of-the-art facilities," Jordan said. "This will enable the university to obtain grant funds for research and to attract the best faculty and graduate students. We also want to attract more undergraduate students into the field of agriculture. And we believe these new facilities will help us," Jordan said.

The three-day convention program had a list of other speakers that included Daniel Schorr, honored journalist and William Colby, former CIA director. The slate of new officers for the association includes: President Arthur McAlister; Jack Dreibelbis, first vice president; John Sutton, second vice president; Janet Hines, third vice president; Jack Hess, treasurer; John Keyes, George Kishbaugh, James Bradley and Tom Brown, board of directors. Michael Zapach, presided.

Farmers Get Lower Taxes

HARRISBURG — Two farming operations at the Northeast Philadelphia Airport apparently will receive lower tax bills as the result of correspondence between state Agriculture Secretary Boyd E. Wolff and Philadelphia Mayor W. Wilson Goode.

Wolff contacted Goode after a newspaper article related that Charles and Anna Simons had received a tax bill of $9,613.50 on 40 acres planted in corn, while Harole Lovett received a bill for $126,000 for current and back taxes that Philadelphia County claimed he owed. Lovett produces commercial sod on six acres of airport land.

The large bills confronting the Simonses and Lovett stemmed from school district use tax and property taxes. In addition, Lovett was billed for a larger number of acres than he actually farmed. Both operations had been classified for tax purposes as commercial, the rate applied to other tenants, including flight schools and Pan Am Express.

In a letter asking the mayor to intercede, Wolff wrote that the "economics of farming do not permit farmers — as landowners or tenants — to pay taxes in such high amounts. It is this kind of policy that has driven many farmers out of business and has led to total development of all available land in some municipalities."

Goode replied that the city's Board of Revision of Taxes had reviewed the value of the land "and we are confident that the new determination will result in a lower assessment."

The Simonses and Lovett had pointed out that it would be impossible for farmers to realize enough profit to pay the taxes levied under the commercial rate. Airport officials said that no other use could be found for the land, which is located alongside the airport's runway.

Hood Chosen Outstanding Junior Holstein Breeder

BY SUE CROW
Maryland Correspondent

This year's winner is Scott Hood from Middletown, Maryland. Scott is 31 years old and farms on his family farm of 280 acres where he was born and raised. His first registered animal was purchased in 1960. After the death of his father in 1975, Scott became actively involved in the management of the farm with his mother, Louise and brother Terry. After 3 years, Terry left to pursue other interests and the decision was made to reduce the size of the milking herd through a reduction sale. The herd gradually enlarged and by 1979, Scott became sole owner of the cattle and machinery through a purchase agreement with his mother. He is currently acquiring the real estate through a similar arrangement.

The Outstanding Junior Holstein Breeder for Maryland was Scott Hood receiving the plaque from Buddy and Charlotte Hill, doners of the Trophy.

The herd now numbers 80 cows with approximately 60 head of heifers. The herd is 100% registered and all cattle are bred AI. The DHIR average has shown a steady increase over the past 4 years and had reached a high of over 20,000 pounds of milk in the year 1985. The latest DHIR average shows 19,858 lbs. of milk and 685 lbs. of fat. The latest BAA is 102.6. The first Excellent cow and the first cow to produce 30,000 lbs. of milk both carried the Hoodstead prefix.

Scott has been very active in local and industry related activities. He is a past president of the Frederick County Holstein Association and has served on the local board of directors. He is also a past director of the Frederick County Farm Bureau and Frederick County DHIA. Presently he serves as Chairman of the Directors of his local Southern States co-op and is a 12-year leader of the Valley 4-H Club. In 1982, Scott was selected the Outstanding Young Farmer by the Frederick County Jaycees. Scott will not be farming alone as he is to be married soon.

THIS WEEK

— The yield of Pennsylvania seed leaf tobacco is estimated at 40,500,000 pounds this year, nearly 11 million pounds less than last year, according to latest surveys.

— Generally accepted throughout the county as one of the best, the West Lampeter Community Fair will open for the thirty-third time on Sept. 25 for a three day run.

Featuring 17 departments, the exhibits on display will include vocational home projects, the Lampeter gymkhana, dairy cattle and products, swine, baby beef, poultry and eggs, field crops, vegetable, fruits, nuts, flowers, handiwork, baked goods and honey, canned goods and commercial exhibits.

— A strong dose of beginners luck and cool nerves paid off for 14 year old N. Clyde Forney, R4 Lititz, in the tractor driving contest at the Lititz Farm Show Friday night. Second was Russell Foreman, 2271 Oregon Pike, and third was Jay Mumma, R2 Mt. Joy.

Forney guided his tractor and spreader through the 120 foot course without losing a point. He then backed the spreader into a tight stall and lost points only when belting up to a forage blower. He lost only 20 points in all.

— Slightly over a million acres of winter wheat "allotment" land were put in the 1958 acreage reserve of the Soil Bank through the two week period ending Sept. 6, the U.S. Department of Agriculture announced Saturday.

Here in Lancaster County 180.9 acres have been entered in the reserve by 23 producers. The dollar value totals $6,051,560. Last year only 34 agreements were made by the County Agricultural Conservation and Stabilization office.

A brief exercise that can increase your profit margin Write down the volume of silage you put up last year, and how much of that silage you actually were able to use Now figure out what retaining 15% more silage would have been worth to you

That much extra silage is exactly what Silage Pro has proven it can provide Consistently and economically On farms just like yours

Here's how Silage Pro preserves forage quantity and quality

- Enzyme catalysts promote rapid production of lactic acid
- Lactic acid lowers pH quickly and inhibits the growth of harmful spoilage bacteria
- Because heat is controlled quickly, loss of available protein is minimized
- Controlled fermentation promotes abundant production of propionic acid, the most effective preservative for haylage and silage. Propionic acid also contributes to greater energy, improved feed efficiency, better animal health and more palatable silage

Increase the value of your silage Make Silage Pro part of your crop and feed management program, and get more dry matter, more protein and more energy Agway guarantees your silage quality will improve

Open And 4-H Dairy Show Held At York Fair

BY JOYCE BUPP
York Co. Correspondent

YORK — York Fair's dairy competition swung into gear Wednesday morning, with the 4-H show opening two full days of dairy showring activity.

Kelly and Todd Morris, Fawn Grove, dominated the Guernsey breed show, taking top rosettes with a pair of heifers. Kelly won the junior and grand champion honors with Beas Bonus Tinkerbell, a senior yearling. Her brother, Todd's summer yearling, Beas Lassies Dixie Bell, claimed the reserve junior and grand honors. Both heifers were bred by Joseph Kilgore, Delta.

Sue Eisenhart continued a successful winning streak in the Jersey breed with Pine Mountain Fashionable Daisy. The senior and grand champion five-year-old and her milking daughter also earned the Thomasville exhibitor first place dam and daughter honors.

Rich Bupp, Seven Valleys, claimed the senior and grand champion honors in the Holstein division with his homebred senior-two-year-old, Bupplynn Ultimate Pear-Twin. Taking the reserve senior and grand spot was Bridgette Boyer, York, exhibiting her three-year-old class winner, Sunnybend Sexy Icicle B Star. Boyer also took first dam-and-daughter with a homebred pair.

Bupp earned the junior and reserve junior champion placings as well, taking the heifer honors with intermediate winner Bupplynn Lasso Janey, and the reserve place with junior yearling Bupplynn Milevation Betty.

Showmanship and fitting competition capped the York Fair's 4-H dairy contest. Bridgette Boyer got the judges' nod as grand champion showman, over reserve

World Dairy Expo Set For Wisconsin Hospitality

MADISON, Wis.— World Dairy Expo, the world's premiere trade show for dairy farmers, will be held September 30 through October 4 at the Dane County Exposition Center in Madison, Wisconsin. The show, the largest of its kind and international in scope, is celebrating its twenty-first year of service to the dairy farm family. "We're looking forward to again welcoming dairymen from over 60 countries to this year's show," says Brad Rugg, World Dairy Expo's Executive Vice President. "The common language spoken here is the dairy cow and all who attend can be assured of furthering their knowledge of the dairy industry and of some good Wisconsin hospitality - World Dairy Expo style."

Plans for the 21st Annual World Dairy Expo feature nearly 400 commercial exhibitors displaying the latest available dairy farm technology, products and services. Dairy experts are scheduled three times daily Wednesday through Saturday on the Education Program stage in the Trade Center. Timely and informative speakers will address day-to-day farm management needs such as the use of feed additives for high producing dairy cows, the role of milking machines in mastitis, and innovative uses for creeping rooted alfalfa. "Milking Your Cows For All Their Worth" will be presented by a veterinarian in two parts and will provide an in-depth look at how dairymen can increase net profits from their cows. Two panel discussions will be featured. The first reports results of the investigations of the stray voltage attack team and the second will present the conclusions of a two year study by Wisconsin's Dairy Task Force on how to maintain the economic viability of Wisconsin's dairy industry. Herd health issues will also be addressed through topics ranging from milk progesterone testing and helpful tips on developing a good deworming program to the most up-to-date, field-practical information available on BRSV, a strong contributor of the bovine respiratory disease syndrome.

The dairy cow herself is, of course, at the core of what World Dairy Expo is all about. More than 1600 head of th finest show cattle in North America will be competing to be named tops in their respective breed. Expo will host the Central National shows for the Ayrshire, Brown Swiss, Guernsey, Holstein and Milking Shorthorn breeds and the Midwest Regional Jersey Show. Youth from across the United States will travel to Expo to participate in National 4-H, Intercollegiate and FFA dairy cattle judging contests and junior showmanship contests. An informative ladies program, the Craft Forum, is also a popular segment of World Dairy Expo. Craft and food demonstrations, style shows and informative and entertaining programming fill out the daily schedule for this ever-growing show attraction. A wide variety of handcrafted items will be offered

An auger by any other name just isn't WESTFIELD

You may know our bright yellow and red colors. Or our reputation for quality construction, superior design, economy and value — you just can't buy a better auger . . . at any price.
But did you know that we're probably North America's leading grain auger manufacturer. We really know our stuff. We offer a choice of 6, 7, 8, or 10 inch diameters; lengths from 26 to 71 feet; and four drive options — electric, gas, PTO shaft or PTO belt drive. Our new labor saving 'TR' series — the PTO auger with hydraulic positioning — lets your tractor do the hard work. And we carry a large inventory, at all times, for fast delivery. There's a lot behind the Westfield name and reputation. And an auger by any other name just might not measure up.

PDA Employees Honored

HARRISBURG — Five veteran employees of the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture (PDA) have been recognized for outstanding service, Agriculture Secretary Boyd E. Wolff announced today.

Receiving awards as Outstanding Employees of 1987 were John L. Longenecker of Elizabethtown, Bureau of Plant Industry; Mary A. Pickens of Conneaut Lake, Region I headquarters; George A. Snyder of Halifax, Bureau of Farm Show; and Michael J. Frendak of Lansford and Ogden C. Bacon of Middletown, Bureau of Fods and Chemistry.

"These five are representative of the finest men and women who serve the Commonwealth and the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture," Secretary Wolff said. "They can be regarded as outstanding among the Department's many outstanding employees."

The award winners were honored at the Department's fourth-annual Recognition Awards Dinner, Sept. 14 at the Manada Hill Inn Restaurant north of Harrisburg.

Longenecker joined the Bureau of Plant Industry 15 years ago as a plant pathologist and was promoted to division chief of the Feed, Fertilizer and Lime Division in 1980. When the division was merged with the Pesticides Division in 1985, Longenecker was named chief of the combined Agronomic Services Division. He also has served on the ad hoc committee suggesting guidelines for legislative action on the recently amended state Pesticides Act.

Pickens joined the Region I office staff in Meadville in 1971 as a Clerk Stenographer I. Increased duties and responsibilities subsequently prompted her reclassification and promotion to Clerk Stenographer III. Region I officials credit her with "valuable knowledge of State Government systems and with expediting automotive reports."

Snyder was first employed by the Bureau of Farm Show as a Tradesman Helper 17 years ago and currently is classified as an Electrician. Farm Show officials who nominated Snyder for the honor said his abilities "have enabled us to provide outstanding electrical service to individuals and organizations who lease our facilities . . . and to improve our overall operation."

Frendak, a 30-year veteran with PDA, is considered by his peers as "the old pro." He began as an Agriculture Products Supervisor and presently is assigned to the Foods Division at the Region III headquarters in Tunkhannock. He has assisted other government agencies, and the support he has provided PDA's Bureau of Government Donated Foods program in Region III has achieved significant savings.

Bacon has served in all phases of milk sanitation and regulation since joining the Bureau of Foods and Chemistry 26 years ago. He has held the post of Regional Sanitarian and Laboratory Certification Officer. In his current post in state headquarters in Harrisburg, Bacon is Chief, State Milk Rating Officer. He has been instrumental in implementing a number of important milk-related studies and programs.

Sinking Valley Local

SOUTHAMPTON — The Sinking Valley Local of Atlantic Dairy Cooperative District 20 will meet Sept. 21 at 8 p.m. at the Tyrone Township Building.

The purpose of the meeting is to elect officers, delegates and alternate delegates for the coming year. David C. Hileman, Tyrone, is the current Local president.

Nominations will also be taken for District 20 director, as current Director Byron E. Sollenberger's term expires this year.

Atlantic Dairy Cooperative represents 4,100 dairy farm families in Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia.

Open And 4-H Dairy Show Held At York Fair

York Fair 4-H Jersey senior and grand champion honors went to Sue Eisenhart and reserve to Tim Warner. Offering congratulations were judge Jim Burdette and York County dairy princess Suzanne Hash

Senior and grand champion York Fair Holstein 4-H award went to Rich Bupp with Bridgette Boyer claiming the reserve spot. Presenting awards were Dairy Maid Diane Lang and Judge Peter Witmer.

York Fair FFA Swine Show Results

BY JOYCE BUPP
York Co. Correspondent

YORK — FFA members wrapped up an afternoon of swine showing competition at the York Fair with a market hog class that ended in something of sibling rivalry and chapter pride.

When the sawdust finally settled after eight weight classes of entries, a pair of littermates had snagged the top two prizes.

Gus Parlett, Airville, won the nod for champion market hog with a homebred entry. He had sold a littermate after weaning to John Eaton, Jr., a fellow member of the Red Lion FFA chapter. Eaton not only followed breeder Parlett into the reserve champion spot, but then handled his entry well enough in the ring to earn champion showman title from judge Ken Winebark.

The crossbred champion and reserve hogs were from a litter by a Duroc boar and a Hampshire-Yorkshire sow. Both weighed in at entry in the 240-246 pound class.

In the FFA swine breeding divisions, Mike Warner of Kennard Dale had both grand and reserve Berkshire sows. Chester White and Duroc honors were a clean sweep for Red Lion's Gus Parlett.

Paul Breaud, Kennard Dale, claimed champion and reserve awards in both Spots and Landrace categories. Breaud also earned the Yorkshire champion award, with Tom Robinson, Red Lion, winning the reserve Yorkshire slot.

Veteran youth hog exhibitor Gus Parlett snagged the champion FFA market hog honor at the York Fair with a crossed homebred. Ken Winebark made the official placings.

John Eaton, Jr., nailed down two top awards during York Fair FFA market hog runoffs. His crossbred entry took reserve champion, while Eaton was named champion showman of the hog showring contest.

Maryland Ranks In National Top Ten For Poultry

Maryland broiler production ranks number one in the Northeast and sixth nationally according to recently released data from the U.S.D.A. A long history of poultry production in Delmarva has benefited from closeness to Northeastern markets and access to large quantities of corn for energy and soybean meal for protein feed ingredients. The poultry industry in the U.S. is largely concentrated in areas with a stable and relatively low-cost source of labor and managerial inputs.

Traditionally, the beef and hog finishing industries have shifted to the Southern Great Plains and Western Corn Belt areas where grain sorghum and corn have been plentiful and relatively low in value and price. Beef finishing may require 7 to 8 pounds of concentrate feeds per pound of beef grain in contrast to four pounds per pound of hog gain. In contrast, the broiler industries and firms in Maryland, Delaware, Virginia and Pennsylvania may use only two pounds of concentrate feeds per pound of gain up to a typical four pound broiler marketing weight.

Arkansas continues as the leading broiler producing state with one-sixth of the national production. Georgia followed in 1986 with 15 percent and Alabama was third with 12.6 percent. North Carolina ranked fourth with 9.7 percent and Mississippi was fifth with 7.6 percent. Maryland production, which was 5.7 percent of the U.S., has increasingly shifted from whole, ready-to-cook production to "further processed" output. Not only has the shift toward selling cut-up broiler parts occurred but an increasing amount of chicken is being marketed in frozen forms such as nuggets, pre-cooked frozen parts, and special packages of one type of frozen parts. These items are available for household use as well as fast food outlets.

When the value of all poultry including broilers, turkeys and eggs is considered, the rankings shift slightly. Arkansas and Georgia retain the first and second positions, North Carolina moves into third place only slightly behind Georgia with 10.1 percent of national value of sales in 1986. Alabama drops to fourth place followed by California which is a major producer of eggs and turkeys, but less so with broilers. Mississippi and Texas follow in sixth and seventh place. Maryland ranked eighth nationally in total value of poultry production in 1986. Pennsylvania followed Maryland closely in ninth place and Virginia was tenth. Delaware just missed the top ten in production.

U.S. value of poultry production expanded from $8.9 billion in 1980 to $12.4 billion in 1986. Broilers in recent years have accounted for over half of U.S. poultry output and an even larger portion of Maryland output. In 1986, broiler output was valued at $6.8 billion, eggs at $3.5 billion and turkeys at $2 billion and non-broiler chickens at $0.1 billion. In general, consumer preferences revealed in the market place have indicated a shift from egg consumption on a per capita basis to broiler and turkey meat per capita. Chicken meat has benefited from expansion of sales at fast food chains and restaurants as well as becoming more of a convenience food, through further processing, for women working outside the home and for dual spouse income earning families. Also, poultry has fit into many menus emphasizing reduced energy and fat intake during the 1980's. Poultry products have been very price competitive in the marketplace in recent years.

Dairymen Honored For Service On DHIA Board

At the Annual Statewide Directors' Conference held in State College on September 2 & 3, three former State Directors were honored for their contributions to Pennsylvania DHIA. Honored were Milan (Cy) Pavkov from Erie County, Oliver Butler from Tioga County and Jason Hertzler from Union County.

Cy Pavkov from Erie County operates a 425 acre farm with his wife Dot and their son Jack. Cy served on the Erie County Board of Directors for 21 years, and on the State Board for 15 years. Cy served as the Erie County president for 6 years. During his tenure on the State DHIA Board Cy served as a National Delegate, and as Secretary and Treasurer.

Oliver Butler and his wife Marian operate a 400 acre farm in Tioga County. Oliver has served on the Tioga County board for 20 years, serving as president for 6 years. Oliver was a State Director for 15 years, and a National Delegate for 13. During his time on the State Board he has been Secretary, Vice-President (4 years) and President (3 years).

Jason Hertzler is a former State Director from Montour County where he operates a 500 acre farm. He has been on the local board for 12 years, where he has served as Vice-President and President. Jason served on the State DHIA Board for 9 years.

Clyde Robison (left) President of Pennsylvania DHIA presents a plaque to Milan Pavkov of Erie County and his wife Dot for their contributions to the State Board.

Franklin County 4-H Shepherds

Members of the Franklin County 4-H Shepherds participated in the clubs annual farm tour on July 28. The club divided up into two groups and toured the farms of the attending 4-H members. The provided shelter, feed and condition of each 4-H lamb was inspected and scored in each members 4-H livestock record book. After the farm tour both groups met at the Memorial Park for a picnic and swimming.

On August 25 a meeting was held at Bixel's place, Chambersburg, for the purpose of demonstrating, fitting and showing techniques. First year members, Jason Mowery, Holly and Eric Long worked with the lambs while Ken and Kim Bixel demonstrated. Refreshments were provided by the Bixel's.

The 4-H Shepherds Round-Up and Auction will be held at Greencastle Livestock Sales on Wednesday, September 16th. Weigh-in will begin at 8:00 a.m. with the show beginning at 10:00 a.m. The sale of the market lambs will begin at 2:00 p.m.

A tentative meeting is scheduled for the September 22 at the Extension Office in Chambersburg.

Brother And Sister Duo Show Top Market Lamb At Denver Fair

BY LOU ANN GOOD

DENVER — Jenny Wenger battled a 135-pound Suffolk to win first place for her brother in the Market Lamb Division at the Denver Fair on Thursday night. The sheep leaped, yanked and kicked Jenny on the chin, but she hung on and kept smiling.

After receiving the trophy, twelve-year-old Brad Wenger hugged his sophomore sister and said, "Thanks, Jen, I couldn't have done it without you."

Brad explained that all of their nine sheep are a lively bunch bred from their own Ram. "Because they're so lively I didn't think we had a chance," Jenny admitted.

But whatever their sheep had, the judge, David Lytle a Hampshire breeder from New London, liked because both Jenny and Brad won numerous ribbons at the 4th year Denver show slated as second largest sheep show in the county.

Brad and Jenny Wenger had a difficult time quieting their energetic Suffolk, but they earned the grand champion market lamb trophy and numerous other top awards.

Teary-eyed Tracy and Gina Montes listen as Terry Kauffman, Denver Sheep Show's coordinator, tells the audience why the sisters won the Special Exhibitor Award.

Teary-eyed Tracy and Gina Montes, Lititz, accepted the Special Exhibitor Award and explained how thrilled they are since last year, their first for sheep showing, they had experience a tragedy. Then, the two daughters of Marilyn Montes, lost a sheep during a Manheim show from a polio virus. The sisters have four Oxford, Becky, Peaches, Autumn Surprise, Dora Dee and a Hampshire named Thermador.

Gina, a twelveth-grader, said her interest in sheep was launched while participating in Warwick High School's FFA program. Her eleventh-grade sister became mesmerized by the cute antics of Gina's first sheep and this year joined her sister in the sheep show pen. Both girls won numerous awards for their ewes and lambs.

This was the first year the show presented a Special Exhibitor Award. Terry Kauffman who is in charge of the sheep show explained that this year they wanted to do something special for the participants. It isn't based upon sheep or showmanship but recognizes the outstanding helpful qualities the winner shows toward other participants and guests.

Donna MacCauley, 16-year-old daughter of Willliam and John Mac Cauley of RD 1, Atglen, won the champion market lamb trophy at the Solanco Fair on Wednesday.

MacCauley's Suffolk ewe is her FFA project at Octorara High school and is part of her 20 sheep flock. MacCauley was also selected by the show judge Brenda Walters of York as the best in showmanship. Tom Arrowsmith took the reserve championship. Tom is the son of William and Geraldine Arrowsmith of Peach Bottom. Lyndon Reiff took the championship fitter title and MacCauley won the reserve spot. Reiff is the 13-year-old son of Lloyd and Laura Reiff of Strasburg.

EVERYONE WELCOME

This map supplied by the Lancaster County Agricultural Preserve Board shows routes engineers suggest for the Route 30/23 bypass. A public hearing on the matter is scheduled for Wednesday, September 23, at Pequea Valley High School. Starting time is 7 p.m. Officials believe the final mile-wide corridor could be locked in within the next three or four months. Interested persons are invited to attend the hearing.

"And this has nothing to do with the specific alignment of the highway," Mussellman said. In addition, the impact is so much greater because of the large number of different farm families that are affected because of the smaller number of acres in each farm.

In the long process of highway planning, a critical time has arrived for the Route 23/30 bypass in Lancaster County. Within the next three to four months a corridor for the future highway could be locked in-- a cheap straight through option that almost totally ignores the unique Lancaster County farm community and its impact on Pennsylvania's economy or a skirting alignment that includes the cost of a few more miles of roadway but gives the farm community here an opportunity to continue to coexist with industry and urban populations.

At present, only one local public hearing has been announced by PennDot and Greiner Engineering Sciences, a King of Prussia firm hired by PennDot to study possible routes for the highway. This meeting has been scheduled for Wednesday, September 23, at Pequea Valley High School. Starting time is 7 p.m. Here the public will have a chance to view the proposed routes, ask questions and give comments. And by the kind and number of responses to this meeting, the road planning people on this project will get an idea of the strength and feeling for the Pennsylvania Dutch Valley. And they will also get an indication for the support of the skirting alignments.

All interested persons are invited to attend.

Mallott, Kauffman Win Market Hog Titles At Solanco

BY PAT PURCELL

QUARRYVILLE — Years of competition and hard work in showmanship and fitting finally paid off at the Solanco Fair Swine Show for Mike Mallot and Sandy Kauffman. Mallott's fair competition spans seven years and last night he hit the pay off by winning the Solanco Fair Swine Grand Championship for the first time. The show was the largest swine show to date for the fair. Kauffman was another first time winner at the fair. After five years of competing she won her first reserve championship trophy.

Mallot,19, son of Robert and RuthAnn Mallott of Peach Bottom, took the title with a 254-pound crossbred Hampshire, Duroc and Yorkshire. This four-month old was purchased from Klinefelter Brothers of Lebanon. It's been a "great year" according to Mallot. With the same breed of animal he won the Farm Show reserve championship this year.

Kauffman, daughter of Robert and Susan Kauffman won reserve with her Duroc 4-H project bred by Jim Parlett of York County. She is alos from Peach Bottom.

Matt Welk, 13, son of Paul and Beverly Welk of Quarryville took the reserve lightweight championship and also the reserve middleweight championship in the class competition.

Judging the show was Duff George, a territory manager for Purina Mills.

Brown Swiss Show Biggest In Fair History

BY PAT PURCELL

The 38th Solanco Fair hosted the biggest Brown Swiss show in the fair's history at its Colored Breed Dairy competition on Wednesday. Two Maryland competitors Tom and Joy Crothers and both of Rising Sun contributed to the record number of entries.

Dale Oliver of Atlantic Breeders Cooperative who judged the show said not only were number of entries up for the Brown Swiss, but that quality had shown a great improvement. However, quality was not only improved in the Brown Swiss. Overall the animals were of better quality than when Oliver had judged a dairy show at the fair four years ago. In Wednesday's competition Oliver said he was more concerned with a cow's legs, feet, udder attachment as well as overall dairyness than in the animal's size.

The Hillacres Farm is owned by William and Geraldine Arrowsmith with 100 head of Jerseys of which approximately 50 are milking.

George and Doris Hough of Peach Bottom also had two first places in the Jersey class with one in the intermediate calf class and the other in the senior calf. Both animals were bred by the Houghs.

The Pinelane Farm in Peach Bottom produced a string of champions in the Ayrshire division. Warren Schmuck took the grand championship with Holly's Pride Jill sired by Mar-Ral Commander's Pride. This aged cow winner has a production in excess of 17,000 pounds with a 410 fat test, according to Schmuck. The winner has an Excellent-92 classification. Pinelane Farm is owned by Larry & Louise Schmuck of 1332 Furnace Road Peach Bottom. The Schmuck's milk approximately 70 Ayrshires.

Karen Hambrick, also of Pinelane Farm, took the junior and reserve junior championships. Her intermediate yearling, Beech Creek Pudge Starlight was sired by Caverly Farms Pudge and bred by John Stick. The reserve champion was bred by Hambrick, Pinelane S.S. Rugby. Michelle Gordon won the reserve title with her senior yearling, Pinelane Big Business Charm.

Tom and Joy Crothers of Rising Sun, Maryland swept the top spots in four of the Brown Swiss classes as they rose to the grand champion and junior champion titles. Their 4-year-old dry cow, Brownswitch Performer Pigeon, bred by the Crothers, was sired by Maple Grove performer. The grand champion produced 20,200 pounds with 865 pounds of fat in her previous production period. Brown Swiss are in the minority at the Crothers' farm. They have a milking herd of 120 Holsteins with 10 Brown Swiss.

Sire Power Appoints Regional Sales Managers

Sire Power, Inc., announces the staff appointments of Mark B. Adam, Goshen, Indiana, and John M. Schwobe, New Holstein, Wisconsin, as Eastern and Midwest Regional Sales Managers, respectively.

As Regional Sales Managers, Mark and John are responsible for both sales of Sire Power products and services, and supervision of District Sales Managers, Area Sales Representatives, Technicians, and Distributors in their respective regions. The Eastern Region, which Mark will handle, includes the New England States, New York, Western Pennsylvania, and Virginia; John's Midwest Region is comprised of Wisconsin, Minnesota, Northern Illinois, Iowa, and North and South Dakota.

Mark Adam brings to the position of Eastern Regional Sales Manager an extensive knowledge of the dairy industry gained through work experience and related activities. A graduate of the Purdue University Agriculture Short Course, Mark was previously employed by Sire Power as a District Sales Manager in Northern Indiana. During this time, Mark provided sales and service for over 400 dairy and beef customers on a direct herd basis. We also supervised A.I. technicians and representatives.

Experience gained as a dairy cattle fitter, D.H.I.A. supervisor, and herdsman complements

Mark B. Adam

Mark's experience in A.I. sales and service. Mark was most recently employed as the herdsman for Dr. G.W. Snider and Ronald Kline of Goshen, Indiana. There, Mark helped to establish a dairy herd of 50 cows. Extension embryo transplant activity was conducted and two national class production records were set during his employment.

Mark, his wife Donna, and daughter Michelle Lynne, have relocated to Tunkhannock, Pennsylvania, home of Sire Power headquarters.

John Schwobe

John Schwobe brings many years of A.I. experience and leadership ability to the position of Midwest Regional Sales Manager. Since 1981, he has been a District Sales Manager in East Central Wisconsin. His responsibilities included sales of products and services, as well as supervision of technicians and distributors in the ten-county area. John pioneered Sire Power's introduction into that area and has consistently improved sales revenues.

John, his wife, Linda, and son, Dustin will continue to reside in New Holstein, Wisconsin.

Milk Market News

NEW YORK — Dairy farmers who supplied milk plants regulated under the New York-New Jersey marketing orders during August 1987 will be paid on the basis of a uniform price of $12.44 per hundredweight (26.8 cents per quart); the price for the corresponding month last year was $12.46 per hundredweight. Market Administrator Thomas A. Wilson also stated that the price was $11.96 in July 1987. The uniform price is a marketwide weighted average of the value of farm milk used for fluid and manufactured dairy products.

The seasonal incentive fund returned a total of $3,320,972.10, or $.350 per hundredweight, to the dairy farmers' uniform price for August. This fund was generated by reducing the uniform price paid to producers during the high-production spring months.

A total of 14,672 dairy farmers supplied the New York-New Jersey Milk Marketing Area with 947,811,383 pounds of milk during August 1987. This was a decrease of 1.0 percent (about 9 million pounds) from last year. The gross value to dairy farmers for milk deliveries was $118,036,915.04. This included differentials required to be paid to dairy farmers but not voluntary premiums or deductions authorized by the farmer.

Regulated milk dealers (handlers) used 369,845,401 pounds of milk for Class I, 39.0 percent of the total. This milk is used for fluid milk products such as homogenized, flavored, low test, and skim milks. For August 1987, handlers paid $13.62 per hundredweight (29.3 cents per quart) for Class I milk compared with $13.55 a year ago.

The balance (577,965,982 pounds or 61.0 percent) was used to manufacture Class II products including butter, cheese, ice cream, and yogurt. Handlers paid $11.37 per hundredweight for this milk.

The uniform price is based on milk containing 3.5 percent butterfat. For August 1987, there was a price differential of 17.0 cents for each one-tenth of one percent that the milk tested above or below the 3.5 percent standard.

For the second consecutive month, the butterfat test fell below the 3.5 percent standard. The August 1987 test was 3,495327 percent.

All prices quoted are for bulk tank milk received from farms in the 201-210 mile zone from New York City.

Income Tax Preparation Workshop Offered

Major changes are in store for taxpayers asa result of 1986 Tax Reform Legislation, according to Jay Irwin, County Extension Director. Penn State will provide information about the new rules at the October Income Tax Preparation Workshops. This year, the October Tax Workshop will be conducted in Lancaster on October 12 and 13 at the Farm & Home Center, 1383 Arcadia Road, Hwy. 72 S. exit off 283 or 30; 2 blocks south; turn on Service Road at Pontiac dealership.

There is a reason to debate whether the new tax law will make tax preparation easier. However, it is certain that staying up-to-date is more important than ever. Extension Director Irwin empahsizes that the Tax Workshop is an opportunity for Tax Accountants, Tax Preparers, farmers, homemakers, and owners of small businesses to get the latest information abour the changes that will affect them during approaching tax filing season.

The 1987 workshop has been planned to provide the best coverage possible of the recent changes in tax law and tax filing procedure. Topics to be discussed include the new rules for computing depreciation, Individual Retirement Plans, Partnership tax issues, Capital Gains, and topics of special concern for 1987 such as preproductive expenses and carried-over investment credit. Representatives of the Internal Revenue Service and the Pennsylvania State Department of Revenue will be present to offer information about their respective departments.

Instructors for the workshop include Larry C. Jenkins, John C. Becker, Lehan R. Power, and Gary L. Sheppard, of the Pennsylvania State University; Gary Heim, a State College Attorney; and Representatives of the Internal Revenue Service and The Pennsylvania State Department of Revenue. The program offers 12 Continuing Professional Education (CPE) credits for persons who need these credits to maintain their professional accreditation.

Preregistration for the program is recommended although not required. The registration fee is $70 including noon lunches and workshop reference materials. A $10 discount is available for those who register prior to September 25.

Registration forms and more information is available at the Lancaster County Extension Office or by calling that office at 717-394-6851.

Dairy Market Largest For Veterinarians

SCHAUMBURG, IL — Dairy producers spent $93.3 million with veterinarians for animal health products and $207.6 million for professional services in 1985 reports the American Veterinary Medical Association (AVMA) in a major study.

The total of $300.9 million is about 47% of the food animal veterinary market.

According to the results of a national mail survey, nearly all dairymen used a veterinarian in 1985, averaging $1,090 per producer for services and products. Expenditures for just medical services are three times more per year than beef and hog producers and about five times more than sheep producers.

Surveyed dairy producers used a veterinarian about 20 times a year, four times the frequency of use by beef, hog, and sheep producers.

In U.S. Market for Food Animal Veterinary Medical Services, economist J. Karl Wise, PhD, reports that the average U.S. dairy producer spent 75% of his animal health budget with a local veterinarian, including $680 for professional services and $410 for products.

"Large producers spend more money with veterinarians than small producers," said Dr. Wise, "but large producers spend proportionately less of their animal health dollar with veterinarians than small producers."

As dairy operations grow, producers spend relatively less money on veterinary services and more on animal health products.

Surveyed dairy producers with up to 49 head spent a median $800 with veterinarians. Those with 50 to 90 head spent a median $1,500, and those with more than 100 head spent a median $3,050.

Fifty-seven percent of dairy producers' animal health product expenses was for medications, drugs, and implants, 20% for animal vaccines, 10% for parasite control products, 10% for medicated feed additives, and 2% for other products.

Dairy producers purchased 60% of their medications and 75% of their vaccines from veterinarians. Another 16% of the medications was bought at the feed store and 13% through a mail order distributor. Thirteen percent of their vaccines were purchased via mail order.

All U.S. livestock producers spent $638 million in 1985 for veterinary services and products, about 47% of the total agricultural animal health market of $1.35 billion.

Penn Gate Owners Hit Bull's Eye

GINGER SECRIST MYERS
Adams County Correspondent

LITTLESTOWN — If imitation is the most sincere form of flattery, then having one of your children chose to follow in your career footsteps must be extra complimentary to a parent. At Penn Gate Holstein Farm, just such a transition is taking place. Bob Gitt has, in the past year, passed the management reigns of his herd over to his daughter Chrissy and son-in-law Steve Wood. Steve and Chrissy are the fifth generation of the family to farm the red-clay soil of the homestead located just north of the Mason-Dixon line.

Bob relates that the name Penn Gate was derived from the farm's location. It is just minutes into Pennsylvania from Maryland, hence it is at the gateway into the Keystone State. But the name Penn Gate, which strikes a chord of recognition with Holstein breeders across the country, almost faded from the registry records in 1973.

That was the year of the Allen Dairy Dispersal. Bob put a picture of his Penn Gate Duchess Abbey cow in the catalog, offering her for sale at private treaty. After the dispersal sale was over, representatives of London Dairy in Michigan came to Penn State to see that cow. They purchased Abbey that day and with her, 110 head from the rest of the herd.

What remained of the Penn Gate herd were 45 head that included blemished cows, late breeders, stale cows, and a few heifers. Still, they all carried the Dunloggin, Rag Apple, and Ivanhoe blood that Bob had crossed so successfully in the Abbey, Alice, and Betty families in this herd. These rejected cattle served as the genetic foundation for the 70 head of milking cows housed in their tie-stall barn today. Chrissy added, "Except for the cows that Steve brought with him, everything here is homebred today. We bought two real good cows from Harold Crider's sale several years ago, but I can count on two hands all the cows we've bought since 1974."

In 1986 Chrissy's husband Steve Wood joined the partnership and both Bob and Chrissy credit him with the herd's improvements in production and calving interval. Their rolling herd average is currently at 19,000 pounds of milk and 695 pounds of butterfat. The number of cows producing 1000 pound butterfat records in the past year has almost doubled.

His feeding program includes 25-30 pounds of corn silage per cow per day, an 18% flaked feed fed three times a day at a ratio of 2:1, and all the good alfalfa-grass mixed hay the cows will clean up.

Steve and Chrissy met at a cow show in Virginia. An accomplished dairyman in his own right, Steve was co-manager at Bayville Farm at that time and also campaigned several of his own cattle as well. Hailing from a dairy family with a commercial set-up, Steve describes himself as a tie stall, registered cow man who is misplaced when milking cows in a parlor.

He brought several of his own cattle to the Penn Gate operation including a VG 87 point Glendell daughter with 30,000 pounds of milk out in her last lactation. She is currently springing to a service by Starbuck.

While managing the dairy and caring for their new son Clayton keeps them busy, Steve and Chrissy still make time for the tanbark circuit. Recently they swept the classes at the South Central PA Championship Show. They captured both the Premier Breeder and Premier Exhibitor banners.

Looking over their show winners, the string included some young Valiants and Enhanser daughters, but the bulk of the breeding is Elevation, Astronaut, and Chief.

Lamented Bob, "There are no bloodlines in our breeding today. There's no more Dunloggin or Rag Apple. It's whatever makes a quick buck. We still breed for strength and longevity here." There are sixteen cows in the herd with over 100,000 pounds of lifetime milk production.

Steve explained their breeding philosophy further, "We don't have many index cows here. We realize there is a place for indexes. We try to breed to correct a cow's faults. I won't intentionally try to lower a cow's index, but I won't mate her to what I think is the wrong bull just to raise her index. We've started using more Canadian bulls here to help keep the strength in our cattle. We try to use index bulls in the right places."

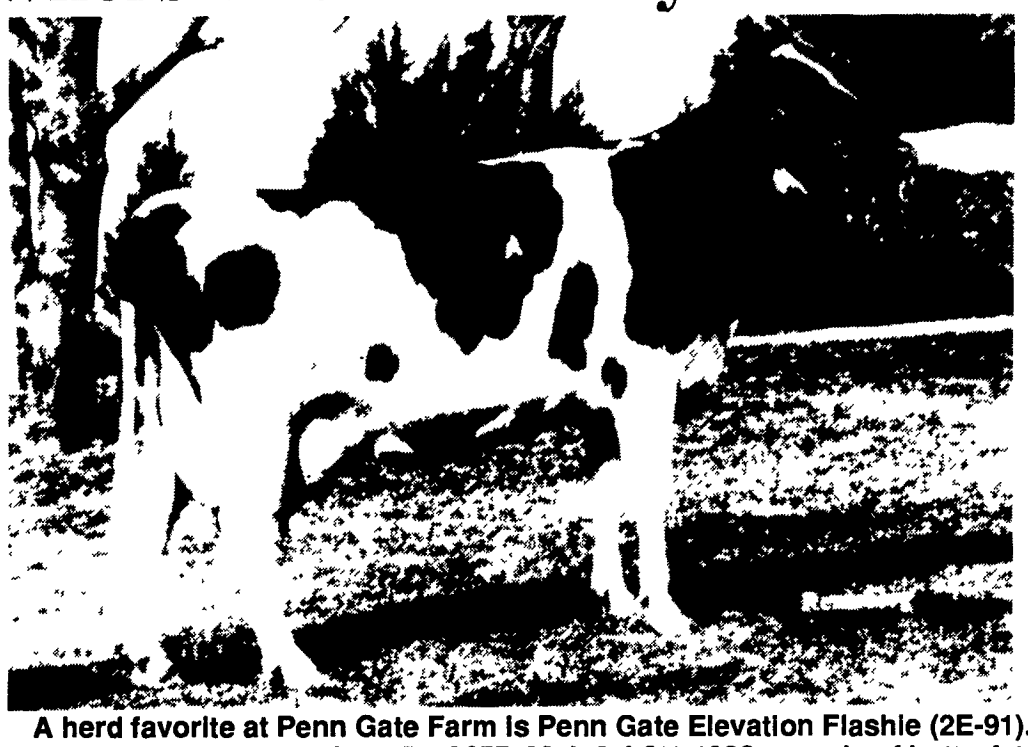
Chrissy added, "The best tools Steve and I have are our eyes. We get out to shows and visit farms and look at the daughters of the bulls. Two years ago we saw some Enhanser daughters and really liked their dairy character. We started using him right away and now some of our best young cows are by that bull."

One such young cow is Penn Gate Enhanser Fashion. Although she started out her lactation with a D.A., she is predicted to make 17,763 pounds of milk and 664 pounds of butterfat. Her dam is a herd favorite that is currently attracting export interest. She is Penn Gate Elevation Flashie (2E-91) by Elevation with her best effort at 7-1 in 365 days of 32,412 pounds of milk 4.3% and 1382 pounds of butterfat.

Steve and Chrissy both see showing as an intregal part of their merchandising program. With help from Bob, who now does most of the farming, Robin Thompson as their relief milker, and Richard "Pepper" Lehman as their help at shows, the Woods take out a string that sets the standard for the rest of the competition.

Steve notes that if you aren't merchandising your cattle to supplement your milkcheck, then why maintain your registration papers? Chrissy summarized, "It's much easier these days to sell them to make money, than it is to buy expensive cows to make you money."

With their reputation for quality cattle, their merchandising program on schedule, their contacts with the export market opening up and a real enthusiasm for their occupation, this young couple seems to have drawn the bead on the bull's-eye for their success.



A herd favorite at Penn Gate Farm is Penn Gate Elevation Flashie (2E-91). Her best record was made at 7-1 365D 32,412 4.3% 1382 pounds of butterfat. Flashie has four consecutive records over 1000 pounds of butterfat and averages a 4.0% protein test.

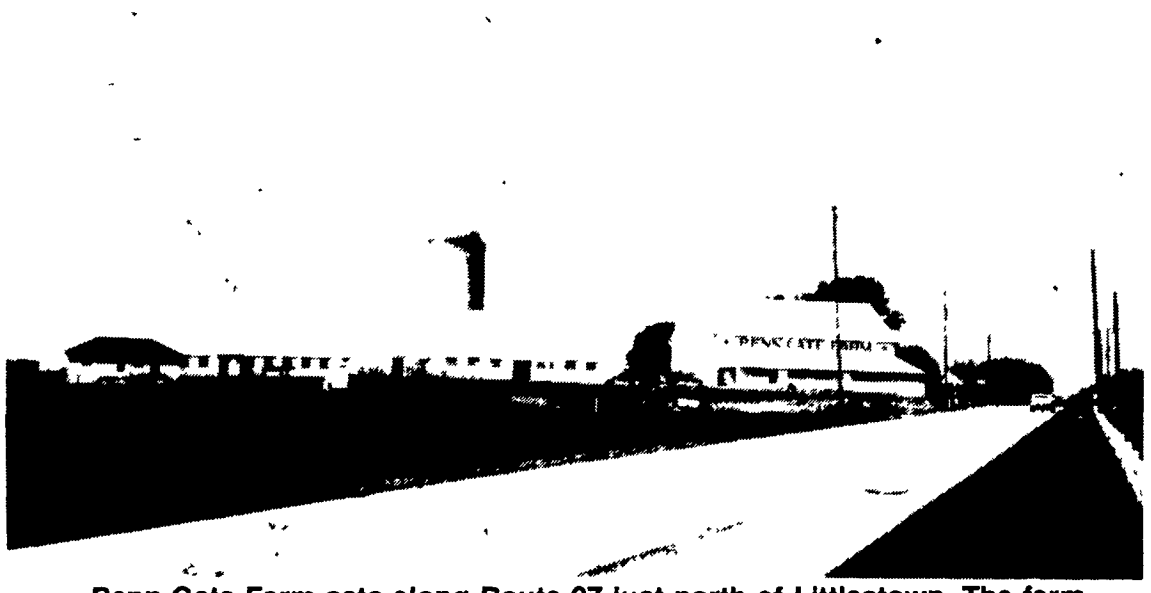
Pennsylvania DHIA Holds Director's Conference

The Pennsylvania Dairy Herd Improvement Association's Annual Statewide Directors' Conference was held at the Sheraton Penn State on September 2 & 3. The conference is conducted to give directors from local (county) boards an opportunity to visit with state DHIA staff members, and to learn more about the activities of state DHIA as well as direction for the future.

Over one-hundred local directors from around the state attended the conference and discussed issues such as National DHIA rules and changes in due process, study reports from the reorganization task force, information from the National DHIA 'new generation' committee and new service options and programs which are becoming available through Pennsylvania DHIA. Dr. William Heald gave a report on the state Cooperative Extension Service and Dr. Joseph Hlubick discussed the progress made on the new nutrition system being developed for DHIA. District directors' meetings and discussion periods were also a part of the 2 day conference.



Penn Gate Farm sets along Route 97 just north of Littlestown. The farm, which is just minutes into the Keystone State from Maryland, houses one of the state's best known Holstein herds.

PA Dairy Promotion Program Names New Program Coordinator

Laura B. Long, a Penn State University College of Agriculture graduate, and dairy enthusiast — has been named Program Coordinator for the Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Program.

One of Lolly's main responsibilities will be that as a liason with the local promotion committees. She will be developing new programs and special events. To facilitate further development of the committees, she will be compiling a promotional guide handbook. By enhancing the local promotional efforts, it is her goal to create a definitive grass roots appeal, thus; making the general public more aware of the importance of the Pennsylvania dairy industry and it's nutritious dairy products.

In making the announcement, PDPP Board Chairman Jim Harteis of Ebensburg noted that Lolly served as a summer intern with the Department of Agriculture, Bureau of Markets in 1985. She was an Agricultural Economics and Rural Sociology major at Penn State. While attending college, Lolly was active in the Dairy Science Club, and Ag Student Council.

Lolly is a Huntingdon County native, and her family has been involved in the dairy industry for many years. She succeeds Cindy Weimer, who has returned to Clarion County to farm with her husband.

ASCS Authorizes Special Honey Loans

Honey producers may request special honey price support loans on 100 percent of their 1987 production if they immediately repay the loans using the honey buyback provisions. A recent revision in honey program regulations also waived the eligible honey container requirements for these loans, according to Donald E. Lutz, Chairman of the Berks County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

To obtain the special loans, honey producers must certify that they: (1) own title to the honey when the loan request is made; (2) maintain ownership of the honey until the loan is repaid; and (3) present acceptable written buyback documentation.

Under the loan buyback provision, producers are allowed to repay their loans at the price support rate or a lesser price as determined by the Commodity Credit Corporation, Lutz said. Beekeepers who buy back their honey under the program may not repledge the same honey as collateral for another loan, he said.

Loan proceeds will be used to repay the special honey loan at the buyback rate in effect when the loan is disbursed, the ASCS official said.

Price support loans on 1987-crop honey may be obtained until March 31, 1988, at a national average rate of 63 cents per pound.

FARM FORUM OUR READERS WRITE

Editor:

Lycoming County is losing valuable farmland. From 1964 to 1982, more than 23,475 acres of farmland were converted to other uses. Isn't it time to save some of that farmland for food production here at the local level?

It doesn't take a lot of imagination to realize that local farmers grow local, fresh, and high quality food for surrounding consumers. Farmland provides open space for outdoor activities such as hunting, hiking and fishing. We not only lose these benefits when farmland disappears, but more importantly food prices go up.

Now, the voters of Lycoming County have an opportunity to show their support for agriculture.

On November 3rd, the voters of the Commonwealth will be asked by way of a referendum, whether they support a one-time bond of $100 million to fund a purchase of development rights (PDR) program in Pennsylvania.

Agriculture is the state's number one industry, generating more than $35 billion worth of business in the state, and providing jobs for one in every five persons. Pennsylvania ranks in the top ten nationally in more than 30 agricultural commodities.

Here in Lycoming County, agricultural cash receipts in 1985 were more than $28,347,000.

Now, agriculture needs the help of all citizens of Pennsylvania. We are encouraging a "YES" vote for Farmland Preservation. In order to do this, you must be registered to vote.

The Lycoming County Farmers' Association is encouraging everyone, not just farmers, to register to vote in the upcoming election, and to cast a "YES" vote for Farmland.

Last day to register is October 5th!

Ed Snook
President
Lycoming Farmers' Assn.

Crawford County 4-H'ers Place High At The Northwest District Dairy Show

Crawford County 4-H'ers placed high at the 40th Annual Northwest District Dairy Show held at the Crawford County Fairgrounds on September 5, 1987. A total of 378 4-H Dairy Project animals competed from a ten county area including Crawford, Clarion, Butler, Mercer, Jefferson, Erie, McKean, Lawrence and Venango counties. All of these animals were blue ribbon winners in their respective counties. A total of 188 dairy animals received blue ribbons in this show making them eligible to compete in the 32nd Pennsylvania Junior Dairy Show to be held at the Farm Show Building in Harrisburg, on September 21, 1987. Crawford County 4-H'ers had 92 animals eligible for the Junior Dairy Show out of 136 head entering the competition of the District Show.

County 4-H'ers had high placings in all of the six dairy breeds. In the Brown Swiss show, Todd Nicolls, Conneautville, had the Junior Champion with his Intermediate calf. In the Holstein show, Marsha Anthony, Meadville, had the Junior Champion with her Intermediate yearling and Julie Custead, Meadville, received the Reserve Junior Champion with her Intermediate Holstein. Also in the Holstein show, Paula Rynd, Cochranton, was reserve Senior Champion and Reserve Grand Champion with her Senior 2 year old Holstein cow. Tracey Dengler, Saegertown, had the Junior Champion Milking Shorthorn with her Junior calf. In the Jersey show, Crystal Miller, Cambridge Springs, received the Reserve Junior Champion with her Senior calf. Kristie Kobosky, Meadville, had the Junior Champion Ayrshire with her Senior yearling. Sabrina Wagner, Meadville, had the Senior Champion and Grand Champion Guernsey with her 3 year old cow. James Oakes, Guys Mills, received the Junior Champion with his Senior yearling Guernsey and Kellie Kunz, Centerville, the Reserve Junior Champion with her Intermediate yearling Guernsey.

This was the largest N.W. District Dairy Show to date, according to Crawford County Agent Joseph Beard. Beard also reported the following blue ribbon winners by breed that are eligible to go to Harrisburg for State competition and other awards they received at the District Show:

Delaware Valley College Receives Premier Breeder/Exhibitor

DOYLESTOWN — For the first time since 1978, Delaware Valley College was awarded Premier Breeder/Exhibitor at the 1987 Bucks County Holstein Show held at the Middletown Grange Fair on August 14.

Grosslyn Bell Chime, a Carlin-M Ivanhoe Bell four-year-old, was named Grand Champion and best udder of the show by Judge Creedin Cornman. Reserve Grand Champion and second best udder of the show went to DVC Columbus Asterine, a Leadfield Columbus Jr. two-year-old exhibited by the College.

The Junior Champion title was won by Craig Walton with a Straight-Pine Elevation Pete Sr. calf, Fountain Farm Pete Jingle - ET. DVC Man Jingle, a Fisher-Place Mandingo Jr. calf exhibited by the College received Reserve Jr. Champion.

Delaware Valley College was also the recipient of the first place Best Three Senior Females and Best Three Junior Females.

Hans Luginbuhl, Equine Science Program; Dr. Neil Vincent, Hort. Dept. chair; Michel Blanchard.

French Agriculturist Visits DVC

DOYLESTOWN — Delaware Valley College recently hosted French agriculturist Michel Blanchard and his wife in a tour of the field and laboratory facilities at the Bucks County agriculture, science and business college.

Blanchard, who was accompanied also by his son, Noel Gueugneau of Washington, D.C., is from the Agricultural College of Valabre in the Riviera region of France. There, he is Superintendent of Operations at the French college, specializing in grapes and grains.

He observed that DelVal is four times larger than his institution, offers a wider range of majors and is better organized! He is interested in developing an exchange program between the two institutions that can draw on each college's strengths.

Besides the interest in horticultural products, Blanchard plans to contact persons with the French governmental stud farms concerning an exchange that may benefit DVC's Equine program as well. At the present time, the College offers an optional overseas term in Germany, Switzerland and Austria as part of its two-year Associate Degree program in Equine Science.

Blanchard, who is a guest of Peggy Brakso, Doylestown, visited DelVal through the efforts of the Agribusiness Department. While in the area, they visited the Buckingham Valley Winery and made plans to tour the National Agricultural Research Center in Beltsville, MD.

Walbert Receives Maryland's Distinguished Service Award

Maryland Correspondent

The Maryland Holstein Breeders recognized Frank Walbert for his sincere service to the Maryland Holstein Association at the State Fair in Timonium. Fifty years ago he was born in Queen Anne's County on the Eastern Shore of Maryland. In his growing years he was active in his local 4-H and FFA clubs and in the Purebred Holstein Association and the judging teams. He was a member of the 1955 Maryland 4-H judging team which won the National contest where Frank placed as 2nd high individual. The following year he was a member of the winning team at the international contest.

Frank now lives in Ellicott City. He is the manager of the University of Maryland Dairy-Forage Research Farm, a position he has held for 22 years. For the past 23 years he has been serving as the Assistant Dairy Superintendent.

In 1969 Frank became a life member of the Maryland Dairy Shrine Association. He has been showing Holsteins for the last 24 years at local, district and state show. Frank credits his dairy coach John Morris as the one individual influencing his love of cows and success in life and his desire to serve the promotion and betterment of the Holstein breed.

During the years, Frank and his family have been extremely successful in the annual Hoard's Dairymen Judging contest. As a family they were fourth in 1969, second in 1985 and have won the family division for 3 years, 1971, '75 & '81. His daughter, Julie has followed in her father's footsteps as she just recently won the Maryland PDCA Junior Dairyman of the Year contest at the fair this year. She also has been on the Maryland judging teams and Dairy Bowl team. Her judging team placed second in the nationals in 1983.

Frank has shared his expertise and heritage with his fellow Holstein Breeders in many ways. He has coached the Maryland Dairy Bowl team for five years, and the 1987 team won the national contest this year. Frank has been the chairman of the All-Maryland awards for eight years and is a past chairman of the Maryland Junior Activities Committee. For many years he found ways to be involved in some way with the youth. He is presently a state director for Sire Power and serves on the Holstein Sire Committee.

Whenever Frank has been asked to share himself for the betterment of the Registered Holstein Cow and for service to the Registered Holstein Breed, Frank has responded willingly and with a strong sense of responsibility.

Transfer Of Development Rights In Maryland

Montgomery County, Maryland, is an urban county with a population of 650,000 located adjacent to Washington, D.C. About 100,000 acres of the county's 317,000 acres are farmed; the remaining acres have been developed for urban use. Continuing pressure from urban development has caused agricultural and other interests to be concerned about preserving agricultural land and open space. One innovative and successful approach takenby the county to address this issue involves a program that allows the sale or transfer of development rights by farm landowners to developers. The programis receiving substantial attention from officials in other urban areas and some claim it is a model for preserving agricultural land.

The plan for the sale of development rights was adopted by the county in 1980. Under this plan, 89,000 acres were designated as an Agricultural Reserve and several urban areas were designated as places where increased development density would be permitted.

Landowners in the Agricultural Reserve were given one Transfer Development Right (TDR) for every 5 acres. Landowners could, if they wished, sell these TDR's to developers. Under terms of the sale, development of the land is prohibited in perpetutity. Developers may build one additional housing unit in any area which has been designated for increased density for each TDR they purchase. As of July 1987, about 10% of the TDR's in the Agricultural Reserve have been sold to developers and another 15% are in the process of being transferred.

The price of TDR's is determined by negotiations between sellers and buyers. Recently, the price of most TDR's has ranged between $4000 and $5000 per TDR or $800 and $1000 per acre.

The TDR program has several advantages. One advantage is flexibility as farm landowners can sell one or all of their TDR's anytime. Another advantage is that the sale can usually be completed in less than 6 months. A third advantage is that there is virtually no cost to taxpayers.

The TDR program is not without criticism, however. One objection is the program provides a subsidy for developers. It is estimated that a TDR is worth about $10,000 to developers, nearly double what they pay for it. Another objection is that the program provides an unnecessary subsidy for some farm landowners. The 89,000 acres in the Agricultural Reserve includes land that is not suitable for either farming or development under current conditions, but this land was included when determining the number of TDR's to be awarded. Third, neighbors in or adjacent to increased density areas objected to the increased density and because they did not receive any compensation for increased congestion and possible decrease

Hog Producers Appreciate Efforts Of Veterinarians

SCHAUMBURG, IL — Ninety-two percent of the hog producers surveyed by the American Veterinary Medical Association (AVMA) believe their veterinarians are good communicators and 95% say local veterinarians' services are beneficial to their operations.

These survey results are contained in a 200-page report titled U.S. Market for Food Animal Veterinary Medical Services published by the AVMA.

More than 77% of the producers indicate that their local veterinarian was very important to their operation for the diagnosis and treatment of sick or injured animals. More than 45% said veterinarians were very important for required regulatory testing, purchases of animal vaccines and medications/antibiotics, and information on herd health management and reproductive problems. Only 12% believe veterinarians are very important for feed/nutrition information.

According to economist, J. Karl Wise, PhD, hog producers believe veterinarians are good at explaining what they know to producers, and are also good at listening to producers' problems.

Producers who feel they have good communication with their veterinarians tend to have lower veterinary expenditures.

"The findings suggest that producers perceive themselves as learning from veterinarians and believe they are becoming more knowledgeable relative to veterinarians," Dr. Wise said.

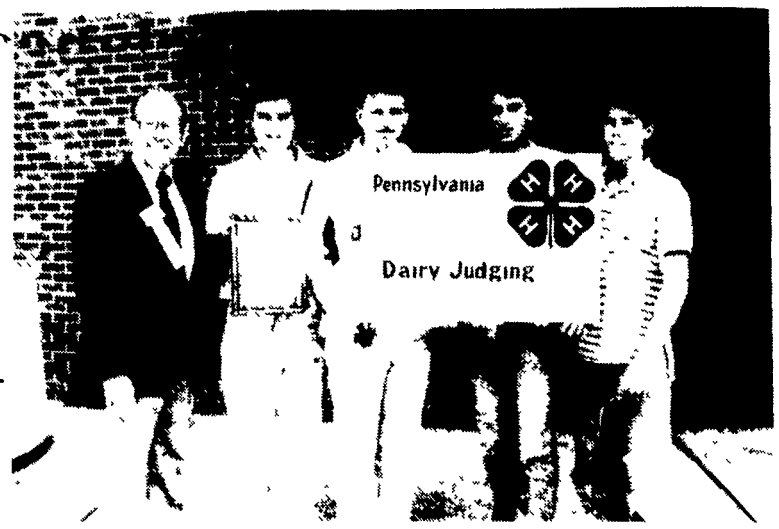
Hog producers perceive veterinarians as strong in their knowledge of diagnosis, treatment, and reproduction/breeding relative to themselves and other suppliers of animal health information. Regarding animal herd/management and feed/nutrition, veterinarians are perceived to possess about the same level of knowledge as the producer.

Dr. Wise reports that 57% of all hog producers used a veterinarian in 1985. They had an annual expenditure of $524 per producer for a total of $98 million.

In terms of producers' overall level of satisfaction with veterinarians, 57% are very satisfied and 39% are somewhat satisfied.

Lancaster County Champion Judges

Lancaster County 4-H club members named state champions in the Dairy Judging contest during the annual Penn State 4-H Week are, from left, Robert Barley, Conestoga; Thomas Arrowsmith, Peach Bottom; Thomas Wiker, Holtwood; and Thomas Barley, Conestoga. With them is Dr. B. Alan Snider, 4-H/Youth Director at Penn State.



During the annual Penn State 4-H week, four Lancaster County 4-H Club members were named State Champions in the Jr. Livestock Judging Contest. They are, from left, Diane Musser, Elizabethtown; Anita Meck, Willow Street; Arlisa Snavely, Lancaster; Doug Musser, Elizabethtown; and Chet Hughes, Lancaster Extension Livestock Agent. With them is Dr. B. Alan Snider, 4-H/Youth Director at Penn State.

Four Lancaster County 4-H members were named State Champions in the Senior Livestock Judging Contest during the annual Penn State 4-H Week held recently at Penn State University. They are, from left, Emily Weaver, Ephrata; Tricia Musser, Elizabethtown; Ellen Lewis, Mount Joy; Joe Garber, Marietta, and Chet Hughes, Lancaster Extension Livestock Agent. With them is Dr. B. Alan Snider, 4-H/Youth Director at Penn State.

The Senior Team will now represent Pennsylvania at five interstate competitions including the National 4-H Livestock Judging Contest in Louisville, KY in November.

Hostetter Wins Solanco Holstein

BY PAT PURCELL

QUARRYVILLE — Patience, perserverance and a little help from some good friends proved to be a winning combination for the Richard Hostetter family of Parkesburg, Chester County as they swept several classes and the championship titles in the 38th Solanco Fair Holstein Show on Thursday.

Brian Hostetter, 13-year-old son of Richard and Alice Hostetter exhibited the grand champion 3-year-old, Brittania Chairman Sophia, for his first time.

"It is hard to find fault with the udder on this 3-year-old. I love the udder on this cow. She has excellent front and rear attachment. Clearly the best udder here today," said show judge Bob Knutsen, of Rising Sun, Maryland.

The champion is an offspring of a Sexation dam classified as EX-91 with a production of 27,000 pounds with 900 pounds of fat. Hostetter has 18 members of this family in his 70-head Holstein herd. His rolling herd average is 21,000 pounds of milk and 762 pounds of fat.

"This is our best year ever. We've consistently won seconds and thirds. We are showing a couple of generations of good breeding. The three cows we are showing here are classified as EX-91, 90 and 90. We are very excited," said Richard Hostetter.

Good breeding is the key to champions, but Hostetter was quick to add that the Paul Welk family of Quarryville was instrumental in starting the Hostetters showing.

"It's nice to have good friends," said Hostetter.

This was not an easy win. There was a lot of tough competition. According to the Holstein show judge Knutsen, quality was running so deeply that many times it was a close contest into the fifth and sometimes sixth places.

"I am pleased to see so many very fine animals here today, but you are really making me work hard," said Knutsen.

He paced and patted repeatedly. He directed the exhibitors to line up the animals and then he paced and studied again. He would motion for the exhibitors to circle the show ring again. And again he paced and pattted and studied the animals which exemplified the best characteristics of the Holstein breed.

Karen Kauffman, 14, daughter of Robert and Susan Kauffman of Peach Bottom took the junior championship with an intermediate yearling, Sukavin Stewart Joy. According to Robert Kauffman this champion was a Pete daughter and sired by Crescentmead Chief Stewart. Joy was the junior champion last year at the fair.

Knutsen classified Joy as an easy winner with "clearly the best legs and feet in her class".

The Welks of Welk Crest Farms in Quarryville took the top spot in several classes and several groups.

They were awarded both the premier breeder award and the premier exhibitor award for the Solanco fair. Matt Welk, 13, son of Paul and Beverly Welk, took the reserve grand championship with a senior calf, home bred, Welk-Crest Eddie Lou Ella. The champion was sired by Woodbine-K Valiant Eddie-ET. Lou Ella is the daughter of Welk Crest's Lee Ann. Lee Ann has a record of 23,907 pounds of milk and 4.3 test with 1018 pounds of fat.

The Welks have taken grand and reserve champiionships with Lee Ann, but this was the frist junior championship for Lou Ella.

Paul and Maurice Welk won the reserve grand championship with a 6-year-old, Welk View Valiant Tiffany, sired by S-W-D Valiant. She is classified as an EX-90, The Welks also won produce of dam.

Casey Presents Overview

Governor Robert P. Casey will present an overview of his administration's economic programs at the State Chamber's First Annual Economic Summit, scheduled for Tuesday, September 22, at the Harrisburg Marriott Inn, 7:45 a.m.- 2:00 Noon.

Internationally known economist Dr. Alfred Kahn will present an overview of the national economy. Kahn, former chairman of President Carter's Council on Wage and Price Stability, and past chairman of the Civil Aeronautics Board, currently holds the Chair in Economics at Cornell University.

Also presenting an analysis of the national economy is Robert M. Teeter, president of Market Opinion Research of Detroit, Michigan. This firm is the national known pollster for Republican presidential candidates.

Dr. Rodney A. Erickson, director of the Center for Regional Business Analysis, College of Business Administration, the Pennsylvania State University, will explore Pennsylvania's economy.

For more information about how to register, call Susan Smith at (717) 255-3252 or write to her at the Pennsylvania Chamber of Business and Industry, 222 North Third Street, Harrisburg, PA 17101.

Eastern Sells Bottling

ation for Eastern farmers and for the security of our employees," Donovan said. "But our growth and profit potential were hampered at critical times by the lack of milk licenses." Donovan explained that the co-op had planned to distribute fluid milk to retail outlets in 19 upstate New York counties, but that its request for licenses had been denied by the state Department of Agriculture and Markets.

Despite that, he said, the co-op had managed to sell milk to licensed distributors in a number of counties, and went on to obtain licenses in six counties, primarily by buying out smaller dairies.

In the wake of the recent court ruling opening up New York State to outside competition, and continuing delays on reconsidering Eastern's license request, Donovan said, "we decided we couldn't wait any longer because of our responsibility to our member farmers. We could not afford to operate this processing facility at a loss."

The general manager also stated that productivity at the plant had been hampered by the union's unwillingness in last year's negotiations to make neccesary work rule changes.

Donovan said he expected Dairylea to hire some of the employees, and that Eastern would work with the remaining workers to help them locate other employment.

It's A Good Time To Replant Your Mortgage.

Unlike most things a farmer buys these days, the cost of money has gone down. Way down.

Under these conditions, refinancing your mortgage could lower your payments. And, in some cases, help you harvest extra working capital.

So if you're thinking about refinancing, plant yourself down with a Farm Credit loan officer.

In about the time it takes to start your tractor, you can find out if refinancing is right for you. If it is, your Farm Credit loan officer will explain all the details. One farmer to another.

Farm Credit has been helping farmers get the most out of their farms for 70 years. And unlike some other lenders, we've always stood by you. Whatever the conditions.

Extension Services' Number One Secretary

Suzanne Schmalhofer works at her word processor where she spends a lot of time each day in her position as head secretary and office manager at the Lancaster County Extension Office.

SALLY BAIR
Lancaster Co. Correspondent

LANCASTER — Lancaster County has long been known as the number one agricultural producer in the state of Pennsylvania. Now it also boasts the "number one" secretary in the state, county and University agricultural extension offices.

It seems only fitting that Suzanne Schmalhofer, a veteran secretary at Lancaster's Cooperative Extension Service Office, was honored by The Pennsylvania State University chapter of Epsilon Sigma Phi. The honorary society for extension workers presented Suzanne with their Extension Secretarial Award. This is the first time it has come to Lancaster County, since it was initiated in 1975.

The recognition came as a surprise to Suzanne, who was attending a secretaries' conference at Penn State University with other extension secretaries, when the announcement was made. She says, "I had no idea. I was surprised. I didn't realize it was an annual thing."

She adds, "I was happy that Jay thought enough of me to nominate me for the award."

Indeed, County Extension Director Jay Irwin was equally pleased that she was chosen for the honor, but not surprised. In his nomination of Suzanne, he noted her "positive and pleasant attitude" and her understanding of the Extension's mission to supply information to a wide range of clientele.

Irwin said, "Suzanne has done an excellent job in our county as office manager. She coordinates the whole work load and does it very, very efficiently. We have a tremendous workload, and because of Suzanne we have one of the most efficient offices in the state." He noted that the secretaries do the work for seven professional people, in addition to the total Expanded Foods and Nutrition program. Irwin adds, "It is a total team effort for us, but every team needs a leader and an inspiration."

It is often Suzanne's voice that the thousands of callers hear when they dial the Lancaster County Extension Service, and in her 24 years there she has gotten to know a lot of people. "I like the clientele. When I first started I worked with 4-H'ers who now have older 4-H'ers themselves. I have gotten to know a lot of farmers."

Suzanne began working for the Extension Service when the office was located in the Post Office building in downtown Lancaster. After she graduated from Lancaster Catholic High School where she had taken academic work, she chose not to go to college and instead went to Lancaster Business College. When she graduated from there, personnel from the college recommended that she apply for a position with the Extension Service.

She recalls, "Mr. Smith hired me. I was 18 years-old and from the city, but he said he'd try me." She laughs as she recalls not knowing what Extension or 4-H was, nor alfalfa, nor many other agricultural terms. "It was very educational and a great learning experience for me. It makes me appreciate what goes into making food, and the hard work and long hours farmers have." She said she has also learned a lot about cooking, as she works with the home economists in typing newsletters and answering calls. "I learned that a lot of what my mother did was wrong."

Retired County Extension Director M. Max Smith says that he was very pleased to learn of Suzanne's recognition. "She was the kind of secretary that helped you along. I think that having a good secretary is one of the most important assets for every executive. She is the kind of girl that every secretary should be."

Smith admits that he had been looking for a farm girl who "understood the language," but adds, "She had a lot of ability as a secretary and I had confidence in her. She picked up the language real quick. I was glad when I heard she won the award because it showed I made the right decision. She is very deserving."

Learning as she went along, Suzanne says, "I loved it." She liked it so well, that after leaving for six years and working for an insurance company in Washington, D.C., she came back when she and her husband, Jim, moved to the Lancaster area again. In total, she has 24 years of service with the office.

Suzanne credits Lauretta Kreider with helping her get an understanding of the job, though Lauretta was part-time and Suzanne was full time when she first took the job. However, Lauretta had been there and understood the office. Later Lauretta became fulltime and when Suzanne returned to Lancaster the office had two fulltime people. "It was Lauretta who taught me the office procedure and how to keep everyone happy."

The staff has grown since those earlier days, and Suzanne is now office manager and supervises the work of two other fulltime secretaries and one part-time secretary. Occasionally this staff swells to another part time worker in the summer. She also keeps financial records for the County Extension Association, which has a budget of $141,000.

Suzanne remembers happily when the Farm and Home Center was built and the Extension Office moved to its present location on Arcadia Drive. "It was such an improvement. It was like a hotel compared to where we were." She notes that the whole office encompassed about as much space as the secretaries now have just for themselves.

She feels the move was also appreciated by most farmers since there is lots of free parking available at the Farm and Home Center. Also, she says, they like it if they come to her office looking for one of the other agricultural agency offices and she can tell them it's "just down the hall."

She has gone through many changes during the years she has been employed with the Extension Office. "We went from handfolding and a crank mimeo to machine folding and a copy machine. We are also in the computer age. It was hard to get adjusted to that, but the computer is very helpful. "We've had computers for three years, and I never thought I'd learn to like it like I do."

In addition to using the word processor, Suzanne is efficient at handling electronic mail, something that she says is "efficient and quick. If you send a memo in the morning you get the answer by afternoon. There is no need to make phone calls, and there is less mail."

To learn to use the computer she attended regional training seminars conducted by the University, but says, "I learned most just by fooling around with it."

She remembers when the Extension Service did its own testing of lime, and when the mailing list was simply one large list. Now there are individual mailing lists for homemakers, dairy farmers, livestock farmers, and many others.

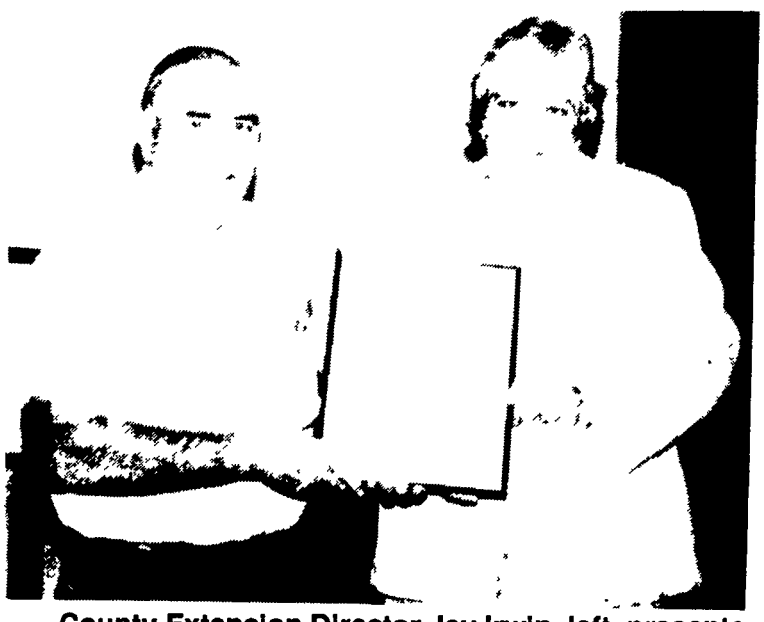
Typically, today's caller is more informed than in the days when she first began working. Suzanne says, "They are better able to explain their problem — there is more literature available to them."

She admits that there is a diversity of callers to their office. "We get the strangest calls. Sometimes they want you to say what they know isn't so. We get a lot of calls from people who don't know where else to call." It is these people that the secretaries must assist by referring them to an agency that is appropriate. Sometimes people call and ask just what the purpose of the Extension office is. She adds, "A secretary is the first person someone talks to, so we try to be pleasant. We set the tone for their attitude."

In his nomination of Suzanne, Irwin noted that she is often willing to stay beyond 5:00 if there is still work to be completed. This calls for an understanding family, and Suzanne gets complete support from her husband and her 17-year-old daughter Laura.

Suzanne is quick to give credit to the other fulltime secretaries, Diane Groff and Gail Bubernack. "We're a team. I didn't do anything really special. We all work together."

One of the best aspects of the job, according to Suzanne is the variety. "I like it because it is never boring. There is always something we can do. I can honestly say I never mind getting up in the morning and going to work."



County Extension Director Jay Irwin, left, presents the Epsilon Sigma Phi Secretarial Award to Lancaster County Extension Service Office Manager Suzanne Schmalhofer. Established in 1975, the award recognizes outstanding work by a secretary in the county or University Extension Service offices.

It is often Suzanne's voice who greets the hundreds of callers to the Extension Office. She said they try to help everyone who calls by referring them to the proper agent or the appropriate agency.

On being a farm wife -And other hazards

Joyce Bupp

By gosh, they were right.

Remember the flak that flew several years back when OSHA put out a safety pamphlet for farmers? Written something in the style of a Jack and Judy first-grader-primer, it included such bits of wise advice as "manure is slippery."

By gosh, they were right.

See, right here on my left knee? Well, no, you really can't see anything. But, trust me, I can feel the bruise is there when I kneel down to play with our 13 non-barn kittens.

The knee bruise came to be when my frustration level skyrocketed over a cow which trucked on past her stall for the umpteenth time the other afternoon, as we put the herd into the barn for evening chores. As I went ripping up the center alley to head her off, my worn-soled sneaker connected with a fresh cow "pie" and down I went onto my knee.

Later that evening, a headline from our rural electric cooperative newsletter jumped off the page and socked me right in the gray matter. "Knowing is not enough," it said, with a sub-heading noting that National Farm Safety Week begins tomorrow, September 20. Since the article focused on electricity-related farm safety, manure wasn't even mentioned.

But it set me to thinking about the accidents we've had around here during some twenty-plus years of dairy and crop production. All things considered, we've been pretty fortunate.

Only one accident of any consequence was electric related. On a very wet Sunday morning several years ago, a cow connected with an electrical line at the grain bin that had somehow shorted out. Of all the bills we pay in a year's time, the occasional one for dead cow removal probably hurts the most.

Still, cattle and equipment can be replaced; people can't be.

That reality got new emphasis last December in what we now call Dad's bull-wrestling vacation. The three days the farmer spent in a Virginia hospital, after he was rammed into a gate while loading a mature — and tame — bull, pounded home the farm safety message. Only badly bruised and sore for some weeks after, he was luckier than many. The bull-related tales we've heard since just stand your hair on end.

In a large majority of farm accidents (or any accidents), carelessness — from hurrying, fatigue, and sometimes frustration — plays a lead role.

A new growth of skin on the palms of both my hands is a timely example of my own blatant carelessness. About two weeks ago, getting the milking equipment ready for evening chores, I apparently dumped into the udder wash water not our normal teat cleaning solution, but a pipeline acid sanitizer instead. My hands, normally sensitive to acids, broke out later in ugly, watery, itchy, painful blisters. Fortunately, no one else helping to milk experienced similar reactions, nor did it seem to affect any cows.

I share this embarrassing incident of personal stupidity solely as a reminder of the danger in not paying strict attention when using chemicals of any sort.

Of course, there are farm accidents that are just that: pure and simple accident, fate, happenstance, whatever you want to call it. For instance, anything from broken noses to severe trauma and internal injuries may follow the pounding of a person by livestock hooves if an animal is suddenly spooked.

And equipment injuries, from cut fingers, to loss of limbs, to death, is a tragedy far too familiar to the farming community. Chains, belts, augers, and PTO's move anything in their way. Including skin and bones.

With the hustle, hoopla and high hopes of the harvest season just getting underway, this upcoming National Farm Safety week is a sobering and timely reminder to PLEASE BE CAREFUL!

And don't forget . . . manure is indeed slippery.

Fall Cleaning of Windows

Fall housecleaning today does not create the upheaval in most homes that it used to create when room-by-room was taken apart, cleaned and put back together. Today wise homemakers spread out the cleaning chores throughout all seasons of the year.

Summer grime on windows does need removing, however and I want to share a few tips that will make window cleaning easier.

Cleaning windows is easy with a solution of either white vinegar or household ammonia and water. For hard water or salt deposits, use a white vinegar solution, while ammonia and water is best for heavy, greasy dirt. However, do not try to accomplish the cleaning operations by combining vinegar and ammonia because they neutralize each other.

Vacuum both sides of your draperies about once every month or two. Draperies may need to be drycleaned when they get soiled, but don't wear them out by drycleaning them every year. Curtains may need to be laundered, especially if they were used near open windows during the summer months. Do not neglect the rods, carriers and drapery pulls when curtains and draperies are down for cleaning. Remember they get dirty too.

Washable window shades can be unrolled and wiped with a mild detergent solution then rinsed and wiped dry. Hang, but do not roll up until the shade is thoroughly dry.

Vacuuming non-washable shades will take off most of the dust but to remove spots and stains, use a commercial dough-type wallpaper cleaner or an art gum eraser.

Dust venetian blinds or mini blinds with the dust brush of your vacuum cleaner regularly. Wash them with a mild detergent solution when they become soiled.

Bamboo blinds, stick blinds or roll-ups cannot be washed, unless they are made of plastic. Dusting regularly with a soft cloth or vacuum attachment will freshen their appearance.

Be Patient During First Weeks Of School

The new school year brings on many adjustments for students. Many parents tend to minimize the importance of these adjustments, and sometimes view each school year as being similar to the last.

Children are susceptible to pressures created in school. If your child did satisfactory work last year, that work will probably continue, but not necessarily. Each new school year, new subjects, and new teachers will call for a certain amount of adjustment on the part of the student. An individual child's manner of adjustment may even differ from year to year.

One year the child may return to school and the parent will barely notice the change. The very next year, the child may become very "cocky" or noticeably quiet or moody. In a study of ninth and tenth grade girls, who were asked to list problems or areas of difficulty, adjustment to school work was listed the greatest number of times. Other studies have shown similar results.

Patience, understanding, and encouragement are called for as each school year begins. It is important to remember that the child in your family is not the same person he/she was last year. The child has developed, has grown more and probably quite rapidly. Interests change, new doubts arise, old friends move on. This means that the child must redesign at least a few aspects of his/her life. For some children this is not an easy task.

The study found the second biggest problem centered around personal-psychological relations. Classmates of last year are no longer classmates. Everyone seems to be on a different schedule. Over the summer some friends moved away physically or emotionally. Friends of last year may choose new friends this year.

The third leading problem reported in the study had to do with social and recreational activities. Because so many of children's waking hours are filled with school activities, the child's social and recreational life truly belong to the school. This requires adjustment. Most children adjust very well to back-to-school pressures but some do not. With your help most of the pressures will subside in a few weeks and your child will adjust to the normal routine of school life.

Use Pattern Guidesheet

When you sew, cutting layouts on commercial pattern guidesheets can be a big help. The layout has been carefully tested to show you how to cut out the garment with the least amount of waste. It's also useful in matching plaids or designs. Before you start, Maryetta Dorricott, Delaware County Cooperative Extension Home Economist advises that you select the pattern layout you'll need for your pattern size, the width of your fabric and the view of the pattern you plan to make. For an easy reference, circle the layout you'll be using.

The guidesheet gives directions for laying out the pattern, defines the terms used and gives direction for placing pattern pieces on the straight of grain of the fabric. To save confusion, read the directions before you pin the pattern on the fabric.

The guidesheet will also show you if some pieces of your pattern have to be cut on the right or wrong side, on a single or double thickness of fabric or along a fold or a selvage. And each pattern piece is marked with a straight line or an arrow to help you accurately place on fabric grain and indicates seam widths and fold lines.

All the planning and laying out of a pattern has been done for you. Now all you need are your pins and scissors.

LIQUID SILAGE FORTIFIER

has been used by progressive farmers for over 18 years. University tested and proven MOPRO Liquid Silage Fortifier is formulated to balance the major mineral and protein deficiencies of silages. It conserves dry matter by slowing down the heat of fermentation and also prevents loss from mold and rot after being removed from the silo or trench. MOPRO is added at the time of ensiling and is applied by metering equipment with very little handling cost. MOPRO will not corrode mild steel tanks or brass fittings and has no free ammonia odor to irritate the eyes or skin. MOPRO is a homogeneous solution of ammonia salts, urea, cane molasses, and minerals (except salt and calcium) in an efficient liquid carrier. It provides nitrogen for improved fermentation in the rumen and contains a mineral balance of phosphorus, magnesium, and trace elements including selenium. MOPRO 100 will give a resulting silage of up to 14.3% protein.

Oven-Ready Dinners Save Time And Energy

What can you cook when company is coming for dinner and you won't be home to prepare it? Try some oven dinners. Oven meals can be the homemaker's best time and money savers on hectic days.

If your range has an automatic clock, the food can be placed in the oven as much as two hours before cooking begins. Set the clock for the time you want your oven heat to turn on and the time the heat should go off; and the food cooks quietly out of sight while you go about your other business.

Oven meals can save a lot of pot washing too, if the food is baked right in the casserole in which it will be served. Then you can sit down to dinner with a clean orderly kitchen.

Many vegetables can be cooked in the oven in a tightly covered pan. Place just enough water on the vegetables to form steam, usually not more than 2-4 tablespoons. Add seasonings and cover tightly.

If the oven meal is to cook an hour, cut the vegetables into thin slices or small cubes. If the meal takes longer to cook, leave the vegetables in larger pieces or even whole.

Some recipes can be prepared the night before and stuck in the oven before you leave. Others may require morning preparation time, but then bake for hours. Some of the recipes that readers have submitted are one-dish meals. Others are meat or vegetable or dessert dishes. To get a full-course meal, several of these dishes can be baked simultaneously in the oven.

With some planning and the following recipes, you can serve tasty, elegant dinners.

CHICKEN NOODLE BAKE

1 can cream of chicken soup
½ cup milk
1 cup diced, cooked chicken
2 cups cooked noodles
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
2 tablespoons buttered bread crumbs

In 1½ quart casserole, blend cream of chicken soup with milk and stir in the chicken, noodles and parsley. Top with crumbs. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes.

CREAMY BAKED CHICKEN

4 chicken breasts or thighs
4 slices Velveeta cheese
1 can cream of chicken soup
1/4 cup milk
1 box of packaged stuffing.
⅓ butter, melted

Split breasts. Lay flat in 9x13 pan. Place slice of cheese on top of each chicken piece. Stir together soup, milk and pour over meat and cheese. Sprinkle stuffing (do not prepare as box instructs, but mix crumbs with the seasonings) over chicken. Drizzle ⅓ cup melted butter on top of stuffing. Bake uncovered at 350 degrees for 1 hour or until chicken is tender.

Mrs. Glyn Geis

SMOKED SHOULDER BUTT AND SPLIT PEA SOUP

2 pounds smoked shoulder butt
1 cup split peas
1 small onion, chopped fine
3 stalks celery, chopped fine
½ pod of red pepper
½ bay leaf
4 cups water
1 tablespoon fat
1 tablespoon flour
1 cup milk

Put meat, vegetables, seasonings and water in covered pan and place in oven. When cooked, remove the meat and slice. To make soup, put the peas and liquid through a sieve. Blend fat and flour to paste. Add milk and mix with the pea mixture. Heat and serve.

Mertztown

BEEF NOODLE CASSEROLE

Make a white sauce with:
2 tablespoons flour
1½ cup milk
1½ cup dry noodles (cook 10 minutes, drain)
½ -¾ cup cooked chopped beef or tuna
½ cup cheese
Salt and pepper
¼ cup celery, cooked and chopped

Mix all together. Bake at 350 degrees for 30-40 minutes.

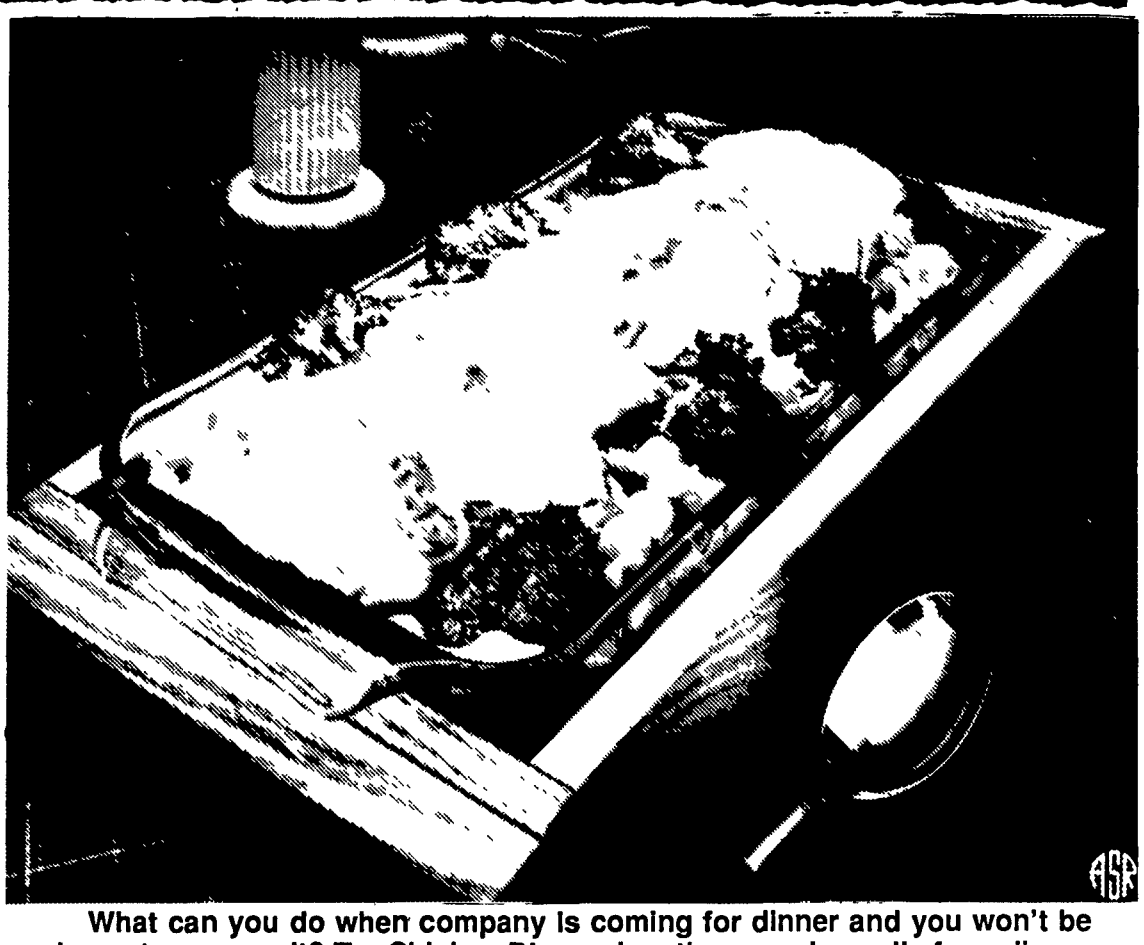
Mifflinburg



What can you do when company is coming for dinner and you won't be home to prepare it? Try Chicken Divan when the occasion calls for a dinner that's elegant and convenient. A prefect use for left-over chicken or turkey, it is combined with crunchy green broccoli in a cheesey sauce.

CHICKEN CORDON BLEU

10 chicken breasts, halved, boned, skinned
10 slices ham
10 slices swiss cheese
¼ cup flour
¼ cup parmesian cheese
1 teaspoon salt
1½ teaspoon sage
¼ teaspoon pepper
⅓ cup oil
1 can cream of chicken soup
½ cup milk

Pound chicken breast flat. Top with ham and cheese slices. Roll up and secure with toothpicks. Roll in mixture of flour, salt, cheese, sage, and pepper and fry until brown. Save any left over mixture and combine with soup and milk, pour over breast and bake in covered casserole for 1 hour at 350 degrees.

Rhoda Martin
Myerstown

GOURMET POTATOES

6 medium potatoes
2 cups shredded Cheddar cheese
½ cup butter
1½ cup sour cream
½ cup chopped onion
½ cup chopped green pepper
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon paprika

Cook potatoes in skins. Cool. Peel and shred coarsely. Melt cheese and butter and stir in sour cream, onion, salt and pepper. Turn into greased 13x9x2-inch casserole. Bake uncovered at 350 degrees for 30 minutes. May be refrigerated overnight in covered container.

Leah Peachy
Belleville

PARTY CHICKEN

½ chicken breast for each person
1 can cream of mushroom soup
1 cup sour cream
Bacon
½ pound chipped dried beef

Place dried beef in bottom of oblong baking dish. Roll up breast and wrap bacon around each. Mix sour cream and soup and pour over chicken. Bake uncovered at 250 degrees for 3½ hours.

Tina Good
Manheim

CHICKEN AND RICE CASSEROLE

½ stick butter
1 can cream of mushroom soup
1 can cream of celery soup
1 can cream of chicken soup
1 cup uncooked rice (not minute

CHICKEN DIVAN

2 10-ounce packages broccoli
4-6 cups chicken breast, cut in 1-inch pieces
2 cans cream of chicken soup
½ cup mayonnaise
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1 cup grated cheese
Bread crumbs

Put broccoli in bottom of casserole. Arrange chicken on top of broccoli. Combine soup, mayonnaise and lemon juice and pour on top of chicken. Sprinkle cheese over chicken. Top with bread crumbs.

Bake 350 degrees for 35-40 minutes.

Featured Recipe

This week's featured recipe comes from Cindy Harnish, Willow Street. Cindy is the 1987 Veal Princess. She submitted this recipe during the Veal Cook-off Contest. To read more about the contest, check this section for the article "Veal Cook-off Winners."

VEAL PRINCESS ENTREE
CINDY HARNISH, Willow Street

10 asparagus spears
4 slices scallopine (approx. 1 pound)
Salt and pepper to taste
¼ cup flour
½ cup butter
½ pound sliced mushrooms
1-8 ounce can tomato sauce
4 thin slices mozzarella cheese
⅓ cup Parmesan cheese
1 tablespoon lemon juice

Cook asparagus in boiling water until tender (2-3 minutes). Pound veal slices lightly with flat mallet. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and dredge in flour. Heat 1-2 tablespoons butter in large skillet. Add veal. Cook approximately 2-3 minutes on each side. In another skillet heat 2-3 tablespoons butter. Saute mushrooms until golden brown. Arrange veal slices in one layer on baking dish. Sprinkle with mushrooms and tomato sauce. Add asparagus spears to top of veal slices. Cover with cheeses. Place under broiler until cheese melts. Put remaining 3 teaspoons butter into small skillet and melt. Brown until golden. Add 1 tablespoon lemon juice. Pour sauce over veal. (Serves four).

If you are looking for a recipe but can't seem to find it anywhere, send your recipe request to Cook's Question Corner, care of Lancaster Farming, P.O. Box 366, Lititz, PA 17543. There's no need to send a SASE. If we receive an answer to your question, we will publish it as soon as possible.

Answers to recipe requests should be sent to the same address.

QUESTION - Mrs. Donna Steele, Vintondale, would like a recipe for a dessert called Havanna Banana. It has a tapioca base.

QUESTION - Carol Fantom, Delta, would like a recipe for soft and fluffy biscuits like those served at fast food restaurants.

QUESTION - Salina Peight, Belleville, would like a recipe for canning chili soup.

QUESTION - Mrs. Melvin Beiler, Elverson, requests a recipe for canning barbecue sauce.

QUESTION - M. J. Willaw, Millerstown, requests a recipe for corn mush that uses flour and sweet corn instead of corn meal. She said her grandmother used to cook it until thick then when it was cold, she sliced it and fried it like mush made with corn meal.

QUESTION - Edna M. Kleinhans, Conestoga, requests a recipe for pickle relish like the Heinz brand name tastes.

QUESTION - Mrs. E. Martin, Narvon, requests a recipe for Haystack Dinner, a layered meal that includes mashed potatoes, which is served in individual dishes. She would also like a recipe for stewed tomatoes.

QUESTION - Bea Shuey, Annville, requests a recipe for lemon butter.

QUESTION - A reader would like to know if there are substitutions for wine, beer or liquor ingredients in recipes.

QUESTION - Mrs. Abner Z. Glick, Quarryville, requests a recipe for solid pumpkin pies. "Please," she begs, "tell exactly how you do it. Do you separate the eggs, beat them individually or together?"

QUESTION - Martha Oberholtzer, Mifflinburg, would like to know how to can grape juice so no hard particles form in the bottom. She asks if grape juice can safely be canned by using clear-jel or tapioca.

Question - Blanche Hess, Quarryville, would like to know how to keep worms out of chestnuts.

ANSWER - Lydia Stoltzfus, Paradise, wanted to know if it is possible to make jellies without sugar for diabetics. Mrs. Wilma Wenger, Womelsdorf, informs us that you can use Low Methoxyl Pectin (LMP) and diCalcium Phosphate which should be available at natural food stores. She said, "Low Methoxyl Pectin requires the calcium to "set" whereas High Methoxyl pectin requires the sugar to set. Although this method is not difficult, Wilma said the procedure is different. For more information, send a SASE to Wilma Wenger, R.D. 1, Box 110, Womelsdorf, PA 19567.

ANSWER - Mrs. Glenn Martin of Ephrata requested a recipe for orange sherbet. Thanks Mrs. Ruth Martin, Lititz for sharing a recipe that you have been using for over 25 years. She said it can be made on Saturday for Sunday dinner and since the gelatin prevents a hard set, it scoops easily. Also, thanks to Mrs. John A. Nolt, Reinholds for sharing an Orange Fruit Sherbet recipe.

Creamy Orange Sherbet

1 (3 ounce) box orange flavored gelatin
1 cup boiling water
1¼ cup sugar
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 (6 ounce) can frozen orange juice concentrate 4 cups milk
2 cups light cream.

Dissolve gelatin in boiling water; add sugar and salt. Add orange concentrate, stirring until thawed. Add milk and cream and freeze in a crank or electric ice cream freezer. Makes one gallon. Ruth adds that she increases the milk to fill the freezer ¾ full.

Orange Fruit Sherbet

1 cup sugar
½ cup cream, whipped
2 tablespoon lemon juice
1½ cups water
2 cups orange pulp and juice

Boil sugar and water for 10 minutes. Cool. Cut oranges in halves, crosswise, and carefully remove pulp in pieces, together with remaining juice. Measure 2 cups and add lemon juice. Combine with cold sugar syrup. Freeze to a soft mush then fold in the cream. Recover freezer and freeze stiff.

ANSWER - Mrs. Daniel Mosemann, Lehighton, requested a recipe for corn cob jelly that is delicate like pear honey in color and texture. Thanks Elma Myers, Hershey, for sending your recipe.

Corn Cob Jelly

12 dried (red) corn cobs
3 pints water
1 box powdered pectin
3 cups sugar
1 tablespoon lemon juice (optional)

Wash corn cobs to get rid of chaff. Break them in half. Cook cobs and water together by boiling gently for 30 minutes. Strain juice through a wet cloth. Add sure jell, bring to a full boil and boil 1 minute. Add sugar and boil 2 minutes. Set aside and skim off foam. Pour in jelly jars.

ANSWER - Mrs. Audrey Hull, Cleona, requested a recipe for Rhubarb Ginger Jam. Thanks Jeanne Kenna, Ottsville, for sending the following recipe.

Rhubarb Ginger Jam

2 pounds fresh rhubarb, trimmed and sliced in 1-inch pieces.
½ cup water
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1-inch piece of fresh ginger root, peeled and crushed
3 cups sugar
2 tablespoons finely chopped crystallized ginger.

Combine rhubarb pieces, water, lemon juice, and crushed ginger root in an 8-quart or larger pot. Bring to a boil. Reduce heat and simmer, stirring frequently until the rhubarb is soft.

Add sugar and stir well to dissolve. Add crystallized ginger and bring to a boil. Boil rapidly, stirring frequently to the jell point.

Quickly ladle into clean, hot jars, leaving ½-inch headspace. Seal. Process in boiling water bath 10 minutes. Yield: 9 half-pints.

ANSWER - Mrs. Daniel Mosemann, Lehighton, requested a jelly recipe using tomatoes. Thanks Jean Troutman, Matamoras, for your recipe.

Strawberry Jelly with Tomatoes

5 cups sugar
5 cups tomatoes, peeled, diced, and uncooked
1 large box (6 ounces) strawberry flavored gelatin.

In large kettle, cook sugar and tomatoes until boiling. Boil for 15 minutes, stirring occasionally. Turn off heat, add gelatin and stir until dissolved. Pour into jars. Seal.

ANSWER - Mrs. Corinne Hoos, Luringston Manor, N.Y., requested the recipe for "No Crust Cheese Cake" which appeared in a previous issue of this paper. Thanks Sara Jane Krall, Lebanon, for sending the recipe.

Crustless Cheese Cake

1 pound cream cheese
1 pound ricotta cheese
2 cups sugar
4 eggs
½ cup all-purpose flour
Juice of one lemon
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ cup softened sweet butter
1 pint dairy sour cream

Put all ingredients in large bowl and beat on medium speed for 20 minutes or until light and creamy. Pour into 9-inch buttered spring form pan. Bake at 325 degrees for 1 hour. Turn off oven and let cake stand in oven for 2 hours. Serve at room temperature or chill if preferred. Serves 12.

ANSWER - Linda M. Marks and many other readers have requested diabetic recipes. In our October 10 issue, we will feature diabetic recipes in the section titled "Home on the Range." If you would like to share your diabetic recipes, please mail them by the end of September.

BROWN RICE CASSEROLE, ITALIAN STYLE

1 cup brown rice
1 pound smoked sausage, cut in bite-sized pieces
2 medium onions, cut in ¼-in wedges
1½ teaspoons garlic salt
1 teaspoon oregano
½ teaspoon basil
1 can (16 ounces) stewed tomatoes
½ cup water
1 cup shredded Mozzarella cheese
½ medium green pepper, chopped

Place uncooked rice on bottom of greased casserole. Top with sausage. Arrange onions over sausage. Sprinkle with garlic salt, oregano and basil. Pour tomatoes evenly over onions; pour water evenly over tomatoes. Sprinkle with cheese; top with green pepper. Cover tightly with aluminum foil. Bake at 350 degrees for 1½ hours or until liquid is absorbed. Uncover; let stand 5 minutes before serving. Makes 6 servings.

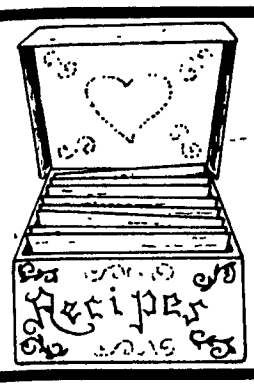
EASY CHICKEN DINNER

6 leg and thigh chicken pieces
6 potatoes
6 carrots, thinly sliced
2 celery stems, diced
1 package instant French onion soup mix
1 teaspoon pepper

In 2-quart baking dish, arrange in layers potatoes, carrots, celery and chicken. Sprinkle with soup mix and pepper (add no liquid). cover tightly and bake at 350 degrees for 1 hour or until tender. Makes 6 servings.

Ryegrass in Lawn Seed

Ryegrasses are recognized for their ability to germinate quickly after seeding and thereby provide a quick cover of grass. The inclusion of a small percentage of ryegrass in a desirable lawn seed mixture as a companion grass can be helpful in specific situations. According to Susan Goldsworthy, Delaware County Cooperative Extension Horticulturalist, new home sites frequently, are naturally sloping, or may be graded to provide erosion, particularly in the event of sudden downpour from thunderstorms. The protection of sloped areas depends upon the establishment of a rapid cover. The rapid germination and growth of ryegrass can prove useful in seed mixtures on erodable areas. However, no more than 10% by weight should be used in a lawn seed mixture containing other desirable lawn grasses. More will hinder the growth of the other desirable lawn grasses. Different varieties of ryegrasses are available. PennFine, Manhattan, and Yorktown are the most desirable varieties because of their leafiness and turf-forming characteristics. Ryegrass such as annual ryegrass and common perennial tend to be coarse-textured and produce a more stemmy type growth.



Cook's Question Corner

ANSWER - Mrs. Barbara J. Germer, Conestoga, requested a recipe for spice cake that has the frosting baked on the cake. Thanks Elva S. Charles, Washington Boro, for sending the following recipe:

Spice Cake with Baked On Frosting

½ cup shortening
3 egg yolks
2 cups brown sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 teaspoon soda
1¼ cup sour milk or buttermilk
3 cups flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
2 teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon cloves
¼ teaspoon nutmeg

Blend all ingredients until well mixed. Top batter in 9x13 pan with 3 egg whites beaten stiff with 1 cup brown sugar.

Bake 350 degrees about 35 minutes. If top gets too brown, lower temperature toward the latter time.

ANSWER - Salina Peight, Belleville, and Mrs. Melvin Beiler, Elverson, requested a recipe for canning vegetable soup. Thanks Martha Oberholtzer, Mifflinburg, for mailing the following recipe.

Vegetable Soup

10 carrots, shredded
10 stalks celery, chopped
6 peppers, chopped
6 quarts green beans
6 pounds ground beef
6 quarts sweet corn
4 quarts peas
1 gallon tomato juice
1 gallon beef broth
1 gallon cooked beans (navy, pinto, soy)
10 onions, chopped
2 heads cabbage, shredded
1 gallon partially cooked macroni
3 quarts cooked barley or rice
9 teaspoon salt
3 teaspoon pepper

Mix all ingredients together and ladle into quart jars. Pressure cook at 15 pound pressure for 30 minutes.

ANSWER - Mrs. Karen Moyer of Portage requested a recipe for soft chocolate chip cookies like Archway makes. Thanks Mrs. Millie Moyer, Muncy, for sharing your hermit cookie recipe which is a soft chocalate chip cookie.

Hermit Cookies

1 cup margarine
1½ cups brown sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 eggs
5 tablespoons boiling water
3 cups flour
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 12 ounce package chocolate chips.

Mix all ingredients. Drop by tablespoonsful on cookie sheet. Bake at 350 degrees for 12-15 minutes.

Reading Fair FFA Award

ELVERSON — Kevin Stoltzfus, a 1987 graduate of Twin Valley High School is one of four Berks County youth honored by the 1987 Reading Fair. Kevin received the 1987 Reading Fair FFA Award at the September 9 banquet.

Kevin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Stoltzfus of RD 2 Elverson, is the immediate past president of both the Twin Valley FFA Chapter and the Berks County FFA Association. Kevin had previously served as chapter Vice-President and Sentinel and as county historian and vice-president. Kevin was also a presiding member of the Twin Valley parliamentary procedure team for two years and involved in public speaking contests. As a freshman Kevin placed 7th in the state creed speaking contest. He also participated in the state FFA dairy foods and salesmanship contests.

As an active local FFA member Kevin judged livestock and dairy cattle at local fairs - Kutztown, Allentown, and Reading; as well as at the Pennsylvania Dairy Judging Forum. He was involved in land judging, tractor driving, salesmanship, and showed dairy cattle and crops at local fairs.

Kevin served on numerous FFA committees such as safety, banquet planning, field corn test plot, fund raising, BOAC, dairy farm tour, fund raising, petting zoo, window exhibit and others. He attended leadership training conferences within Berks County, at PEEC, and the national FFA conference at Washington, D.C. Kevin attended the national FFA convention and received a silver medal in dairy showmanship. He was also instrumental in organizing chapter members and providing leadership so that the Twin Valley was ranked the #1 chapter in Pennsylvania in 1987.

Kevin is currently employed by Tobi-Hill Farm as a meat cutter and salesman in their store.

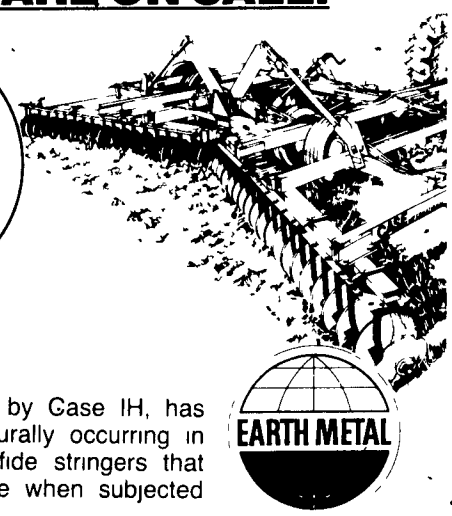
20" full-concavity blade as low as $13.14



Earth Metal, a unique steel developed and patented by Case IH, has special additives that keep the sulfide inclusions naturally occurring in steel in globular form. Our disks don't have the sulfide stringers that allow cross-rolled blades to fracture or split edgewise when subjected to stress

EARTH METAL

We have conical Earth Metal blades for John Deere harrows
We promise you up to 20% more wear than you'd get with John Deere's cross-rolled blades... up to 20% more wear plus substantial cash savings. Check us out now!

We have full-concavity blades for all competitive harrows
We have the most popular diameters, thicknesses, and center-hole sizes in stock. We can fit John Deere and all other popular makes of harrows. Again our Earth Metal promises up to 20% more wear.

We have crimped center blades for IH and Case IH harrows
Crimped center blades require 33% less drawbar pull, providing fuel savings you can add to the savings through up to 20% longer wear. We don't recommend full-concavity blades for IH or Case IH harrows.

Now, all harrow owners can enjoy the benefits of Earth Metal

Kid's Korner

Farm Life

by Julie Di Fonzo, and Melissa Stiles

.ife on the farm is many adven-
ures combined into one,
Vhether it is playing with the ani-nals or picking beans in the sun.

'asting the salt in the air coming ff from the bay, uilding forts in Pop's freshly acked hay.

winging on the tire all day under ie big apple tree, eeing the roses first bud in the pring — crashing into the telehone pole with the ATC.

.s you can see a farm is full of eauty and fun,
an you top that???
laying pool and ditching the oungest one (Matt)!

The next oldest cousin whom I'm sure you already know,
Yes! Her name is Melissa and the sheep stepped on her toe

And then there is Gregger who's favorite sound is the bell,
But let me warn you, when you hear it, it's every man for himself.

Last but not least the curly-haired Julianne,
The very first grandchild of Pop and Gram.

Now comes the end of our little farm fable,

Veal Cook-Off Winners

WILLIAMSPORT — The first annual Pennsylvania Veal Cook-Off was held at the Williamsport Area Community College's Le Jeune Chef Restaurant in Williamsport, PA on Tuesday, August 18.

Ten veal recipes and three alternate recipes were prepared by students and instructors at the culinary school. They were assisted by Lou Ann Smith of Our House Restaurant in Canton, PA.

PA Veal Ambassador, Stacy Bagley, was present for the event and served the judges the prepared dishes.

The judges final selections were announced at 2:30 Tuesday afternoon, by Chip Lines-Thomas, Veal Cook-Off Chairperson.

The first place recipe, winning $200, was submitted by Helen Skovira of Plymouth, and was titled "Lemony Veal Chops." This unique and simple entree had six veal chops being baked in a onion and lemon sauce. The sauce used lemon pudding made with skim milk.

"I always make this recipe using one can of lemon pie filling," said Helen. "It is a lot easier that way. However, my husband, Stephen, has a heart problem and we adapted the recipe to allow him to still enjoy the dish, and of course it has lower calories using the skim milk pudding."

The second place recipe was Minted Veal Patties submitted by Grace Elmi of Hershey. Mrs. Elmi won $150.

A Veal Scallopine recipe submitted by Mary K. Vandenburgh of Harrisburg took the third place $100 prize.

Mrs. Vandenburgh was delighted with her placing, sharing with everyone that her son, a chef, had made fun of her for entering her recipe. "The only two things I cook are Veal Scallopine and Fudge," she told everyone. "I am just thrilled that you chose my recipe for the cook-off and then it took third place."

Gloria Bove of Bethlehem won $75 for her Mexatalian Salad, Miss Bove, who delighted the committee with several different veal recipes, used cubed veal cutlet, spinach, avacado, red onion and ripe olives together with several spices and chilies, tossed with low-cal Italian dressing in producing this dish.

One of the three men in the finalists, John Buehler of Montoursville took the fifth place $50 prize with "Veal Furhmann". Buehler, who also prepared his own recipe, browned the veal chops in a cast iron skillet, and then added evaporated milk and swiss cheese before baking.

Over 300 requests for official forms were fulfilled and 51 recipes were entered for final selection in the cook-off.

"Approximately fifty people gathered to watch the entrees being displayed, photographed and sent in to the judges, "Mrs. Chip Thomas noted. "We invited everyone present to sample the "leftovers" in a buffet setting. This seemed to be a popular event as everyone got to sample the various dishes and decide on their favorites while they awaited the judges tally."

Judges for the first annual PA Veal Cook-Off were Eleanor Yarrison, Lycoming County Nutritionist and Home Economist for the extension service; Betsy Miller, Food Editor at the Grit Newspaper and Gerald "Arnie" Kriner, Administrative Assistant to Senator Roger A. Madigan.

All of the veal used in the Veal Cook-Off was Premier white, milk-fed fancy veal donated by Walter and Jane Newton of Formula One Veal feeds and Kenny and Ruth Potter of P&N Packing.

"I feel that we learned a lot during our first year of holding a state cook-off," stated Mrs. Thomas. "I appreciated all the help from my committee - Kathy Roberts, Carol Jones and Regina Bagley. Already we have discussed ways of improving it in future years."

A brochure is currently being designed with the finalists recipes to appear in the pamphlet. Anyone wishing to obtain a copy may send a self addressed stamped envelope to: Veal Cook-Off PO Box 125, Monroeton, PA 18832.

Following are the top two winning recipes.

LEMONY VEAL CHOPS

HELEN SKOVIRA,
Plymouth, PA

6 veal chops or steaks about ½ inch thick
1 large onion (sliced thin)
Lemon instant pudding w/skim milk (or 1 16-oz. can of lemon pie filling)
½ cup water
¼ cup white vinegar
3 tbsp. soy sauce
½ lb. cooked wide noodles.

Brown veal in oil, season with salt & pepper. Place veal in baking dish, single layer, top with sliced onion. Combine pie filling, water, vinegar and soy sauce. Spread evenly over veal and onion. Cover and bake in 350 degree oven for one hour until veal is tender Serve over hot cooked noodles.

2nd Place

MINTED VEAL PATTIES

GRACE ELMI,
Hershey, PA

1¼ lb. ground veal shaped into four pattes, ½" thick
4 tablespoons olive oil
¾ tablespoon Worchestershire sauce
4 tablespoons unseasoned whole wheat bread crumbs
2 tablespoons grated Parmesan Cheese
2 tablespoons chopped fresh mint leaves
2 tablespoons parsley
¼ teaspoon garlic powder
2 teaspoons onion powder salt and pepper to taste - if desired
½ cup stewed tomatoes

In a glass, shallow baking pan, combine the olive oil with the Worchestershire sauce. Place patties in pan, turning to coat both sides with the oil.

Combine the crumbs, cheese, herbs and seasonings. Cover top of patties with this blend. Top each patty with some stewed tomatoes.

Bake in a preheated oven of 350 degrees for approximately 35 minutes or till done.

Buttered peas will make a good accompaniment to this dish.

This is an original recipe of mine. Note: If fresh mint is not available, one teaspoon of dog, ground mint may be substituted. However, the fresh mint is preferable.

Lawn Making Time

Are your planning to seed a new lawn or renovate an old one? If so, plan to do it now, rather than next spring, urges Susan Goldsworthy, Delaware Co. Extension Horticulturalist. You may feel more ambitious in undertaking such a project next spring, for the good of your lawn, do it now.

During this time, cooler weather and favorable soil conditions return. These conditions are ideal for better germination and establishment of the grass. Among other benefits of seeding lawn grasses this time of year is the less trouble you'll have with weeds, particularly crabgrass. Crabgrass begins to die during late summer, but it starts to germinate in the late spring.

The young seedling grasses are not faced with the high temperatures and frequently insufficient soil moisture so common with spring seedlings. Usually, there is no need for watering during the late summer-early fall period to obtain germination of the lawn grasses. By seeding at the right season you can ensure your chances of success. You can get detailed information on making a new lawn or renovating an established lawn from your county agricultural agent.

Farm Women Societies

Lancaster Society 25

Thirty-two members and guests of Lancaster Society 25 celebrated their 23 aniversary at the Hershey Farm Restaurant on September 12 at 6 p.m. Entertainment with many toe-tapping tunes was provided by Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Huffman, Lancaster. The society's October meeting will be held at Dorothy Elmer's New Danville home.

Berks Society 4

The Berks County Society 4 held their regular monthly meeting on Tuesday, September 1, at the Boyertown Senior Neighborhood Center. Esther Sheeler was hostess. Eleven members and one guest attended.

Jo Guerre-Chaley, Boyertown Multi-Service director, gave a slide presentation and talk on the building and its many services to the community. There are over 425 volunteers who assist the staff by providing direct service through meals-on-wheels, driving, workshops, office work and other services.

The society approved a motion to give a donation to the Pottstown Memorial Medical Center.

On Tuesday, September 22, society members will provide desserts at a Reading Fair stand.

Ten members plan to attend the Berks County Convention on Saturday, October 3 at the Ag Center. Marguerrite Rush and Elsie Rothenberger will provide door prizes; Verna Tayler will make guest gifts.

The next meeting will be a Halloween party on October 6 at the home of Mary Fizz.

Berks Society 9

The September meeting of Berks County Society 9 was held on Wednesday, September 2, at the home of Kim Casner, Amityville. The six members present spent time stuffing and sewing soft dolls and animals for the state project of Toys for Tots.

Next month members will attend the County Convention at the Berks Agricultural Center on October 3. On October 7, members will celebrate "Everybody's Birthday" at the home of Peggy Lewis, Pottstown.

Improve Bathroom Storage

Bathroom storage can become a real problem when you consider all the grooming and health care equipment that must be put in small places. Reorganization may be necessary. Here are some suggestions from Maryetta Dorricott, Delaware County Cooperative Extension Home Economist on how to expand the storage space in your bathroom.

Sort and dispose of unused items or old prescriptions or makeup. Clean everything and "restore" those items that are usable. If space is still a problem, consider the variety of storage aids on the market. A wide range of these aids are available in stores. There are shelves or cabinets that can be hung above fixtures or a vanity organizer which you place over a toilet tank. Use the space under a cabinet-style sink by adding shelves along the sides or fitted around pipes. Shower caddies can hold hair care and bathing equipment.

Other items include additional towel bars, clothes hampers and big, bright, washable hooks for hanging robes, towels or other articles.

Unusual storage ideas include baskets, wine racks for displaying rolled towels, apothecary jars for storing cotton, pins and clips, spare toilet tissue holders, drying racks for hanging hand washables and plant stands.

Before shopping, look at areas in your bathroom that are available for storage. Measure walls, doors, floor areas and inside cabinets and vanities. Make a note of the dimensions, as well as the items to be stored, to save you time and help you make better buys.

Ira Livengood, Lampeter, is perched on his 1944 Ford tractor, and Jason Miller, Refton, demonstrates a vegetable buncher. Both will be entered in the West Lampeter Community Fair, as part of their exhibits of antique farm machinery and household goods. In the background is the blacksmith shop at the Hans Herr House.

Grandpa's And Grandma's Old Things

BY SALLY BAIR
Lancaster Co. Correspondent

LAMPETER — Sharing your well-preserved antiques can be half the fun of owning them, and it's now possible to earn money for displaying them. For the fifth year the West Lampeter Community Fair is offering two divisions of antiques, and this year the expanded show has 43 classes with four premiums being paid in each.

According to B. Snavely Garber, Willow Street, the idea for displaying antique farm equipment came from a visit to the Indiana State Fair. He said he observed the interest in the exhibits, and enjoyed seeing the meal served to participants who dressed in sunbonnets and straw hats.

Starting slowly five years ago, the antiques classes have continued to grow. Garber says, "It serves as a training process for young people to know what their forefathers used."

Arlene Eshleman, Willow Street, has worked with the antiques exhibit for four years and says, "The most interested are the school children who come with their teachers. The teachers explain how their grandparents might have used the equipment, and it's wonderful how really interested they are. It is really educational."

It also allows older fair visitors a chance to reminisce. Mrs. Eshleman says she likes to listen to older visitors who talk about how they used the antiques.

Jason Miller, Refton, one of the exhibitors of antiques and a member of the committee in the farm machinery division, adds, "Often people in their fifties, sixties and seventies will stop and say, 'We used to have one when I was a child.' It brings back memories for them."

Miller, who collects and refinishes antique farm equipment in addition to selling feed, says, "The exhibits help promote education and helps to get the heritage and values of past generations passed to young people so they can appreciate what their forefathers went through."

Intrigued by the thought process that developed some of the first, primitive pieces of equipment, Miller says, "It helps us appreciate old time engineers — when people had time to sit down and think."

Garber shares Miller's fascination with the antiques. One of the more interesting artifacts to be displayed will be a vegetable binder, which Garber calls, "The greatest thing." He said the inventor of the machine had to be both a draftsman and an engineer, and he pictured a housewife giving her husband the job of bunching vegetables for market, causing him to figure a better way to do it than by hand.

The tying mechanization of the small machine was copied from the McCormick binder, and will tie small bunches of anything in any desired size. The binder to be displayed has the name "Felins" on it.

Each year the Fair Committee has featured a different brand of farm equipment and this year it will be Ford. In previous years they have had John Deere, Allis Chalmers and McCormick. One man who plans to exhibit is Ira Livengood who will be displaying several tractors, one of which he

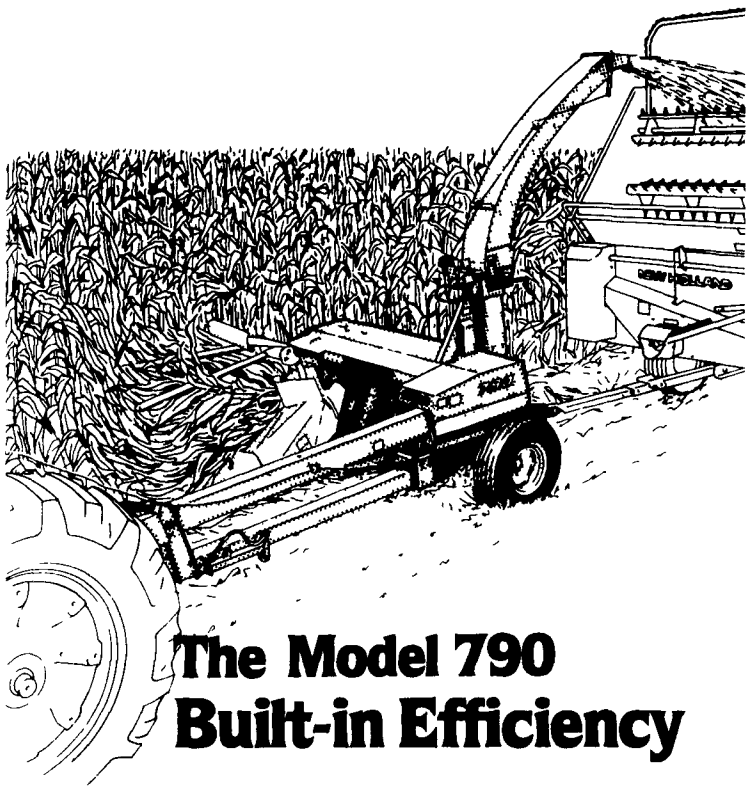
CASH IN ON FORD NEW HOLLAND'S SEPTEMBER HARVEST of Values



The Model 790 Built-in Efficiency

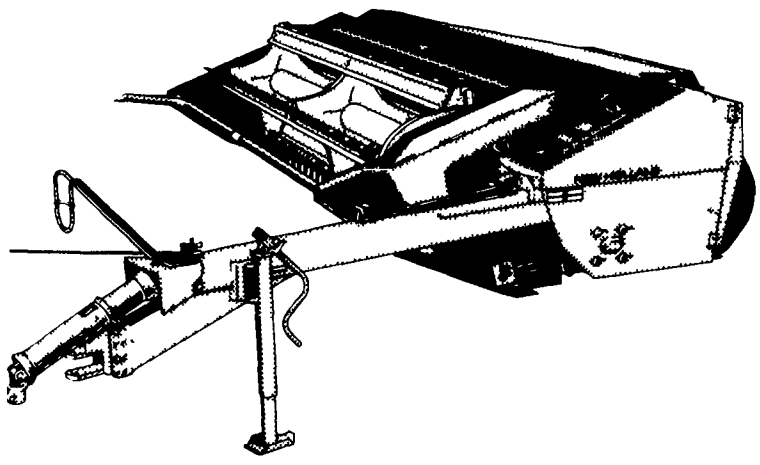
With the Model 790 forage harvester from New Holland, you get efficiency that's built in, not added on. Standard features include: Flip-up feedroll, easy-adjust shearbar, electric clutch, hydraulic lift cylinder and two-speed blower. You also get a massive 12-knife cutterhead with hardened alloy knives with tungsten surfaces. And the knives are set at a steeper angle for smoother feeding and efficient chopping. Choose a 540 rpm or 1,000 rpm driveline. Stop in soon and see how the "790" can make your harvest faster and more efficient.

CASH DIVIDEND $700.00

Fills silos 80 feet and higher

The Model 40 forage blower, with 20% greater tip speed than previous models, center fills silos over 80 feet in height. The 1,000-rpm driveline and 48-inch diameter Whirl-A-Feed® hopper means the Model 40 works fast. The Whirl-A-Feed table spins the crop into the blower housing at high speed. Since the crop is already moving when it reaches the fan, you get more efficient use of your tractor's horsepower and greater capacity. See the Model 40 at your New Holland dealer soon.

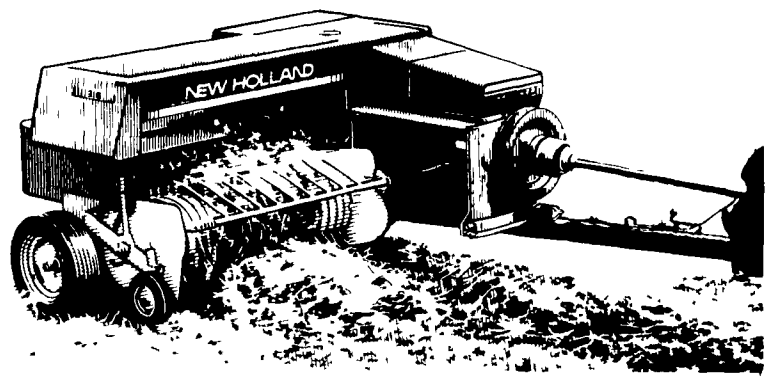
CASH DIVIDEND $150.00



Cut fast, avoid damage

The Model 489 Haybine® mower-conditioner makes a nine-foot cut, fast. The rolls on the 489 are in the main frame, not in the header. So the header is light, to glide over rocks and obstructions with less chance of damage. Stop in and see one today.

CASH DIVIDEND $350.00



Reliability... bale after bale after bale

For dense, uniform bales, take a look at the Model 316 baler. It's a rugged baler packed with features for high-capacity baling. From the wide Super-Sweep pickup to the most consistent knotter, it's got it all. Stop by and see one today.

Grandpa's And Grandma's

purchased new in 1944. He said he purchased the tractor at Wagner's in Elizabethtown at one of the weekly auctions of farm equipment. Livengood recalls, "I wanted one, and each week they sold at a little less." He remembers paying either $1125 or $1225 for it.

The tractor starts easily, and was used by Livengood and others on his farmland. Garber notes, "He deserves a lot of credit for taking care of it. When he wasn't reading a book he was in the shop fixing it up."

Livengood, who now hauls cattle, lends the tractor to the Hans Herr House for its Harvest Days celebration. His busy schedule includes needing to have dialysis on a kidney machine three times a week, but he plans to be at the fair to reminisce about the tractor.

Garber says that the West Lampeter Fair is no longer the exclusive exhibitor of antique farm equipment, but notes, "We were the first."

The farm machinery category is called, "Yesterday's Farm Machinery Exhibit," and has categories ranging from hand woodworking tools to butchering tools to small gas engines to tractors. There is also a division called "Grandma's and Grandpa's Old Things," which offers bottles, trivets, irons, toys and pictures. A complete listing of the prizes and the classes can be found in the fair catalogue. Exhibits must be taken to the Fairgrounds on Tuesday, September 22 between 2:00 p.m. and 10:00 p.m.

This is the 63rd annual Fair for West Lampeter, and Garber credits Wayne B. Rentschler for helping keep it a strictly non-commercial fair. He said there has never been a lot of pressure to add a midway, and notes, "We are holding our own financially."

Garber, who has attended almost all of the 63 fairs and served on the fair board for 20 years, says they have been getting a "nice amount" of antiques over the years, adding, "The interest level is increasing fast among both old and young." Garber also noted how much the preschoolers enjoy seeing the equipment, and how much older visitors like to "sit and watch."

Mrs. Eshleman said, "We get a nice bunch of antiques, and every year we get more."

Garber and Miller stressed the community flavor of this Fair, noting that many school clubs sponsor the refreshment stands. Garber added, "The fire company makes all the money from parking, and the Auxiliary serves the meals each night. It is not a lot of work for each person." Because it is such a part of the community for that week, even most church activities are canceled if they are scheduled during the three-day event.

If you'd like to enter, check the catalogue for a complete listing of classes, and if you'd like to look, just plan to attend the Fair, September 23, 24 and 25.

Jason Miller, Refton, will be exhibiting these household items at the Lampeter Fair next week. From left are a food chopper, and a metal butter churn, and a meat slicer. They are resting on the sandstone watering trough outside the blacksmith shop at the Hans Herr House.

Pre-Law Student Wins Top Chianina Awards

EAST BERLIN — Slender twenty year-old Karen Brothers is not the typical pre-law student. While her Franklin and Marshall classmates spend their weekends partying and socializing, Karen trains her Chianina bulls for nationwide competition.

And this August, she maneuvered a trucking rig filled with four prize-winning bulls to South Dakota. There, Karen was named both 1987 national Junior Chianina Herdsman and first runner-up National Chianina Queen.

Karen started showing the family's full-blood bulls when she was 14 years-old. "Before that," Karen said, "I watched one show competition, and right away I knew I wanted to show instead of watch.

Her first show competition was a shoo-in, Karen admits. "I showed a full-blood heifer and won the $500 division prize because nobody else showed." It was a great way to start and give her incentive to keep it up.

Since 1981, Karen has amassed enough ribbons to fill two walls of their A-frame East Berlin home. Her parents Carl, an oral surgeon, and his wife Margie find equal satisfaction in working with the herd. Their Adams County home borders Lake Meade and is located about ½ mile from their 120 acre Lake View Farm with its 65 head of Chianina.

Karen boasts that the Chianina breed which is the largest and leanest breed in the world is a gentle bunch who are docile and nice. "If you treat them nice, they're nice to you," she said.

After garnering numerous grand champion awards at small fairs, Karen graduated to the bull show ring the following year. "Bulls," she claims, "are easier to work with since they aren't as moody." She said she begins to halter break the bulls before they are weaned.

During training, Karen follows an obstacle course that she has set up to imitate the obstacle courses that national shows require. This includes walking them over railroad ties, through water and rough terrain. Part of South Dakota's national competition required them to load their bulls in a trailor. "My bull had just traveled 35 hours in a trailer and he was not about to enter one again," Karen said, "so we didn't win that one."

To encourage hair growth on her bulls, Karen said they keep fans on them in the barns and rinse them to keep them cold. Weekly she washes, blow drys and clips their hair to get them accustomed to her touch.

Her favorite 5 year-old bull likes her pampering. "When I hose him down and shampoo him," Karen said, "He leans his head to the side, closes his eyes and practically drools with joy."

The Brothers' firm slaughters badly disposition bulls because that is usually passed down to the next generation. "It would be embarrassing," Karen said, "to go to a show and have them act up. It would give their breed a bad name."

The Brothers keep record of each bull's growth, disposition and feed consumption with a computerized bull test center.

Even if Karen and her bulls do everything right in the show ring, "if the judge doesn't like your bull, you don't have a chance." Karen recalls that one partial judge stated that he doesn't like white." Karen said the Chiania pure bloods are always white, "but some judges have an optical illusion that black is better."

Obviously, Karen does not agree. She thinks her bulls which stand 6'6" at the shoulders and weigh over 1,400 pounds not only are superior in looks but also in taste. "Chianina is lean beef. It has 35% less calories than either chicken or turkey." She pulls out brochures that compare Chianina's calories, cholesterol and fat content with other meats to prove that beef rates lowest in every category.

Two walls of Karen's trophies fill the Brothers' A-frame home.

Margie Brothers, Karen's mother often cares for the bulls while Karen attends college.

Karen claims, "Chianina cattle are really docile even if they are the largest breed."

Karen steered this rig to South Dakota. She asks, "Why pay someone else to do it when I can do it myself?"

At present, the Brothers believe that Chianina beef is usually processed by a Texas firm that sells under the name "Key Lite Beef." Karen believe the beef's largest market is the military, because "the military is interested in fitness."

This is Karen's senior year at F&M, the Lancaster college where she is majoring in accounting in preparation for becoming a tax attorney. Although busy with her cattle business, she manages to maintain an A to B+ grade average. She affirms that sometimes it is difficult to concentrate on her studies when she knows there is a problem with the herd. She said, "My life is mainly college and the farm. I spend about equal time at both places."

Sadly she admits that when she enters Yale, Harvard or one of the other top ten law schools, she will need to concentrate on her studies since that is her career and she will not come home every weekend like she has throughout college.

"But," she insists, "I plan to have a farm someday or at least be involved with it in some way." She paused, then added, "I think big. I plan to go out west and have lots and lots of land and lots of cattle."

During numerous trips, Karen said they hit a lot of shows and won the top awards. "But you can't take cattle on too many trips or they slim down."

Much of her showing is publicity for their Lake View Farms which boasts the finest herd of full blood Chianina in the Northeast.

For many months, Karen planned and scouted out ways to transport the four head to the American Junior Chianina Association National Junior Heifer Show. Finally, she chose a 1981 Mercedes truck with a 32 foot trailer. Karen convinced her mom and a friend Jamie Kohr, who shows cattle, to join her in getting their truck driver's permits and head west. She reasoned, "Why pay someone else to do what we can do?" She believes that "no one else can possibly care as much about your own animals or be as competent."

Among the three drivers, they drove straight to Rapid City, South Dakota in 35 hours. Karen admits that she did most of the driving since she couldn't sleep anyway. "And besides," she added, "I was the only one with the license; the others only had permits."

Her friends feared she would drop out of college and become a truck driver, but Karen assured them that she doesn't like the smell of diesel fuel nor the persistent road construction.

Karen's interests are diverse. Presently she is taking flying lessons. "I like just about everything. My goal is to experience life to the fullest. I tried just about everything, and what I didn't like, I left go, but I always stuck with cattle."

The Chianina Queen contest seemed a little out her element for this athletic student who admits she used to own a dress, but didn't try it on for four years. When she decided to try out for the queen title, she bought a few dresses for the occasion. She confides, "It isn't wearing a dress that is so awful, it isn't bad—really, it's just that everyone that knows me makes such a big issue out of it when they see me in a dress." But out west, dress wearing worked fine for Karen since none of her friends were there to see her.

Karen represented the northeast region and came in first runnerup. She was pleased with her standing

The riders and their horses were selected for the Regional Show based on their performance at the Bucks County 4-H Horse and Pony Show in July.

The first and second place winners in each class at the Regional Show will compete in the Pennsylvania State 4-H Horse and Pony Show, October 8-10, at the Farm Show Arena in Harrisburg.

Mrs. Marla Campomizzi, Hulmeville, was the show manager of the Regional 4-H Horse Show.

The 4-H Horse Program is designed to help young people, ages 8-18, develop riding and horsemanship skills, gain self-confience through participation, receive 4-H training in leadership and citizenship, and learn responsibility by caring for a horse.

For more information about 4-H Horse Programs, call the Bucks County Extension Service at 345-3283.

Planting Spring Bulbs

Buy and plant your bulbs as soon as new stock arrives at your garden store and the bulbs are fresh. This is usually during early September.

Early fall is an ideal time for planting because the soil is in good condition and the weather is nicer. Narcissus (Daffodils) should be planted in September because they need more time than most other bulbs to develop a good root system. Most tulips can be planted as late as December.

Use the following tips for proper planting of bulbs:

Plant bulbs in groups. Space crocus and other small bulbs about three inches apart; larger bulbs such as tulips and daffodils six to ten inches apart.

Depth of planting also depends upon the size of the bulbs. The bottom of smaller bulbs should be about three inches below the surface, while larger ones go about six inches deep.

Select a well drained location for your bulbs. Avoid areas where surface water collects after a heavy rain or melting snow. Do not plant bulbs where clay layers beneath the surface may hold water for several days. Either situations will soon cause bulbs to rot.

Select a sunny location or a spot under deep rooted trees such as oaks, which also leaf out later in the spring, allowing the bulb foliage to receive needed sunlight. Avoid placing bulbs near shrubs as lilacs, which will compete with the bulbs for water and nutrients.

Select varieties that will bloom throughout the spring months. Winter aconite, snowdrop, crocus, glory-of-the-snow, and Siberian squill bloom in March and early April. Daffodils, hyacinths, grape hyacinths, and botanical tulips flower in April. Other tulips, Spanish squill, and the bulbous iris bloom in May.

The spring flowering bulbs can be left in the garden and many will spread by dividing into young bulblets.

Tulips are at their best the first year after planting and should be replanted frequently for best results.

Do not cut bulb foliate until it turns completely brown because the foliate provides the bulb with needed nutrients, which are essential for the next year's growth and flowering.

Pre-Law Student Wins

and thought that all the awards had been handed out when the judges pronnounced her Herdsman of the Year. "I couldn't believe it Karen said. "It's the highest award and means I'm the top #1 young cattle person of that breed for the year."

Karen still has not calmned down from the excitment of winning the award that was given to her from the judges observation of her showmanship and her successful history in cattle showing.

Karen is the northeast representative to the National Chianina Board of Directors and acting president of the Northeast Junior Division.

Next year, Karen plans to put everything into showing since it is her last opportunity in the junior division. Already she is mapping out strategy to win the 1988 national competition that will be held at Ohio. "Watch out, competition!" She warns. "It's going to be my best year ever."

THE MICRO WAY

LANI BLOOMER

Microwaving Roasts

Meats lead the list of foods ruined in a microwave. When meat is overcooked, it turns into shoe leather. When it's microwaved properly it's tender, juicy and moist.

Two mistakes account for almost all the microwaved shoe leather. The first is trying to cook meat quickly, using high power. High power dries out and toughens the outside of a roast, and leaves the center very rare.

If your microwave oven's cookbook recommends using any power higher than 50% for microwaving roasts, I recommend that you don't follow those directions. Current research shows that using 50% or better yet, 30% power for meats will give you the best results.

The second mistake people make when microwaving meat is not letting it finish cooking during the standing time. Many roasts will still have red juice coming out of the meat at the beginning of the standing time, even when cooked to well done. Most people who see the red juice, stick the roast right back in the microwave to cook longer. Don't!

When microwaving a roast, it is really important to understand that THE CENTER OF THE ROAST WILL FINISH COOKING DURING THE STANDING TIME! Temperatures in the middle of a roast increase one or two degrees each minute during standing time as the center continues to cook. If the roast is not done enough after the standing time, THEN cook it longer.

The microwave roasting directions given below will give you well done, tender, falling-off-the-bone kind of meat. For rare meat, follow the directions in your microwave cookbook; higher power levels may be used for rare roasts.

Use these directions for any roasts: tender beef, pork or lamb roasts, and tougher cuts of meat that need tenderizing, such as chuck or venison roasts.

Fresh pork can be safely microwaved when you follow these directions. Pork roasts must be covered tightly during microwaving. Use a large covered casserole, a covered microwave roaster, or put your roast in an Oven Cooking Bag.

Boneless rolled roasts (three to five pounds) cook the most evenly. Let these stand for 10 minutes after microwaving to finish cooking. Larger roasts and those with bones, should stand for 15 minutes.

Microwaving Roasts

1. Thoroughly defrost, then roast dry and rub with garlic, salt, pepper, herbs — use whatever you like. A browning agent will make the roast look browner when cooked.

2. If your oven has a temperature probe use it for roasts. Insert the tip of the probe into the center of the roast. Don't let probe touch bone or fatty areas. Put the probe in from the side or end of the roast so you can turn the roast over.

3. Start roasts upside down, and turn them over halfway through the cooking time. Put the roast upside down in an oven cooking bag (or covered microwave roaster). Put oven bag into an open flat pan; the probe wire comes out bag opening.

4. For potroasts or tough roasts than need tenderizing, add ½ cup water or juice (no more!). You do not need to add liquid for tender roasts. Add onions, etc. if desired.

5. Fasten oven bag loosely around the probe wire, leaving at least a half-inch opening for steam to escape. Fasten bag with a plastic fastener or cut a strip from the end of the bag; do not use a metal twist tie.

6. Set probe for 100-115 degrees (this is the temperature to turn the roast over) and MICROWAVE ON LOW POWER (30,3, defrost). If your oven has no probe, microwave for half the estimated cooking time. Turn roast (bag, juices and all) over in the dish.

7. Set probe temperature for desired doneness (see chart), and MICROWAVE ON LOW POWER (30,3, defrost). When meat reaches the set temperature, let stand for 10 to 15 minutes. Check for doneness after standing time.

Approximate Roasting Temps. and Times:
650-700 Watt oven at 30% power

Meat	Probe Temperature*	Serving Temperature	Minutes Per Pound
Precooked ham	120-125	130-140	12-15
Medium beef	130-135	140-150	15-17
Med-well beef	140-145	150-160	17-20
Welldone beef	150-155	165-170	19-20
Fresh pork, ham	170	175-180	21-22

* The "Probe Temperature" is the temperature you set your oven, for the microwave cooking to stop when the meat reaches this temperature.  The "Serving Temperature" is the temperature that roast will be after 10-15 minutes standing time. Note: The times above are for microwave ovens with 650-700 watts of power. For slower ovens, add 15-20 seconds to each minute.

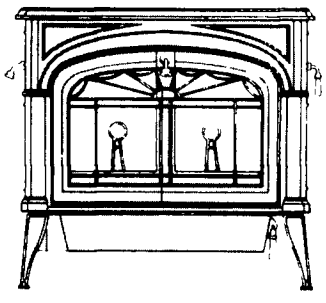
Painting Workshop

Learn to make the ever popular "Tole" painted items yourself. No previous art or painting experience is necessary. This is a special technique. Basic shapes styled attractively will be applied to wooden objects of your choice in this workshop sponsored by the Delaware County Cooperative Extension Service of The Pennsylvania State University. Two series will be conducted by Shirley Hall, the first on September 30, October 7, 14 & 21 from 10 to noon and the second series, (different months) will be November 4, 18, Dec. 2 & 9 from 10 to noon. Both will be held in the Hunt Club Building, Rose Tree Park, 1521 N. Providence Road, Media, Pa. 19063. Make your check payable to Home Economics Workshops and send it to Maryetta Dorricott, Extension Home Economist at the above address.

Bring old nylon hose, a small jar, palette knife, palette, tracing paper, oil paints, (burnt umber, raw umber, and white are needed for the 1st class) and newspaper. Text and all other supplies are included in the tuition.

A GREAT PERFORMANCE DESERVES AN ENCORE.



Vermont Castings has revolutionized the art of woodburning. Again. They did it the first time with the Defiant, a handsome, efficient woodstove with doors that opened for a view of the fire.

They've done it again with the Defiant Encore. With a strikingly beautiful design that will enhance any decor, a large, clear glass area for fire viewing, a super convenient ash removal system, and an incredibly clean-burning combustion system, the Encore is a tough act to follow.

Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser

As we were ready to leave Whitehorse, the capital of the Yukon Territory, our bus got a flat tire and so we started for Skagway later than we expected.

We left the Alaskan Highway and took the Klondike Highway through an arrid area, a Forest area, a Sub-arctic area and a Coastal zone all within 100 miles. The lakes were a beautiful blue-green color due to the marl deposit. We saw trucks that weighed 80 tons hauling lead-zinc powder. Here they get 30 feet of snow in the winter. More than 100,000 people stormed the Yukon Territory between 1896 and 1900 as they traveled the Gold Rush Trail.

We arrived in Skagway and boarded the beautiful Island Princess, better known as the "Love Boat." Here we had a big buffet lunch on the spacious Sun Deck before walking in to the town to see a film on gold mining. Our cabin had a fruitbowl that was always filled with apricots, grapes and apples. The steward was available to serve us anytime. Our seagoing resort was nearly two football fields long and carried almost 1000 people. It had a theater, lounges, beauty parlor, casino room, swimming pool, boutique, photo studio, nightclub and medical center. In the evenings a spectacular musical revue was presented in the Carousel Lounge.

We spent a morning on Glacier Bay and saw 12 miles long glaciers made up of snow that fell 200 years ago. They move 3 to 300 feet per day and rubble is mixed in with the ice. Two women rangers came aboard our ship and gave lectures on Alaska. Some glaciers are four million years old and we can only see one-sixth of them as they break off and float in the blue water.

While my husband rested in our cabin I looked at $250 sweaters in their gift shop. In the evening we went to a cocktail party before having our picture taken on the Grand Staircase with the other members of our tour group.

Join Delaware 4-H Clubs

NEWARK, Delaware — Would you like to help bring back the bluebird population by building bird houses? How about sewing baby blankets to help out a national charity or baking cookies for the housebound? Perhaps you have the time to monitor a nearby stream for chemical pollution?

These are just a few of the many ways that Delaware 4-H clubs are serving their communities. 4-H is actively recruiting new members now, so this is an excellent time to join. Membership in 4-H — the youth division of the Cooperative Extension System — is open to interested young people between the ages of 9 and 19.

The Fantastics 4-H Club of Newark; for example, is participating in Stream Watch, an ecology project designed to monitor local streams for pollution. The 12 to 15 year-old members of the club have "adopted" a section of Middle Stream Run near Newark. Each month they survey the insect population in the stream, collect and evaluate water samples, and send the findings to the Delaware Department of Natural Resources and Envrionmental Control in Dover. They received training from Amy White of the Delaware Nature Education Society, which developed the project in cooperation with DNREC. "The importance of keeping the area clean is stressed," says Delaware 4-H ageny Joy Sparks, "so members also pick up any trash they find."

As part of their conservation and wood science projects, members of the Meado-Larks 4-H Club of south Newark and the Pike Creek area built bird houses in an effort to restore the declining bluebird population. Members received a $50 conservation grant from the county Cooperative Extension office to buy the supplies.

"This was a particularly enjoyable project because it involved everyone in the club, from the youngest to the oldest," says Janice Melson, a 4-H leader. Some of the houses have been placed in a grove near the Skyline Methodist Church, near Pike Creek.

In a community service venture of another sort, two 4-H clubs, the Fantastics of Newark and the Highlanders of Wilmington have become involved with the Mary Campbell Center for the handicapped. Several years ago the two clubs helped the residents form their own 4-H club. Since then, members of the Fantastics have gone with Mary Campbell 4-H'ers on a hayride in the fall and helped them with a game night in the winter. Members of the Highlanders Club decorated a Christmas tree at the center last year and have also taught residents some cooking skills.

As part of the breads project, the Hollymount 4-H Club of Lewes gave 50 small loaves of bread that they had baked to their local Meals-on-Wheels chapter for Christmas dinner, and the Meado-Larks Club gave about 12 dozen rolls to the Little Sisters of the Poor for Christmas dinner. Members first learned how to make bread from a special 4-H video tape series developed by 4-H agent Sparks and University of Delaware extension food and nutrition specialist, Dr. Sue Snider. The tapes demonstrate the science of bread-making — both the skills involved and the nutritional value of bread. Each month the Fantastics bake cookies for Meals-on-Wheels.

Clothing project members of the Fantastics Club used their talents to make baby blankets and pillowcases that they donated to the Needle Work Guild of America, a national charity that gives clothes and linens to the needy. Every year project members sew different items and give them to NWGA for distribution.

The Houston Cardinals of Kent County sponsored a bike-athon that raised more than $350 for St. Jude's Hospital, a cancer research hospital for children. The 4-H'ers also raised $230 for the Milford Hospital with a ball toss booth at the hospital fair.

In Kent County various 4-H groups make tray favors for the Kent General Hospital, and each month a different club makes favors to brighten patients' food trays.

These are just some of the service projects that Delaware 4-H'ers are involved in. "By helping others," Sparks says, "club members gain a greater awareness of the world around them and make their communities more pleasant places to live."

To join 4-H, or to become a volunteer leader, contact your county Extension office in Newark (451-8965), Dover (697-4000) or Georgetown (856-7303).

Sunflower Entertainment For Beekeepers

The Lancaster County Honey Producers Association will meet on Wednesday, September 23, 1987, at 6:30 p.m., at the Farm and Home Center, 1383 Arcadia Road, Lancaster. The business meeting will take place at 6:30 p.m. At 7:30 p.m., Cliff Wright, Sunflower, will be speaking about "The Bees And Me". Cliff lives with his wife and children on a 170-acre farm outside Bath, PA. They own 350 colonies of bees. He is an environmental educator and performer who uses music and a puppet, "Honeybear", to present his educational and enjoyable program. The public is invited to attend.

Crazy Quilt Workshop

Crazy Quilts are a unique fabric art form from the late 19th century. The correct term is: Fancy Quilt. Come to this Penn State Extension workshop, you will make a Crazy Quilt block, complete with embroidery stitches. For inspiration and informal exhibit, check your attic treasures and bring Crazy Quilts or other handiwork items from the Victorian era. Bring bits and pieces of fabrics in your favorite colors and a needle and thread. We'll provide the muslin for backing. The dates are Thurs., Oct. 1 & 15 from 10 to noon. The location is the Hunt Club Building, Rose Tree Park, 1521 N. Providence Road, Media, Pa. 19063. The cost is $8.00 make check payable to Home Economics Workshops by Sept. 21 and mail to above address.

You'll get more out of an Eby aluminum grain body Lightweight and rugged aluminum provides rigid, fuel-efficient support to fill your grain hauling needs

Eby packs years of experience, workmanship and performance into every aluminum body it manufactures And special Eby options let you customize your body to your individual operation Available in standard lengths, each unit is designed to provide you with an investment in durable performance and practical economy

Look over these outstanding features.

- Less weight. Eby aluminum bodies weigh up to 30% less than comparable steel and wood construction
- Less maintenance. Aluminum construction won't rust or rot—never needs painting
- Long-life durability. Heavy-duty structural components and hollow-tube frame combine with aluminum floor and sides to stand up to years of hard work

Reading Fair Kickoff Names Outstanding Farming Individuals

BY ROBIN PHILLIPS
(Berks Co. Correspondent)

FLEETWOOD (BERKS CO.) — "Fairs are an important part of our rural heritage," J. Fred King, Deputy Secretary of Agriculture, began his comments. "Fairs promote the state's number one industry," he went on to explain.

He was speaking to the Outstanding Farm Families of Berks County and their guests last week as they gathered at the Fleetwood Grange Hall, Fleetwood, Berks County, for the annual Kickoff Celebration and Awards Banquet of the 1987 Reading Fair.

The Reading Fair, scheduled for September 21st thru the 27th, annually awards outstanding individuals in Berks County in 4-H and in FFA, and also follows a 32 year old tradition of selecting an outstanding farm family from among the farm family grange members in the county. The fair also boasts week-long free entertainment on stage, good sized dairy, beef, goat, pig, rabbit, and poultry shows, and all the other trimmings of an outstanding country fair.

"It's such a fine example of community spirit, and such a growing atmosphere for young people," summed up Mary Grim, Fair Administrator from Harrisburg as she commented about the Reading Fair.

With these remarks to set the stage, Albert Boscov, owner of Boscov's Department Stores, and chief sponsor and advocate of the Reading Fair, announced and awarded the 1987 recipients of the Reading Fair's recognition of achievement.

"It's been an extremely rewarding experience for me," stated 18-year-old Marianne Yanos as she accepted the recognition as Outstanding 4-H Girl. A 4-H member for nine years, Marianne's major projects included sheep, clothing, teen leadership, and public speaking. In 1986 she was the state winner in the public speaking contest, and also the Kiwanis Youth Award recipient. She is currently a freshman at Albright College, and a member of the Berks County Sheep and Lamb Club.

The Outstanding 4-H Boy is Heath Fisher, age 18. Heath is a son of Jon and Jean Fisher, R1, Robesonia, and will be a freshman at Penn State this fall. A 4-H member for nine years, his major projects included goats, sheep, and gardening.

Reading Fair

Melissa Spayd, R.D. 3249, Fleetwood, was selected as the outstanding FFA girl. Currently serving as the state FFA president, Melissa's credits include a host of awards throughout her FFA career. She was Star Greenhand, Star Chapter Farmer, Keystone Degree recipient, DeKalb Award winner, and also a winner of the Pennsylvania State Flower Growers award in 1987.

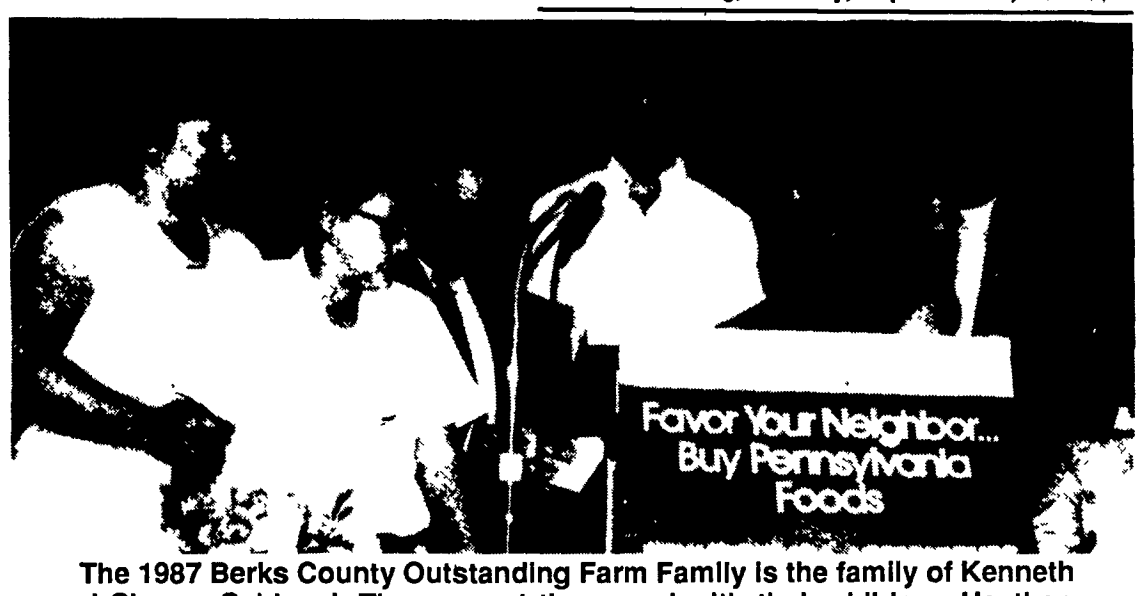
The outstanding FFA boy is Kevin Stoltzfus, a 1987 graduate of Twin Valley High School. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Stoltzfus, R2, Elverson, Kevin served as an officer for many years in his FFA chapter. He was also well known as a showman of his Guernsey cattle at the local and state levels.

Following the tradition of the Reading Fair, the 1987 winners of the Outstanding Berks County Farm Family is the family of Kenneth and Sharon Schlegel, R2, Fleetwood. Dairy farmers with 270 acres to farm, the Schlegels are involved in a wide variety of interests. Besides their grange activities, Kenneth Schlegel serves as a Sunday School superintendent, a member of the board of directors of Farm Credit, the Kutztown Fair, and the Fleetwood Area School Board, and also finds time to attend the sports activities of his children, as well as going hunting and bowling.

His wife, Sharon, holds an off-farm job but also takes part in many outside activities as well as an active part on the farm.

The entire family helps on the farm and out in the barn. Their children, Heather, age 17, Keith, age 15, and Kyle, age 11, have daily chores that must be done, as well as a host of outside activities with grange, 4-H, and school.

Besides keeping with a Reading Fair tradition, this family has continued a Schlegel family tradition. Kenneth Schlegel's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Schlegel were also honored as an outstanding farm family by the Reading Fair.



The 1987 Berks County Outstanding Farm Family is the family of Kenneth and Sharon Schlegel. They accept the award with their children, Heather, Keith and Kyle and comment to the audience that they enjoy being together as a family.

The Reading Fair Youth Awards were earned by Kevin Stoltzfus, FFA Boy; Melissa Spayd, FFA Girl; Marianne Yanos, 4-H Girl; and Heath Fisher, 4-H Boy.

Rohrer Sells Fertilizer Facility

P.L. Rohrer & Bros., Inc., Smoketown, recently sold their bulk fertilizer facility to a non-agricultural business. After October 1, they will no longer sell or distribute bulk fertilizer from that facility. They will continue to operate the main office/warehouse complex which is separate from the fertilizer facility.

In a letter to customers W.W. Rohrer said, "We regret having to make this decision, however, Ortho Unipels are no longer available east of the Rocky Mountains. It is now clear the supply of Unipel-Type fertilizer from overseas is unreliable and the quality is inconsistent. We built our fertilizer business based on quality and reliability and do not want to present our customers with what we consider to be an unreliable situation. We do expect to continue to sell a high quality, bagged fertilizer as we have before."

P.L. Rohrer remains strongly committed to continuing growth in the seed, chemical, and garden and home market. They look forward to continuing business in the farm community.

Hog Farmers Spend More On Health Products

SCHAUMBURG, IL — Of all U.S. livestock producers, hog producers spent the highest proportion, in 1985, on animal health products, about 80% of their animal health budget, according to the American Veterinary Medical Association (AVMA) in a special report on the food animal veterinary market; U.S. Market for Food Animal Veterinary Medical Services, prepared by J. Karl Wise, PhD.

By comparison, beef producers spent 65%, sheep producers spent 65%, and dairy producers spent 53% on animal health products.

From a nationwide mail survey, the AVMA found that in 1985 only 57% of all hog producers used a veterinarian and had an annual expenditure of $524 per producer.

Overall, hog producers spent $98 million with veterinarians, $39.3 million for professional services and $58.8 million for products.

The hog market is the third largest for veterinarians, after dairy at $300.9 million and beef at $214.9 million.

According to Dr. Wise, 20% of the survey respondents used a veterinarian more than 12 times a year. The average was six times a year.

"Large producers spend more money with veterinarians than small producers," said Dr. Wise, "but large producers spent proportionately less of their animal health dollar with veterinarians than small producers."

As hog operations grow, producers spend relatively less money on veterinary services and more on animal health products.

Analyzing total animal health expenditures by herd size, Dr. Wise found that hog producers with one to 49 head spent $550 and those with 100 or more head spent $2,000. Product expenses increased from $400 to $1,660 for these herd sizes.

"While a small producer spends fewer dollars on animal health than a large producer, a small producer spends only 73 cents of his animal health dollar on products, whereas a large producer spends 83 cents on products," according to Dr. Wise.

The report shows that hog producers spent 29% on medications, drugs, and implants, 29% on animal vaccines, 11% on parasite control products, 30% on medicated feed additives, and 1% on other products.

Forty-seven percent of the medications and 55% of the vaccines are purchased from veterinarians. Feed stores sell 30% of the medications and 17% of the vaccines.

Veterinarians receive 34 cents of every dollar spent by hog producers on animal health products, compared to 53 cents by dairy, 42 cents by beef, and 28 cents by sheep producers.

All U.S. livestock producers spent $638 million in 1985 for veterinary services and products, about 47% of the total agricultural animal health market of $1.35 billion.

BY MILT MADISON
Assistant Professor Of Agricultural Economics

Has recent publicity concerning the presence of salmonella bacteria on many of the chickens in slaughtering plants reduced chicken consumption? This is a difficult question to answer. The "60 Minutes" television program on salmonella, statements by poultry inspectors to the media, and a report by the National Academy of Science have all brought attention to the presence of microbiological contamination in chicken slaughtering facilities.

The difficulty in determining the publicities effects on poultry sales helps to explain why so many different answers are given when various people are asked the question above.

If slaughter levels for the first half of 1987 are compared to 1986, a 10 percent increase is found. Since a small proportion of the increased slaughter has gone into storage a nearly 10 percent increase in sales has taken place.

Clearly more chicken has been sold than was last year, prior to the salmonella publicity. The complicating factors of the question arise when expected sales level and price are considered.

One problem is deciding what level of sales would have been achieved without the publicity and at the same price as was common last year. Broiler sales were 6 percent higher in 1985 than in 1984 and the wholesale price was 5 cents per pound lower. Sales increased 3 percent in 1986 and prices were 6 cents per pound higher than in 1985. The average wholesale price for the first 25 weeks of 1987 has been 49 cents per pound as compared to 52 cents per pound for the first 25 weeks of 1986 with sales up nearly 10 percent.

It would appear to this point that demand has grown somewhat this year, but by slightly less than the production increase. So, sales have been a little less than the broiler companies had planned for. This has been the cause of the 3 cent per pound decline in broiler prices.

Many of the news media reports have approached salmonella contamination as if it were a newly discovered problem. Figures citing that 35 to 40 percent of chicken carcasses are contaminated have led many consumers to believe that is tremendously higher than in the past. It has led John Vogel and Perry Stambaugh writing in the June 1987 issue of Pennsylvania Farmer, to predict "...a steady downturn in per capita poultry consumption." It has also led Rodney E. Leonard, director of the Community Nutrition Institute, to hold a July 2, press conference in Washington to call for a national boycott of poultry products.

In the press conference Leonard asserted, "American consumers are at greater risk of food poisoning from poultry today than from any other widely available food source." The June 8 issue of Poultry Times presents some interesting information in regard to microbiological contamination.

James H. Denton states that microbiological quality of poultry today is better than in the past and that normal poultry processing reduces total bacterial population by 95 percent. He considers levels of about four Salmonella organisms as the typical level for contaminated carcasses. These levels present little danger of causing disease as long as the chicken is cooked and handled properly. Center for Disease Control information, cited at the U.S. House Agricultural Subcommittee on Livestock, Dairy and Poultry hearings on meat inspection, held on June 2, also points to beef causing more food poisoning incidents than poultry causes.

In Leonard's press conference he also said data from the Bureau of Labor Statistics had convinced him people were already boycotting poultry. The data he cited dealt with the fact that poultry prices fell during the last nine months while beef and pork prices were rising. What Leonard fails to acknowledge is that meat prices are responsive to quantity of supply available. Beef supplies were from 2 to 8 percent lower during the past three quarters, pork supplies were from 3 to 8 percent lower, while broiler supplies were from 3 to 8 percent higher. Meat availability, rather than a boycott explains the price behavior observed.

Will assigning the major part of the blame on other food products help poultry? Are educational programs on safe food handling procedures for consumers and food service personnel enough? Another option is to reduce the amount of microbiological contamination.

Many ways to reduce contamination have been studied, but the need to go to the extra cost of production-run trials and implementation of these procedures had not yet been justified by market response to contamination levels.

The present situation with chicken may present opportunities for firms to differentiate their products from other brands, basing the differentiation on the level of microbiological contamination. Dr. George A. Schuler stated, in the June 1987 issue of Poultry and Egg Marketing, that, "If you could label your bird 'Salmonella free', you may be able to pick up 5 to 6 percent in premium."

Irradiation is one means to reduce microbiological contamination. Rosanna Mentzer Morrison and Tanya Roberts, USDA Agricultural Economists, have examined some of the issues and costs related to irradiating food and presented their findings in the Second Quarter 1987 issue of "Choices" magazine. Morrison and Roberts estimated costs to build an irradiation system ranged from $1 million for a small plant to treat fish to $11.2 million for a plant to treat 400 million pounds of chicken per year.

Costs per pound of chicken for irradiation, which includes annualized capital costs and operating costs, were estimated for four sizes of plants. For annual throughput of 52 million pounds the cost would be 1.6 cents per pound, 104 million pounds would cost 1.2 cents per pound, 208 million pounds would cost 1 cent per pound, and 416 million pounds would cost .9 cents per pound.

Wholesale prices for broilers have ranged from 45 to 55 cents per pound in recent years. Comparing these prices with the costs reported above it shows that costs to irradiate chickens would represent between 2 and 4 percent of the wholesale price. If premiums of 5 to 6 percent could be attained through marketing salmonella-free products, irradiation may be a viable technology for broiler processors.

Other methods for salmonella reduction are also available. They include use of gases, heat, and acid baths and chlorine baths. None of these methods are cheap, easy to implement, or particularly appetizing to consumers, but all may need to be considered.

Mid East UDIA Appoints Communications Specialist

COLUMBUS, OH — Scott Higgins, General Manager of Mid East United Dairy Industry Association, headquartered in Columbus, Ohio, recently announced the appointment of Cinty Weimer as Communications Specialist to serve the western Pennsylvania Federal Order 36 milk marketing area.

Prior to joining Mid East, Weimer served as Promotion Coordinator with the Harrisburg-based Pennsylvania State Dairy Promotion Program for three years. A former Pennsylvania State Dairy Princess, she received her bachelor's degree in agricultural economics from Penn State University in 1984. Weimer is a native of Clarion County, where she and her husband, Mike, own and operate Solid Gold Holsteins, a Registered Holstein dairy farm.

As Communications Specialist, Weimer will assist in local dairy promotion programs, food publicity and market servicing activities. She will be operating out of her Clarion County residence and may be contacted at R.D. 1, Box 166, Emlenton, PA 16373.

NO. 1 DAIRYING DIESEL

KHD DEUTZ

Since 1968 F2L-912 diesels have earned the reputation as the most reliable diesel
Don't settle for less

EASIER STARTING: Heavy flywheel provides easy starting. No electric heater plugs.

QUIETER: Runs quieter than most water cooled diesels. Very quiet exhaust.

Continuous Duty Rating:
26.5 HP @ 1800 RPM

Fewer repair parts than comparable three-cylinder diesels - cheaper to overhaul.

It has direct injection, lube oil cooling, and oil cooled pistons. This engine has proven to survive the extreme heat of a heavy load in a small engine house better than any other engine.

PLUS-FAMOUS DEUTZ FUEL ECONOMY

MID SUMMER SPECIALS ON STATE OF THE ART DIGITAL MONITORS ELIMINATES GUESSWORK FROM YOUR FARMING OPERATIONS

REAP THE BENEFITS

Yield Trak Monitors four basic functions: ground speed, acres harvested, bushels per acre and total bushels harvested. The bushels per acre function is divided into two counters with independent resets, so you can pinpoint yields with each tank-full or measure an entire field.

List $349

CALC-AN-ACRE COUNTER

Calc-An-Acre is a state of the art acre counter that accurately calculates and displays acreage with the touch of a button. It incorporates a dual counting system that makes it possible to reset and record individual fields while maintaining a running total of area worked. CALC-AN-ACRE is also a digital speedometer that provides true ground speed.

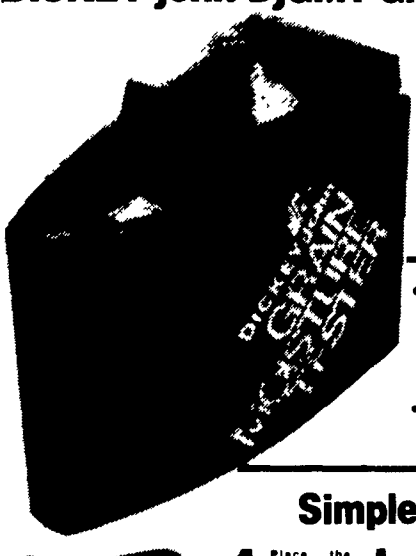
DICKEY-john DjGMT Grain Moisture Tester



The DICKEY-john Grain Moisture Tester measures moisture content automatically. You don't have to preweigh the sample. There are no meters to read, no dials to set, and no thermometers to lose. As soon as you pour in the grain sample, the testing sequence begins. A digital readout is displayed when the proper weight of the sample has entered the test chamber. The readout is corrected for temperature at the touch of a pressure-sensitive switch. Models are available with direct readouts for corn, soybean, or wheat, and adhesive conversion charts are provided for other grains.

- GRAIN MODEL
  List...$259
  CASH...$185
- FORAGE MODEL
  CASH.....$294.50

Simple, four-step operation

1 Place the tester on a steady, level surface. Then lift the protective cover up and slide it down out of the way.

2 Use the sample cup to pour grain into the testing cell. Pour slowly and steadily, taking about eight to ten seconds, to empty the sample cup. A readout will appear automatically.

3 Wait at least fifteen seconds. Then press the temperature compensation switch for a direct readout of the moisture content of the grain listed on that switch. Refer to the appropriate chart for other grains.

4 Empty the tester by turning it over. (If you should forget to empty the test cell, the tester will shut itself off automatically after two minutes.)

The One Spreader For A Two-Spreader Farm

Manure from confinement housing can be quickly and easily loaded and delivered to your spreader with a versatile Gehl skid loader The heaviest loads are no problem with a 300 Series manure spreader It's built with heavy duty chain drive and rugged construction throughout Your first glance will tell you the 300 is unlike any spreader you've ever seen

Handles All Kinds Of Manure-Liquid, Semi-Solid, Pen Packed, Even Frozen

CALL AND SAVE!

The big difference: a square auger

The heavy-duty square-tube auger simply works better than conventional round augers

That's because its patented configuration sets up a unique "pulse action" to thoroughly break up and blend manure and lessen the chance of wrapping.

The auger's paddles — specially formed for added strength against tough, packed loads — are set at the precise pitch to maintain the proper flow of manure to the discharge expeller

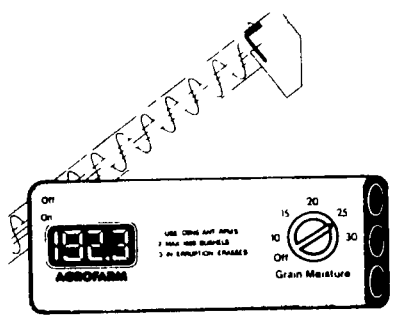
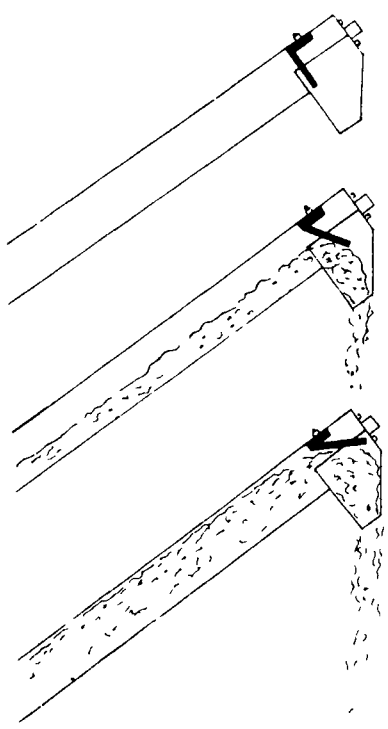
AGROFARM®

COMBINE AND AUGER BUSHEL COUNTER

BUSHEL COUNTER WHY SO ACCURATE?



- Accuracy 95%
- Fit all combines and augers 7" – up
- Installation 1 hour
- Calculate yield and income
- The key to field management
- 2 year guarantee



Closed:
No grain is counted — even though the auger is rotating.

Partly Open:
The pressure of the grain on the weighing plate determines the counting speed on the digital instrument in front of the driver.

Open:
90% of the grain in the tank passes through the auger when it is filled evenly. Then the quantity of grain is calculated. It is not weighed.

A full auger is unloading the same quantity of grain per minute with an accuracy of 2% - on condition that the grain is the same moisture.

Daily Adjustment:
The driver adjusts moisture on the digital instrument, after which the counting is corrected automatically.

Once-And-For-All Adjustment:
The digital instrument is adjusted to each individual combine after having checked one load of grain or after calculation of a full tank.

AXIAL-FLOW COMBINE OWNERS SPEAK OUT ABOUT HOOBER COMBINE SERVICE

HOOBER'S COMBINE SERVICE SPECIALISTS ARE EXPERIENCED IN ALL CROPS AND MOST ALL FIELD CONDITIONS

We Asked Our Combine Service Customers This Question:

"What Can C.B. Hoober & Son, Inc. Do To Improve Our Service To You?"

Here Are A Few Replies.

I really can't think of any one thing to improve on. I'm sure there are a few, but I've always found when I needed advice, parts or service someone would try to help day or night. If all dealerships would try as hard as you guys, farmers would be better off.

DAVE BECKER
Elizabethtown, PA

I live in the State College area and I think Hoober's service has been outstanding. If I have a service call to be made, the airplane service to fly mechanics is great.
I wish Hoober could have dealerships in different parts of the state, but it's still amazing how well they can serve the people in such short time. I'm very well pleased.

EUGENE CORL
State College, PA

It's a job well done - the best I've seen yet.

JOHN SHEARER
Spring Grove, PA

Dolomite Construction Co. is also in a service oriented business. I would only hope that my customers feel as satisfied with our service as I am with yours.
In the farm business, you are the best we do business with.

BOB BLEMIS
Dolomite Construction

Not all places we walk into do we get the attitude that the people behind the counter want to solve your problem.

AARON KAUFFMAN
Parkesburg, PA

C.B. Hoober is a pleasant place to do business. Everyone is very courteous. We have no complaints at all. Ken Diller really knows his combines & we appreciate his patience in explaining things to us. We would rate C.B. Hoober at the top of the list of businesses we deal with. Everyone is very honest & sincere, a rare quality nowadays in business.

1900 Forage Harvester

With 4-Row Head!
READY For THE FIELD
Just Arrived!

Durability and high capacity

The Model 1900 self propelled forage harvester is built for high capacity chopping The hungry 181 square inch throat opening swallows a lot of material fast And a 270 hp diesel engine powers the massive 24 inch diameter cutter head That s chopping power Besides being powerful the 1900 is rugged Many of the parts used on the 1900 are the same as those used on our largest chopper--the Model 2100 So extra durability and longer life are built in Stop in and let us show you the other features that make the Model 1900 a Whopper Chopper

790 & 900 Forage Harvesters Also In Stock!

SILO LINERS

Oxygen is the distroyer of fermented feeds. When installing a MAY-CO SILO LINER inside your silo, you eliminate heating, mold, shrink, and freezing to silo walls without using an additive. Liner must be ordered by Aug. 1, to insure delivery by Sept. 1. For information on prices and installation call or write.

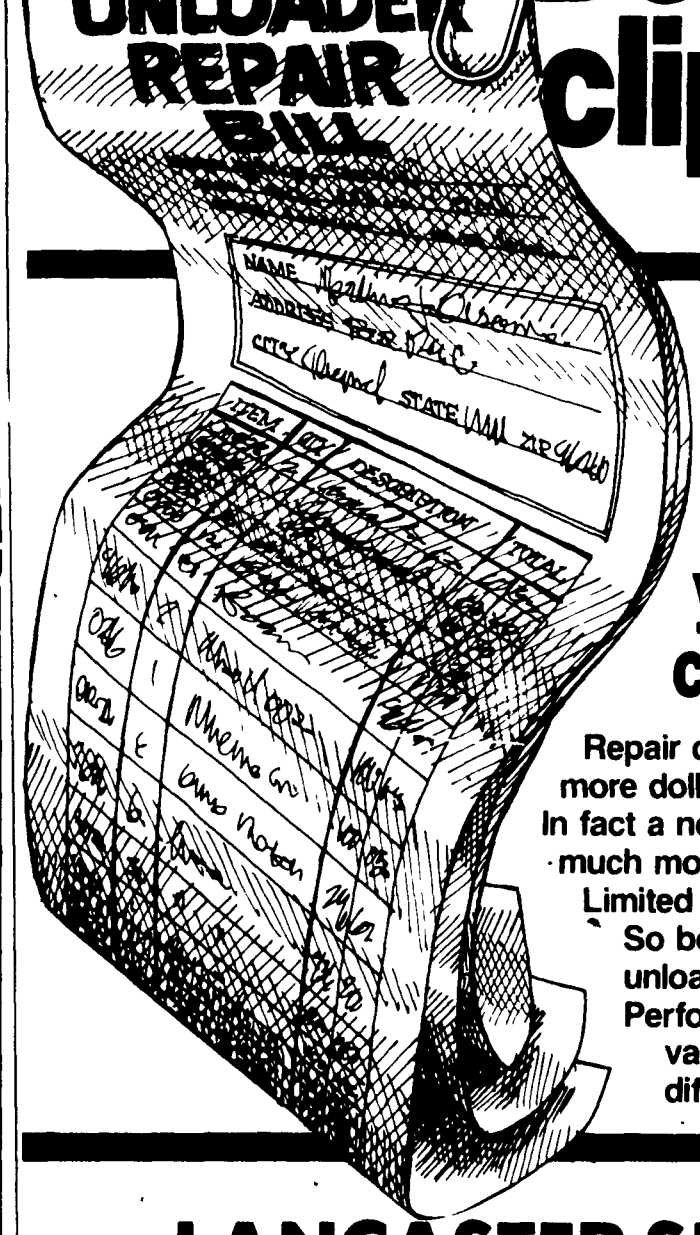
SILO UNLOADER REPAIR BILL

Don't get clipped.



Repairing that old unloader may not be your wisest choice...

Repair costs can clip you for a lot more dollars than you might think. In fact a new unloader may not cost much more during "Hanson's Limited Time Unloader Special". So before you repair that old unloader, check with Hanson. Performance, dependability and value. That's the Hanson difference.

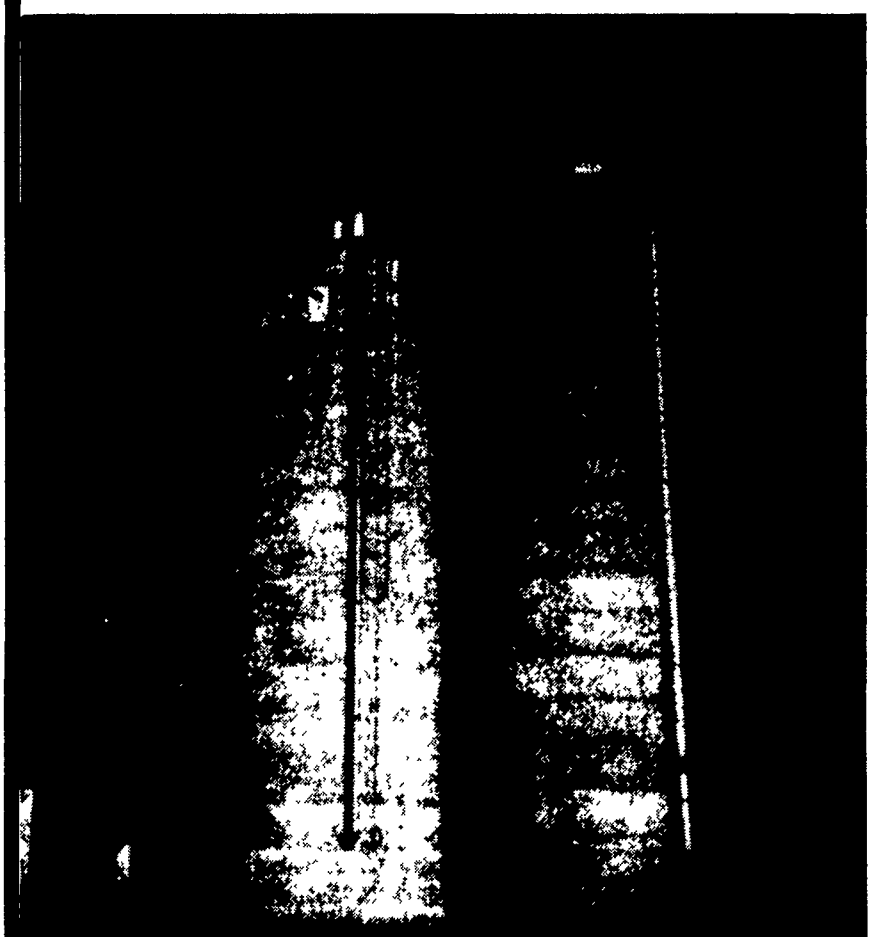
ROLLER MILLS FOR YOUR EAR CORN

Solid Ways To Improve Your Farm

Consider The Many Advantages Of Concrete



Silver Sands
The Bob Foresman Family
Watsontown, PA

You still have time to get your Sollenberger Silo for high moisture corn storage this fall. The summer of 1987 will be remembered for the many hot, dry days. These high temperatures damaged a lot of stored corn in structures that have a thin wall and do not reflect heat. Avoid this heat damage with a poured concrete silo from Sollenberger Silos Corp.

* The Laidig 43 bottom unloader handles high moisture ear corn and shelled corn.

* The Laidig 98 or 198 will do a good job with grains or forage at 55-60% moisture. BY FILLING EARLIER YOU CAN SAVE YOUR VALUABLE LEAVES.

You Will Appreciate The Quality Of A Sollenberger Silo For Many Years To Come.

PRE-CAST BUNKER SILOS

"THE ECONOMICAL CHOICE" STORAGE FOR ANY FORAGE

Also Suitable For Grain Storage, And Practically Any Other Bulk Material.

The Sollenberger Pre-Cast Bunker Silo Panel Is Designed To Be Free-Standing. With The Tongue and Groove Edges, It Can Be Coated With Mastic & Bolted Together To Give An Air-Tight Smooth Wall That's Easy To Pack And "Keeps Feed Good." Delivered And Set On Your Prepared Gravel Base.

- Outside Walls
- Center Walls
- Can Be Moved, Or Added To Later.
- 8'6" high
- 5'2" Wide
- 5000 P.S.I. Steel Reinforced Concrete
- Adaptable To Headgates Or Self-Feeders
- Very Strong
- Can Be Used For Retaining Walls.
- Many Industrial Bulk Storage Uses

We have contracts already for the 1988 season. This is an indication that it too will be an extremely busy year. Consider your needs, and then give us a call if we can be of help. By ordering early, you can save on the price and also help us schedule our work better.

INDUSTRIAL SILOS

Common Uses:

- Wood Chips • Sawdust
- Bark • Sand & Aggregates
- Coal • Grains • Meals
- Plastic • Water & Liquids
- Any Flowable Materials

Advantages:

- Designed according to your specific needs by registered, professional engineers
- Lower construction cost
- Standard 6" steel-reinforced, poured concrete walls
- Smooth, leak proof walls
- Maintenance free
- Concrete wall reduces product freezing in winter and heating in summer
- Lower fire insurance costs

MASTER MIX

SILO-BOOSTER

Why should you use Master Mix SILO-BOOSTER instead of another product? SILO-BOOSTER has been proven in 20 years of on-farm use, as well as in continuous university research. With each new discovery in silage science, we have improved the original formula. Today's SILO-BOOSTER gives the most effective silage innoculant yet developed.

Laboratory analysis of both treated and untreated silages confirms the increased production of lactic acid by the bacterial cultures in SILO-BOOSTER.

	SILO-BOOSTER TREATED	CONTROL
Lactic acid % (average of 11 measurements from day 1 to day 30)	2.35%	1.83%
pH (average of 11 measurements from day 1 to day 30)	3.98%	3.96%

While both silages showed very similar changes in total pH change; the SILO-BOOSTER treated silage contained more lactic acid. The homofermentive production of lactic acid by SILO-BOOSTER cultures reduces the potential for dry matter losses and the generation of excessive heat of fermentation.

COMPARISON OF SILO-BOOSTER TREATED AND CONTROL SILAGES

Fed To High Producing Dairy Cows
Conducted At The University of Wisconsin

	SILO-BOOSTER SILAGE	CONTROL
Milk (Lb./day)	87.3	86.2	NS

Total DM Intake (Lb. day)	54.31	56.77	*
DM/Lb. Milk	0.65	0.69	**

N.S. - non significant, *<5%, <1%
Statistics conducted on weekly totals.

SILO-BOOSTER treated silage was able to generate income per ton of forage feed. With milk valued at $ .125 per pound; butterfat at $ .17 per point; forage at $ .045 per pound of dry matter, and the concentrate portions at $ .08 per pound; SILO-BOOSTER silage returned $4.90 for each $1.00 invested in inoculant.

APPLICATION: 1 Lb. of SILO-BOOSTER per ton of Forage.
2 Lbs. of SILO-BOOSTER per ton of High Moisture Ear Corn.

Royal Gypsy Earns Top Bid At Autumn Harvest Classic

GINGER MYERS
Adams Co. Correspondent

FAIRFIELD (Adams Co.) — Polled Hereford enthusiast from across the country convened at Spring Bottom Farm, Fairfield, Saturday, September 12 for the Autumn Harvest Classic II Sale. Reflecting the strength of the cattle industry, 2 bull lots sold for an average price of $1263.00. The 47 female lots sold averaged $1446.00. High volume buyer of the day was Double-O-Six Polled Herefords, Dr. & Mrs. Oscar and Sue Oberkircher, Danville, Pa. They purchased eight and one-half lots for a total of $12,425.00.

Double-O-Six's half-lot was their investment in partnership with Dr. & Mrs. Fred McMurray, Susquehannook Farm, Sunbury, in the high selling female of the day. The partnership paid the top price of the day, $3600.00, to own SBF Royal Gypsy 8626. This cow, consigned by Spring Bottom Farm, Frank and Becky Darcey, Fairfield, is sired by Beartooth Nomad 421N and out of SBF RYL Trans Am 8118. This pedigree is recognized by most Polled Hereford breeders since this cow is a full sister to Darcey's "Gypsy", said by many to be the breed's premier cow. Gypsy 8626 sold safe in calf to Louada 842G Security IS.

The partnership does not have any immediate plans to flush their new purchase or to re-sell her soon. Both doctors agreed that this was the individual they came to the sale to buy. They plan to make her a cornerstone in their breeding programs at both their operations.

The second high selling individual was a three in one package consigned by Flat Stone Lick Farm, The Midlas, Marianne, Pa. Van Haur Ranch, Hilgar, MT, paid $3250.00 for a BT Prophet 117P daughter and her March 29 bull calf by Shogun. This promising two year old had a weaning ratio of 118 and sold safe in calf again to Shogun.

Clifftop Farm, Blaine, TENN, purchased the third high selling lot for $2500.00. Consigned by Rocking R Farm, Keith and Linda Rooker, Uniontown, it consisted of another young cow by Prophet out of a dam by Declaration 402K. Sold at her side was her April 8th heifer calf by GK RGF Rustler. A possible donor cow for her new owners, this young cow sold remated to Boyd Rolex 568T.

Another Spring Bottom Farm consignment commanded the fourth high selling price of the day at $2475.00. R & A Investments, San Diego, CA purchased this young cow sired by Nomad and her March 15th calf by Cherry. She sold in calf to AA R Top Priorty 398.

The sale was organized by four of the most prominent Polled Hereford breeding establishments in the Keystone State. Those offering the harvest of their seedstock at the sale were: Spring Bottom Farm, Penn State University, Flat Stone Lick Farm, and the Rocking R Farm. In the preface of the catalog for this sale these breeders outlined that this sale offered, "Excellent performance records, youthful matrons and debutantes with years of productivity ahead of them, and bulls with all the necessary characteristics to provide the cattle of the future, along with the bottom line; integrity in breeding and selling.

PA Polled Hereford Group Open For Membership

GINGER MYERS
Adams Co. Correspondent

FAIRFIELD (ADAMS CO.) — Do you and your husband have Polled Herefords? Are your children involved in showing Polled Herefords? Are you interested in the cattle industry or the Junior Polled Hereford Breeders Association? Do you have good ideas about beef promotion? If you answered any of these questions "yes", then the Pennsylvania Poll-ettes want you as a member.

Susan Smith, East Greenville, PA, is the President of the PA Poll-ettes, an extension of the National Polled Hereford Poll-ettes. Smith explained that there are about 50 Poll-ette associations nationwide, but that the PA chapter was just organized this past May. Smith's name is familiar to many breeders since she is also the editor of the PA Polled Hereford Newsletter.

Other officers in the association include: Faith Peterson, vice-president, Debbie Hess, secretary, and Becky Darcey, treasurer.

Smith outlined the purpose of the organization as an outlet for women involved in the beef industry. It is the associations primary goals to work with the State Beef Queen in her promotions and with the Junior Association and its activities. Stated Smith, "We need to support our Junior Association because without them, there is no Senior organization.

The PA Poll-ettes have two immediate goals. One of these is to raise funds to help support the Junior Association's programs. They have organized a raffle of breed-related items to be held at the SOP Show at the Keystone Show. Tickets will be on sale all week at the show at the PA Polled Hereford booth. They are also sell-

Editor's Note: When this column was run in the Aug. 29th edition, there were a number of missing sentences — that apparently occurred when the text was sent over the wire.

Alternative Feed Grains

Most of the hogs in this country find a corn-soybean meal mixture of some kind in the feeder. The combination of corn and soybean meal is both practical and economical. But every now and then hog producers have an opportunity to buy or raise an "odd" feed grain — like millet or lupins. Here are a few tips on hog performance and feed formulation if you're planning to use an off-the-wall feedstuff. Approximate values are given for each feedstuff based on corn at $2.00/bu. and 48% soybean meal at $220 per ton plus any expected changes in performance.

Triticale, a cross between wheat and rye, has been around for at least 100 years, but it has never really caught on. However, a recent variety — Beagle '82, shows good promise for swine feeds. It contains about 12% protein and .40% lysine. (Corn has about 9% protein and .24% lysine). So you can use triticale in place of all the corn and about 80 pounds of soybean meal in a 1-ton ration. With complete protein supplements, make pound-for-pound substitutions with corn. Approximate value of triticale: $.039/pound.

Drawbacks to Triticale. Insect growth can be a problem in storage, and feeders should be checked often — triticale diets can gum up the feeder throats. As a feed grain, Beagle '82 looks great, but this variety is not adapted to warmer

Poultry Conference Names Speaker

HARRISBURG — News correspondent Bettina Gregory, who covers a variety of major national topics for ABC television programming, is the guest speaker for the Pennsylvania Poultry Federation's Annual Conference in Grantville, Pennsylvania.

Scheduled to give her presentation on Thursday morning, October 1, 1987, the talented and highly regarded newswoman will cap the final day of the conference's two-day information exchange.

Beginning with a general session for all attendees on Wednesday, September 30th, the two-day conference features general session speakers from all areas of the country. One of the four speakers scheduled for the general session on Wednesday morning is Mr. Stan Bailey, research microbiologist with the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA), who will discuss Salmonella facts and fallacies, followed by University of Illinois Professor Stan Curtis who will address the animal rights issue and its effect on the industry. Topics on the Thursday morning slate include a presentation by noted cholesterol authority, Dr. Margaret Flynn.

As part of the conference activities, the Poultry Federation includes its annual golf tournament, the "Poultry Open" on Wednesday afternoon, comedienne Hope Mihalap at the evening's banquet, and a presentation of "estate planning" during the ladies' program Thursday morning.

Registration for the September 30/October 1 conference and general activities can be obtained by contacting the Pennsylvania Poultry Federation, 500 N. Progress Avenue, Harrisburg, Pa., 17109, or by telephoning (717) 652-7530.

The supreme champion gilt of the Maryland State Fair held earlier this month is shown here with owner Dave Holloway, Glen Rock. The December Duroc was named grand champion of the breed. Holloway Duroc farm also had the champion barrow and received the premier breeder award.

TRACTORS

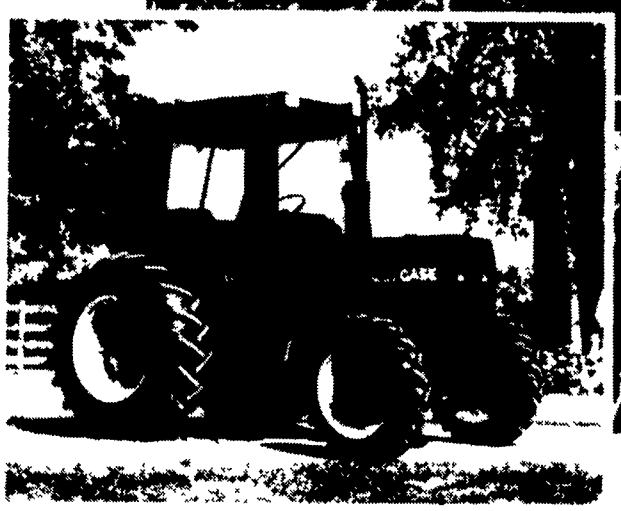
/35 to 72 PTO HP (26.1 to 53.7 kW)



New! A complete line of mid-power tractors offers new comfort, convenience and productivity.

Unlimited visibility in every direction.
The new cabs on the 585, 685 and 885 models feature exceptional visibility. For greater operator efficiency, there's an almost unbroken line of vision all around, including clear view of the hitch and drawbar. There's plenty of big-tractor comfort and convenience, too, with a fully adjustable seat and controls that are close at hand. You can enter or leave the cab from either side through doors that open easily with gas-assist cylinders. The cab is quiet, too, with deluxe padding all around.

Easy operating convenience.
To maximize your productivity without clutching, all five 85 Series tractors can be equipped with electro-hydraulic two-speed power shift, controlled by a dash-mounted toggle switch. The power shift system provides for a fast shift speed reduction which increases pull power and field performance. Fields speeds, as well as loader and hauling speeds, meet your everyday needs. Power shift is standard on the 885, optional on other models.

Traction boosting MFD

climates. I expect some cool season varieties to be released soon from Canada.

Lupin, a legume normally used to produce beans for human consumption has not been used much in livestock feeds. The older varieties contain toxic alkaloids and require heat treatment before feeding. But newer "sweet" lupin varieties are much lower in alkaloids. Sweet lupins contain about 35% protein and about 2.0% lysine. Up to 200 pounds can be added to the ration, saving 90 pounds of corn and 110 pounds of soybean meal. Approximate value of lupins: $.07/pound.

Drawbacks to Lupins. Lupins are less palatable, and contain high levels of fiber and manganese. These factors will reduce growth rate 5 to 8%. Use 4 pounds of ferrous sulfate per ton to offset the high manganese levels.

Sunflower Seeds, contain about 19% protein, 15% fiber, and about .59% lysine. Up to 200 pounds can be used per ton to replace 180 pounds of corn and 20 pounds of soybean meal, with little effects on performance. Approximate value of sunflower seeds: $.043/pound.

Drawbacks to Using Sunflowers. Because sunflowers contain a lot of oil, they may decrease carcass firmness. Avoid using more than 400 pounds per ton.

Hulless Oats are not much different in composition than rolled oats. Protein content varies from 13 to 17%. Lysine levels range from .50 to.70%. When using hulless oats, all the corn and about 80 pounds of soybean meal can be removed from the formula with no effects on performance. More soybean meal can be removed with the addition of synthetic lysine. Approximate value of hulless oats: $.039/pound.

Pearl Millet contains 15.7% protein and .35% lysine. Experiments show that performance is not affected when millet is used to replace all the corn and 50 pounds of the soybean meal in a 1-ton diet. Approximate value of pearl millet: $.038/pound.

Drought Stricken Corn contains a little more protein than corn but it should be substituted pound for pound for normal corn. Studies at the University of Kentucky compared corn from an area that yielded 125 bu./acre with two drought stressed varieties — with yields of 12 and 19 bu. respectively. Growth rate and feed efficiency were improved 4 to 6 percent on the drought stricken varieties. Approximate value of drought stricken corn: $.037/pound.

Sprouted and Frost Damaged Barley seems to support normal levels of performance. Most grains that have sprouted have lower energy values. But at the University of Alberta, 2 sprouted and 3 frost damaged varieties of barley had no effect on performance when compared to an undamaged hybrid. Approximate value of sprouted or frost damaged barley: similar to undamaged barley.

Drawbacks to Sprouted Barley: Sprouted barley may also contain high levels of molds and mycotoxins, depending on conditions. Avoid feeding it to the breeding herd.

Corn Gluten Feed, a by-product of the corn processing industry, contains 21% protein, 8.5% crude fiber, and .60% lysine. It seems to be gaining popularity in the midwest, but it's not used much yet in the northeast. Studies with corn gluten feed haven't been consistent. Some studies show that up to 400 pounds of corn gluten feed can be used without affecting performance, while others show that as little as 200 pounds can significantly reduce growth rate and feed conversion. When using corn gluten feed, substitute up to 200 pounds for 175 pounds of corn 25 pounds of soybean meal. Approximate value of corn gluten feed: $.04/pound.

Summary

Some of the unusual feed grains can be a bargain at the right price. Before you jump, put the pencil to it, then get a second opinion. Be cautious of molds if you're buying from someone else. And if your present feed formulas contain protein supplement, don't reduce the amount of supplement. Make pound for pound substitutions with corn.

Brethren Relief Auction Features Heifers, Quilts

LEBANON — The 11th Annual Church of the Brethren Disaster Relief Auction will be held Friday and Saturday, September 25 and 26, 1987, at the Lebanon County Fairgrounds, three miles south of Lebanon, off Route 72.

The goal of the Auction is to raise $225,000 to aid disaster victims throughout the world. The Auction, which has attracted thousands of people annually, is sponsored by the Atlantic Northeast District of the Church of the Brethren representing 67 congregations most of which are located between Philadelphia and Harrisburg.

The kick-off of the two-day event will be an auction of over 50 heifers on Friday evening beginning at 7 p.m.; Saturday activities begin at 7 a.m. with a pancake and egg breakfast followed by an auction of new and used household articles, lawn and garden equipment and farm equipment beginning at 9 a.m. Nearly 100 exquisite hand-stitched quilts made by women from churches sponsoring the event will be auctioned at 11 a.m.

More than 60 exhibitors of handcrafted items will be at the Fairgrounds Friday night and all day Saturday as well as an abundance of food including over 500 homemade pies, assorted soups, sandwiches, homemade pot pie, apple dumplings, french fries and homemade ice cream. Children's activities, hot air balloon rides and pony rides will also be a part of the day.

Some of the activities the PA Poll-ettes hope to support are the PA Beef Queen's trip to Kansas City and the Juniors showing at the National Show in Tennessee.

Their second goal is to increase their membership. Smith emphasizes that women need not own Polled Herefords or be actively involved in showing to become a member. Interest in the breed and a desire to meet other women with similar interests are the only prerequisites.

The group plans to have a membership meeting October 3rd in the afternoon at the Keystone. Membership fee is $5.00 per year. Women interested in joining should plan to attend the meeting at the Keystone or send their name and membership fee directly to Debbie Hess, R.D. 1, Box 162, Mt. Joy, Pa. 17552.

JI Case Recognized For Conservation

RACINE, Wis.— J I Case was recently honored by the National Association of Conservation Districts (NACD) and the U.S. Department of Agriculture at a luncheon in Washington, D.C., for promoting the conservation of natural resources.

The company was recognized for manufacturing specialized conservation equipment with a focus on mulch-till. J I Case has made mulch-till equipment available through work with conservation districts and the Case dealer network.

"J I Case serves as an example of the opportunity private industry has to provide conservation districts, and ultimately the farmer, with the goods and services required to employ sound conservation practices," said NACD Vice President Robert Wetherbee.

A certificate of appreciation from Deputy Secretary of Agriculture Peter C. Myers, and a commemorative plaque from NACD President Clarence Duban were presented to J I Case. Joe Neville, J I Case agricultural product manager, accepted the award.

Also recognized for its conservation efforts was Tenneco Inc. By developing a Department of Industrial Ecology to assure that all environmental laws and regulations are followed, and by enacting several other conservation programs, Tenneco has shown its dedication to protecting this country's natural resources.

Over 30 major business firms were also cited for their outstanding contributions to the advancement of soil and water conservation work in America.

Area Researcher Attends National Northrup Conference

Dr. Glenn Hile, Associate Corn Breeder, Mount Joy, attended the first national sales conference of The New Northrup King in Chicago, when company executives introduced the Agri-Products Division's new logo and marketing programs for the coming year.

The New Northrup King was formed when Stauffer Seeds, Pride and Northrup King merged agricultural seed operations in late May. In opening remarks, Northrup King Co. President and CEO George L. Jones told the group, "The New Northrup King is equipped to serve American farmers' needs with seeds and service that is the best in the industry. We are the second largest seed company in the U.S. Our commitment to seeds and service is second to none."

The New Northrup King dealer network will carry all three seed lines, Stauffer, Pride and Northrup King, for the 1988 planting season. Farmers will be able to buy an extensive number of excellent corn, sorghum, alfalfa and soybean varieties and hybrids through a single convenient dealer. "We are excited about the merger and the combined research capabilities and genetic materials it brings to The New Northrup King," says Dr. Robert W. Romig, Vice President, Research.

Vice President Marketing A.G. Laos and Vice President Research Robert Romig (far right) congratulate Dr. Glenn Hile, associate corn breeder, Mt. Joy, for the role he will play in making The New Northrup King a success. Northrup King Co. is the second largest seed company in the U.S.

Dr. Hile coordinates all aspects of corn research at Northrup King's Mount Joy Research Station.

The New Stimopuls C For Stanchion Barns

ELK GROVE, Ill. — Westfalia Systemat continues to be the front runner in dairy technology with the introduction of the Stimopuls C, a new pulsation system with stimulation for stanchion barn milkers.

The Stimopuls C provides milking pulsation, monitors milk flow, and signals the end of milking. In addition, the Stimopuls C features a premilking stimulation period, designed to increase milk yield over the entire lactation cycle.

Premilking stimulation assures maximum oxytocin blood serum concentration for a rapid and complete milk let-down and milk-out. The cow is now ready for milking at the most optimum time, every milking.

The Stimopuls C features a built-in stimulator which can be adjusted to accommodate the individual needs of your herd with 90, 60, and 40-second cycles. It also includes milk-to-rest ratios and cycles per minute during pulsation, a flow monitor with adjustable timed milk-out and adjustable strip time, and a pulsation arrestor. A compact, high-tech design means operator convenience. The unit weighs only 5½ lbs. without the milker, and has been created with a specially molded pistol grip for ease of handling.

The Stimopuls C is the latest addition to the high-tech dairying program by Westfalia Systemat, designed to increase milk yield safely, effectively and economically.

For additional information, contact Westfalia Systemat, 1862 Brummel Drive, Elk Grove Village, IL.

Agribusiness Badge On Tap For Scouts

IRVING, Tx. — The Boy Scouts of America, whose merit badge program in the early rural years of the movement largely reflected the nation's agricultural economy, has just introduced its newest merit badge: Agribusiness.

In 1978 the BSA added Food Systems to its list of 120-or-so merit badges which comprise the core of its Boy Scouts advancement program. Then in 1980 Farm and Ranch Management came along. Both replaced other farm-oriented badges which had become outdated and which, Scouting' volunteer Advancement Committee felt, were too restrictive in content.

Now the organization has blended the best from these badges and substantially strengthened the requirements.

Agribusiness merit badge is clearly designed to guide the Scout into an in-depth look at one of this nation's prime industries — as one Scout spokesman here said, "from plowing and pasture to supermarket shelves."

The requirements stress knowledge of a wide range of agribusinesses in a Scout's community, and by calling for visits to a variety of facilities a strong vocational emphasis is encouraged.

On his visits, the Scout is asked to come armed with questions; and he is expected to absorb the answers.

* "Ask what the farmer, rancher, agricultural science teacher, county agent, or conservationist does. Find out how the work of the person visited relates to the production of food and fiber.

* "Find out how agricultural research contributes to farm productivity. Ask the scientists and technicians you meet about their work.

* "Find out how the products or services offered by the business help farmers and ranchers grow or market food and fiber. Ask the people you meet how they got started in the business.

* "Ask the owner or manager to describe the movement of agricultural products to and from the facility. Find out what form the products are in when they arrive and how they are handled at the facility."

Scouts also are asked to trace the steps required to produce, market, process, and distribute a food or fiber of both plant and animal origin.

Finally, the Scout is asked to talk to fellow troop members about an area of agribusiness that interests him, the training required, and the work done by persons in that field.

Several years in development, the new Agribusiness badge was prepared in cooperation with Texas A and M University, with Cooperative Extension Service offices, and with other agricultural agencies.

The elements of the badge's design — computer, barn, farm machinery, and dollar signs — are symbolic of the range of agribusiness today, according to BSA's Editorial Service, and also represent the fact that agribusiness is the nation's largest industry.

Other Scout merit badges which are farm and ranch oriented include Animal Science, Beekeeping, Farm Mechanics, Gardening, Horsemanship, Plant Science, Rabbit Raising, Soil and Water Conservation, and Veterinary Science.

Clinton Livestock Auction Raises $38,000

The annual 4-H Livestock Sale held recently at the Clinton County Fair included 61 buyers spending more than $38,000 for 101 animals. The steers, hogs and lambs were raised by 4-H members from throughout Clinton County.

The grand champion steer, owned by Beth Miller of Mill Hall RD #3, weighed 1157 pounds and was purchased by Bud Jr. & Sharon Yost of the Eagle Hotel, in Lock Haven and Dean K. Wetzler, Jr. Funeral Home for $2.00 per pound.

YORK (YORK CO.) — Glenn Musselman of Lancaster took home two coveted awards from the York Fair sheep shows Monday evening. When the dust settled in the sheep show ring, Musselman was holding both banners for the York Fair supreme champion ram and supreme champion ewe. Gregg Strausbaugh of York exhibited the outstanding Hampshires.

Other show rings at the fair were also busy. The pure bred Simmental bred and raised by Kenni Anne Rarick of Fleetwood took the number one spot in the York Fair beef competitions. This 16-month-old steer from the Triple C Farm, named "Junior" captured the grand champion beef title and Paul Miller took the reserve championship title Monday evening.

This was the first time Rarick had won the grand champion title at the York Fair. However "Junior" had taken the grand champion honors in June at the Pennsylvania Junior Simmental Preview. Kenni Anne is the daughter of Kenneth and Rose Ann Rarick.

Repeating what he had done four times before at the York Fair, John Eaton, Jr. of Windsor captured the 4-H grand champion steer banner with his 16-month-old Chianina/Angus named "Thunderbolt". Eaton purchased his champion from Mike Simon in New York and raised the steer at Eaton's Triple J Acres. Joining him in the winners' circle was Jason Rankin of Abbottstown taking the reserve grand champion in the 4-H steer competition.

Eaton, the 18-year-old son of John and Janet Eaton, has had four grand champions and three reserve champions at the York Fair 4-H shows in the past eight years. Eaton completing his last year of 4-H competition said he wanted to "go out with a bang" and apparently that's just what he is doing. Eaton also won several championships in the sheep showring for his Cheviot sheep at the fair. Eaton is a freshman at Penn State's York campus where he is majoring in bioscience in preparation for veterinary school.

Jason Rankin is the 12-year-old son of Bill and Lois Rankin.

Karena Rankin, 15, and Ed Livingston, 14, won the 4-H 1987 York Fair Beef Herdswoman and Herdsman trophies for their outstanding sportsmanship and conduct in and out of the show ring which exemplifies what 4-H represents. Karena is the daughter of Bill and Lois Rankin. Livingston is the son of George and Madlyn Livingston of Dover.

The champion market lamb in the open class was a Hampshire exhibited by a Berks County 4-H'er, Joyce Heffner of Fleetwood. Joyce is the daughter of Wilson and Mary Heffner.

The 1987 York Fair Grand Champion beef was owned and exhibited by Kenni Anne Rarick of the Triple C Farm of Fleetwood. The purebred Simmental was the first supreme champion for Rarick.

Manna Pro Appoints Dr. Farouk Horani

LOS ANGELES — Dr. Farouk G. Horani will be responsible for all poultry feed formulation, technical service and training for Manna Pro Corporation, it was announced this week by Dr. Adnan Aydin, the firm's Director of Nutrition. Dr. Horani's nutrition office will be located at the company's facility in Circleville, Ohio.

Dr. Horani received his PhD in Poultry Nutrition from North Dakota State University. He has had seven years of professional experience in the field and has spent several years as a University lecturer. In addition to his poultry feed responsibilities, Horani also will be involved with formulation and development work on Manna Pro's Small World Feeds.

Reta Wins State Championship

BY
EVERETT NEWSWANGER
Managing Editor

STATE COLLEGE — The tall, red cow with a beautiful udder that just naturally runs uphill from rump to withers captured the senior and grand championships of the 1987 Pennsylvania Holstein Show here last Friday. C Mount Haven Chrystan Reta-Red, the first place five year old and best udder for James Slocum, Susquehanna, had been the grand champion of the northeast region. Reta is the daughter of Band Haven Ultra Chystan out of Mount Haven Cando Rose. Later in the show, Reta teamed up with her daughter for first place in the daughter and dam class.

The reserve senior and reserve grand champion of the open show was the senior and grand champion of the junior division for Justin Doeberiener, Jamestown. C Houdale Tempo Rachael, the stylish Roybrook Tempo out of Richriver Chief Gandi, stood second in class to the Reta cow. Judge B.J. Powell, Pennville, Indiana, favored the five-year-old class with both champions. Justin, along with his father Edward Doeberiener, showed a number of first-place entries that included the first place produce of dam, first place three year old and the first place senior two year old that was grand champion at the Central Regional Show. The Doeberieners' Queens Manor Holsteins received the premier exhibitor banner.

The reserve grand championship of the junior division was Metcalfs Valiant Beauty-ET showing dry for Thomas McCauley of Elizabethtown. A milky-looking threesome took the first place best three females class for Gor-Wood-D Acres of Gordon Wood and family, Mansfield. These winners launched Gor-Wood-D Acres Farm to the premier breeder award.

Ebe-Tide Ibido Poppy was the first place aged cow and Ebe-Tide Mona Maria was the first place 100,000 pound cow for Morrell Farms, Cochradon. Poppy was also named best animal bred by the exhibitor.

In the 1987 Keystone Futurity Class, Sunny Bend Sexy Icicle B Star took home the first prize of $400 for Bridgette Boyer. Eight entries in this class split the money that had been fed into a kitty since the entries were calves.

WHITE FARM EQUIPMENT

Pull through the tough spots with a White Farm 4WD.

When wet spots or other tough areas slow you down, a quick shift into four-wheel drive can make all the difference. And all it takes is a Power Front Axle option on your 2-135, 2-155 or 2-180 Field Boss® tractor.

4WD is not created equal. If you think all Power Front Axles are the same, look again. Most tractors use the engine as part of the structural frame. Adding four-wheel drive puts a lot of stress on the engine block. We think too much stress.

It's one reason why every Field Boss has a separate main frame casting. The engine is cradled inside it. Besides adding hundreds of pounds in working weight to the tractor, this separate main frame handles the extra stress of the four-wheel drive.

Experience for yourself the quality and value built into our Power Front Axle. Proven with 24 years of on farm use.

WHITE FARM EQUIPMENT

A separate heavy cast main frame teamed with full mechanical drive makes our Power Front Axle one of the most dependable anywhere

Meet the most fuel-efficient tractor in its class!

The 110 5 hp.* 2-110 Field Boss® tractor teams power, convenience and comfort with the best fuel economy in its class. That's a tough combination to beat!

Record setting efficiency. High performance three-ring pistons, unique intake and exhaust porting and an aspirator-type precleaner improve engine burning and air flow. Part of the reason the 2 110 set new fuel economy records!*

Convenience and comfort. Our standard 3x6 Over/Under powershift transmission lets you shift on the-go through three ranges in each of six forward gears. All shift and hydraulic levers are conveniently located on the right hand console.

Come in today and experience for yourself the quality and value built into every 2 110 Field Boss. You'll like what you see.

WHITE FARM EQUIPMENT

The 2-110 Field Boss® tractor features our Over/Under powershift transmission with nine field speeds between 2 and 7 mph.

Feel The Quality. Experience The Value.

Let us show you the difference in disks.

Extra strong gang bolts, better bearings and a large selection all help set White Farm disks apart from the competition.

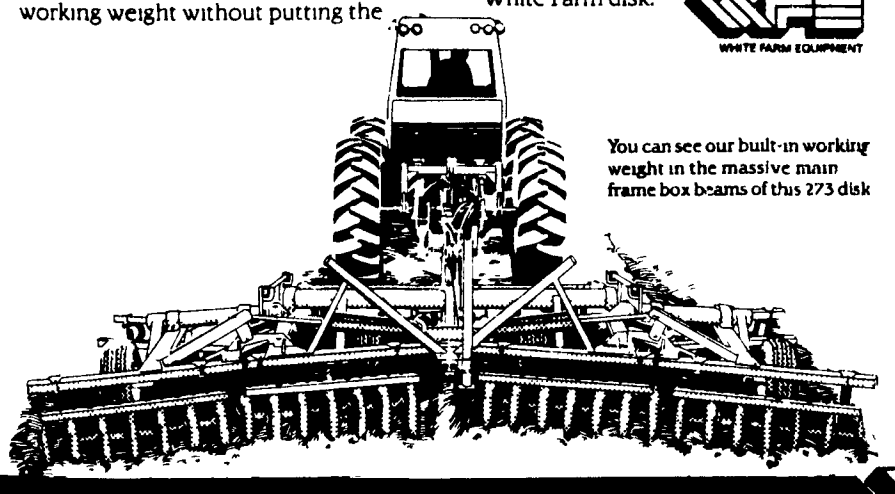
Solid construction. Sturdy gang bolts prevent bending. And White Farm bearings and bearing housings are made to hold-up under high speeds, heavy residue and rough terrain.

More weight means better disking. There are ways to spot built-in working weight without putting the implement on a scale. One example is massive box beams of high carbon steel used in all of our disks. More steel means more durability, plus adds weight to keep disks in the ground.

Models for every need. We've got a disk for your farm. Offset, rigid- and flexible-tandem disks, many with flat folding features. With blade spacings available in 7-, 9- and 11-inches.

Come in and experience for yourself the quality and value built into every White Farm disk.

WHITE FARM EQUIPMENT



You can see our built-in working weight in the massive main frame box beams of this 273 disk

A more valuable disk chisel.

All disk chisels can save topsoil. But White Farm's 435 Conservation Chisel Plow also saves time and money.

Versatile concave disks up-front. Individually mounted 22 inch blades are hydraulically controlled to let you determine the amount of residue that remains on the surface. Disks can be raised completely out of the ground for maximum conservation, or lowered for maximum tillage.

Big 4" x 6" frames. Our steel box beams have 25 percent more weld area at every joint than competitors' 4" x 4" beams.

Chisel shanks every twelve inches. Three ranks of chisels spaced twelve inches apart on a long 90 inch frame help maintain uniform tillage and prevent residue build up. The 2" x 29" spring-loaded chisels raise up and over obstacles-up to 11 inches.

Come in and experience for yourself the quality and value built into every 435 Conservation Chisel Plow.

WHITE FARM EQUIPMENT

Over 100 years of experience has helped White Farm design what we believe is the most versatile, durable conservation chisel plow today.
